Scope of Roosevelt's War Program Shocks Congress

GIRD FOR FIGHT ON REVISION OF NEUTRALITY ACT

F.D.R. Pens Message on Arming Ships.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—As President Roosevelt was writing a special message in which he will ask congress for authority to place guns on American merchantmen and send them into the war zone, the noninterventionist forces in congress tonight prepared themselves for a fight to the finish against any modification of the act which might put America into the war.

Sen. Chas. L. McNary.

The President's decision to send a special message to congress tomorrow was made at a second conference with Democratic and Republican legislative leaders on modification of the neutrality act. With the exception of Sen. Charles L. McNary, senate minority leader, only interventionist senators were invited to the White House for continuation of conversations begun yesterday.

Arming of Ships First.

At the strategy conference Mr. Roosevelt decided that, altho his message will ask for permission to put guns on American vessels and to send them into the war zone in order to speed supplies to England in anticipation of a renewal by Germany of the battle of the Atlantic, the first drive will be for the arming of merchantmen.

A bill will be introduced in the house, immediately after the President's message is read, asking that the section of the act forbidding the placing of guns on merchant vessels be repealed.

When and if this is passed, a second bill would ask repeal of the provision barring American vessels from the war zone. Administration leaders said that the house can probably pass the first bill by late next week.

At a caucus tonight of senate and house noninterventionist forces the President's plan to take the teeth out of the neutrality act, which stands between the United States and war, was regarded as a confession of weakness.

Admits Lack of Votes.

The interventionist leaders regarded the splitting of the revision into two efforts as a tacit admission that the administration has not sufficient votes to force its war program thru congress.

"The entire note of the noninterventionists' meeting was one of confidence," Sen. Robert P. Taft [R., O.] said later. "The entire situation was discussed at length and it was the consensus that we oppose any attempt to amend the neutrality act."

Mr. Roosevelt this afternoon was advised that the two step action will encounter less opposition than a single measure. The separation of the objectives also was suggested on the ground that the move for arming American merchantmen will encounter less congressional opposition than the effort

ROOSEVELT ON NEUTRALITY ACT

In a speech on Oct. 28, 1940—just before his third term election—President Roosevelt said:

"By the Neutrality Act of 1935 and by other steps . . . we made it clear to every American and to every foreign nation that we would avoid becoming entangled (in war) thru some episode beyond our borders. These were measures to keep us at peace. And thru all the years of war since 1935 there has been no entanglement and there will be no entanglement. . . . We shall continue to go forward in firm faith. We shall continue to go forward in peace."

The Inner Enemies of the Republic

(An Editorial)

Sir Arthur Salter, head of the British shipping mission, told William Fulton, Tribune correspondent in New York: "Well, we have been carrying on. We have lived and kept our factories working full time. We should say the situation is serious but not desperate." The figures on British shipping show that Great Britain now has control of 45 per cent of the world's merchant marine. Before the war the empire had 21 million tons and since then the tonnage has been increased by the taking over of American ships and foreign ships to over 33 million tons. The loss had been less than 8 million tons.

British factories are operating, as Salter says, at full time. British imports are being maintained in all available markets, including the markets of the United States. Here our production for civilian use is wholly disorganized by the priority orders, and by the expenditure of money and the use of ships to carry materials as free gifts into the war zones.

It is now proposed to take from our export business what few ships we have left and send them with munitions to Britain so there will be more than the present 45 per cent of world shipping to take our trade away from us.

The small American business man and the small American industrialist face extinction, altho these elements are regarded as the bulwark of the American system of government and social order. The big corporations are falling into the grasp of the federal government, which proposes to reduce all American economy to seizable proportions and then seize it.

Who are the people who are leading this country into certain doom? They are found in the effeminate army of the Fight for Freedom committee who are hysterical and incapable of reason.

They are the job holders in Washington with delusions of grandeur, thinking that they are all American Hitlers.

They are the hired burocrats and salaried speakers, creators of vile characters in fiction and writers of indecent plays. They are collectivists and communists, who see more clearly than the majority of the American people that the American way of life is being destroyed and who expect to profit from it.

Unfortunately, here in America today we come down to a classification of citizenship which our entire theory of government wanted to avoid. It was designed to avoid it. It was intended to allow every man to view his fellow as an equal and never compel him to view him as a superior. The American's hat was supposed to be on his head except when courtesy and the amenities required him to take it off. He never was compelled to hold it in his hand out of respect to the person he was addressing or who was addressing him.

If we are getting classes, it is against the intent of the primary American documents of government and freedom and in line with the wishes of the people who are about to destroy this republic. Unfortunately, we are obliged to recognize that classes have arisen.

So, reluctantly, we refer to the middle class, the great stratum of ordinary American citizens who have made this system of government work. They are supposed to be represented in congress. Their politicians may not be scrupulously on the up and up but in the past they were supposed to have had good common political sense and a fair perception of what the nation's necessities were. They may have trimmed their own personal ambitions and their desires to profit but in the past they have more or less represented the imperative requirements of the American nation when it was in trouble.

Now the middle class, so-called, is threatened with extinction and with its extinction goes the life of the republic. If the politicians in congress have become Hitler reichstag members, we're probably sunk. If somebody set a fire on Capitol hill and burned down the halls of the two chambers, we'd probably have a Nazi precedent for what seems to be happening here.

"Dice King" Tells How He, $9,500, and His Love Faded

Private Dawn Taylor of the United States army, who Miss Geraldine McLees says danced into her life with some trick steps and then danced out again with her heart and her $9,500, told his side of the story last night.

Dawn Taylor.

"We met at a south side ballroom," he said, putting his hand over the bald spot in his coal black hair. "The next time I saw her there she asked my name. I looked down at Jan Garber's name in lights and told her 'Garber.'

"She heard the boys call me King, because I was the king of the dice shooters. So she thought my name was King Garber. I never told her any different.

He Takes Stock.

"She told me she had some stock. I told her I'd sell it and make her some real money. She gave it to me.

"And she helped me spend the money. I went to her farm at Cascade, Ia., with her and paid a fellow $150 to paint her house. I bought her mother a tombstone for $160. We went places.

"Then I lost $7,000 in a dice game.

"Seventeen hundred went for a car. She wants it now. But I turned it over to a fellow I owed.

"And here I am, a boy from New York, New York, New York—that's New York City, New York county, New York state—in jail. Women are fickle. I never promised to marry her. I told her she wasn't my type. But I'll say this for her—she's a good dancer."

He Is 29; She's 28.

Private Taylor is 29 years old. He was arrested at Camp Bowie, Tex., where he was sent after being drafted, on confidence game charges filed by Miss McLees, a former school teacher, 28 years old, who lives at 820 Bowen avenue.

Sergt. Samuel Block brought him back yesterday. Block and Detective Joseph Keating questioned him, and brought Miss McLees in to confront him.

"She just looked at me," said Private Taylor.

PLAN ARSENALS IN CHINA, BASES FOR BRITISH USE

Bare Lack of Pact for Repayment.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—Congress today staggered under the impact of disclosures concerning the world-wide extent of the Roosevelt administration's program for defeat of the axis powers.

Dean Acheson.

As the house swung into spirited debate on a new 6 billion dollar lease-lend measure, it received its first detailed review of American operations since 7 billions were appropriated last spring for aid to Britain.

The house also learned thru testimony of Assistant Secretary of State Dean Acheson, made public in the appropriation committee's report of the bill, that an agreement covering materials and arms provided under both the first and pending lease-lend bills is about to be signed in London. He said, however, that the London agreement will not specify what the United States is to get in return for its shipments, but will serve merely as an "illustration entitling us to a base, if a base should become vital to us."

Even Interventionists Shocked.

Publication of the evidence taken at lengthy hearings conducted by a house appropriations subcommittee resulted in shocks for the most ardent interventionists.

Altho rigorously censored, the testimony revealed:

1. That most of the thousands of tons of food, shipped at the expense of the American taxpayer to Great Britain, is being sold to the British people by the British government, which is collecting the proceeds.

2. That the United States plans to send another billion dollars worth of food to Great Britain—enough to feed 25 per cent of the British population.

3. That the United States plans to supply Britain with 320 merchant ships to carry goods to the Red sea, China and the near east as well as to Great Britain via the north Atlantic route.

4. That the administration is determined to extend aid to soviet Russia, asserting it would be "dangerous" to Russian morale if congress were to place any ban upon such assistance.

5. That this nation will build a naval base for Great Britain—at a cost of 10 million dollars—at an undisclosed location where American and British troops will coöperate, presumably with the British in command as in Iceland.

6. That the United States soon will be shipping vast amounts of war supplies into Africa—characterized by

Jealous Wife Trips Burglar; He Hangs Self

A topnotch burglar who hadn't made a professional mistake in 25 years was trapped by Maywood police Monday because of his wife's jealousy.

Last night, as police were beginning to unearth the incredible story of his career, the burglar, Gus [Dutch] Wagner, 59 years old, put an end to that career by hanging himself in his cell in the Maywood police lockup. He used the lining of his coat sleeve for a rope.

Wife Seeks His Arrest.

Lieut. Edward C. Feldmann of the Maywood police first learned of Wagner's activities from his bride, Jessie, 35, Monday night. She asked the police to arrest her husband.

"We were married eight days ago in Palmyra, Mo.," she said. "He's beaten me every day since then. I think he's interested in another woman." The wife said nothing of her husband's criminal activities. The police believed it was a routine case.

Chief R. H. Bailey and Lieut. Feldmann, accompanied by Chief George Kummerau of Elmhurst, found Wagner in his home at Lorraine street and West avenue, Addison township, Du Page county. With him was Miss Helen Toledo, 24, of Chicago.

Wagner had lived in his home for two years and his neighbors thought he was a carpenter.

When Mrs. Wagner saw Miss Toledo with Wagner she took one look and began talking.

Escapes Arrest 25 Years.

"Gus is a high powered burglar," she told Lieut. Feldmann. "He's been at it for 35 years, and he hasn't been arrested in 25 years. He has worked all over the middle west."

Gradually the story came out—with Wagner denying any and all burglaries right to the end. Thru information supplied by Mrs. Wagner, about $400 worth of stolen goods was recovered by Maywood and Chicago police and by Walter L. Atkinson and Stanley Christian, chief and second deputy sheriff, respectively, of Lake county.

According to Lieut. Feldmann, Wagner had operated in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, and Indiana, burglarizing country clubs and the estates of wealthy people. He did about six "jobs" a month, his average loot being $1,000 in each case and his net profit on a "job" amounting to $150 or $200. He always stole from vacant houses and hauled the loot away in his car.

Two dresses which Mrs. Wagner had given to friends were identified by Mrs. Grace Hogan, widow of John H. Hogan, late vice president of the Continental Illinois National bank. Mrs. Hogan said they were part of the $2,000 loot taken by a burglar from her home near Libertyville last March 5.

Mrs. L. A. Wood, wife of the assistant cashier of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, identified some silver as that stolen from her home in Prairie View Dec. 11, 1940.

Chicago police seized Charles Irwin, 50, of 128 South Aberdeen street, in whose junk shop Mrs. Wood's silver was found.

Chief Deputy Atkinson estimated that Wagner had burglarized 25 homes and stolen at least $60,000 worth of cash, household goods, and valuables in 25 years in Lake county alone.

Simpson Home Robbed.

The largest of the Lake county burglaries believed performed by Wagner was at the Wadsworth home of former Congressman James Simpson Jr. On Jan. 5, 1938, a burglar entered the Simpson home, partly wrecked the interior with an ax, and stole draperies, rugs, silverware, and guns valued at $15,000.

Wagner's record at the bureau of identification showed that the Cook county grand jury refused to indict him for larceny in 1909 and for receiving stolen property in 1911. In 1911 he was sentenced to 30 days in the Bridewell for larceny. His aliases included the following: Gus Wagoner, Frank Siebert, William Schultz, Gus Hagner, Frederick Hickman, and Gust Shaw.

ARMY PILOT LANDS A CRIPPLED BOMBER AT CHICAGO AIRPORT

Landing at 150 miles an hour with one of the twin motors disabled, an army pilot brought a new Douglas DB-7 bombing plane to a safe stop at the Chicago airport yesterday. The pilot, Lieut. W. J. Dempsey of the army's new ferry command, was on his way to deliver the bomber from the factory at Santa Monica, Cal., to the British royal air force in Canada.

Four minutes after he took off after a stop at the airport the left motor failed. Radioing the field that he would attempt a landing with the right, he started back down, switching on the plane's automatic fire extinguisher for safety.

Observers thought the plane was afire, but the pilot said afterward that he believed they were confused by flames from the exhaust of the balky motor and the steam, which resembled smoke, from the fire extinguisher system. The plane landed at such speed that it rolled almost the entire length of the 5,000 feet east-west runway.

Settle Strike of 8,100 Over 1 Steel Picket

A walkout of 8,100 employés of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation's sheet and tin mills in Gary, ordered after a city policeman arrested a CIO "dues picket" who had stopped a woman worker, was ended by agreement last night. The men of the shift beginning at 11 p. m. went to work without disorder.

The agreement was completed at a meeting in the company office in Chicago. Under its terms the Steel Workers Organizing committee [CIO] was strengthened in its privilege of inspecting dues cards of the workers.

Pledge No Interference.

J. M. Darbaker, general superintendent of the plant, said that the union officials had been assured the company had no intention of interfering with dues inspection on the streets near the mill, and that the union had agreed such inspection would not interfere with production.

Darbaker added that the union stated its activities in this line would be peaceful. He also said the union men had been misinformed that "plant protection forces" were armed and accepted the company statement that firearms were prohibited to its guards except when protecting pay rolls.

Another point agreed on was that the city police would not be summoned to the plant gates to stop disorders unless the union jointly requested such action. Darbaker asserted that the company did not agree with the union assertion that the violence that occurred yesterday morning was a result of the company calling for police aid.

The settlement ended a threat that the strike might cause the calling of a strike of 40,000 or more SWOC members in the Chicago area.

Charges by Woman Worker.

The woman worker involved in the incident, Miss Esther Friedhof, 41 years old, 457 Carolina street, Gary, is one of 46 women tin sorters who have a strong independent union. She told Gary police that the "dues pickets," who had been on duty all night, shoved and pushed the women when they attempted to enter the plant.

Dale W. Clingan, 26, of 2625 La Porte street, Gary, one of the pickets, pushed her against a fence and told her she could not go into the plant, she said. Policeman Harrison Briggs came to her rescue and escorted her inside, but was tripped by Clingan as he did so. Clingan said the tripping was accidental. Miss Friedhof did not witness the tripping.

Briggs arrested Clingan, who was released on $50 bond provided by Grider after he had been charged with assault and battery and interfering with an officer.

RUSSIANS LOSE RAIL CENTER; ASK BRITISH AID

Nazis Claim Big Red Forces Trapped.

Moscow's armies are retreating and the soviet capital is in peril, dispatches from both Russia and Germany indicated early today. The Germans claimed a smashing victory in a battle of encirclement west of Moscow. The Russians admitted they were being pushed back in the mightiest mechanized battle ever fought.

The Russians indicated a crisis was at hand and called for British help, declaring that Britain could divert Hitler by striking on the weakened German western European front. The Red press cited Britain's increased army and air force and dominant navy, and urged action against the Nazi divisions and air force which have been weakened for the war against Russia.

London's press began preparing British public opinion for the possibility of Russia's fall. One paper said "the Nazis are trying for a knockout blow," and added, "We should do well to be prepared for more unwelcome news from the Russian front."

In the gigantic struggle along the Russian front the action was focused on three sectors—before Moscow, north of the Sea of Azov, and around Leningrad. The chief developments:

1. German troops have torn a breach in Moscow's western front and a "solid front" is fighting within 125 miles of the Kremlin, Berlin said. Several Russian armies are "trapped and face destruction," the Nazis said. The Reds admitted the Germans were extending their salients toward the capital, but insisted there was no major break-thru. The Russians acknowledged a withdrawal from a key railway center 220 miles south of Moscow, endangering the southern wing of the central armies.

2. The Russians also admitted severe strain on the southern Azov front, reporting heavy fighting there. The Germans, mentioning the same point, declared they had cut off an entire Russian army from retreat.

3. The Germans declared a million Russian troops are penned up by the siege of Leningrad and their attempts to break out have been repulsed. Nazi planes were reported pouring thousands of tons of bombs on the city. The Russians claimed the recapture of a strategic town before Leningrad after breaking thru three lines of German troops.

BRITISH CENSOR UPHOLDS PRESS PHOTO FREEDOM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Minister of Information Brendan Bracken refused today to exercise censorship over photographs taken in this country except on the ground of security. He had been upbraided for the publication here and in the United States of a picture of four Italian war prisoners walking arm in arm with three English girls.

Bracken said the picture was published without his knowledge but when asked if the government would not put a stop to such things, he said: "No. The government ought not to take such steps. It is a great mistake to suggest that the government should do so. Freedom of the press is as important as freedom of parliament."

REFUSES TO PAY NEW TAX ON OLD NICKELS IN PHONE

Chicago Subscriber Fights for 55 Cent Principle.

Reinschreiber.

S. L. Reinschreiber of 6531 North Greenview avenue told the telephone company collector yesterday that he would not pay 55 cents in new federal taxes on two months' accumulation of nickels in his home phone coin box.

Violation of the new widescope federal tax laws carries with it possible prison sentences and fines of up to $10,000, but Mr. Reinschreiber is willing to take his chances.

Calls It Illegal.

"They may not know it, but there are 100,000 coin box subscribers for phone service who are paying an illegal tax," he said. "That is quite a sum of money, a total of perhaps $40,000. I'm fighting for a principle, not for 55 cents."

A spokesman for the Illinois Bell Telephone company said that the names of those who refuse to pay the tax must be turned over to the government. Telephone service will not be discontinued, however, because the company regards the tax transaction as being between the government and subscriber, altho the company collects the money.

Terms of Law.

The law reads that the 6 per cent tax on phone charges "shall apply only to the amounts paid in pursuance of bills rendered after Oct. 5 for services for which no previous bill was rendered."

"We made an effort to pick up the nickels in Mr. Reinschreiber's house a month ago, but couldn't get in," the company spokesman said. "Now we must collect on the entire amount in the box because he had not been previously billed for it, as we understand the law. We have no latitude."

Nigel Campbell, chief office deputy for the collector of internal revenue, was reached at home. He said he did not have his books with him, and the law is new, but that the phone company interpretation seems to him to be correct.

"A Nice Point."

"But they miss a nice point involved here," Reinschreiber said. "Every time a nickel is dropped in the box, that's a transaction which is automatically closed. The company doesn't render bills for this service. The collector merely gives receipts for the money he removes from the coin box, which acts as custodian."

Thus it is wrong to collect the tax for any nickels dropped in the box before Oct. 5, Reinschreiber contends.

"I've got some legal training," he disclosed. "Chicago Law school. And I'm going to use it."

BRIDGES HEARING WITNESS IS GIVEN TERM IN PRISON

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 8 [Special].—James D. [Jim] O'Neil, former CIO publicity man and radio commentator, today was found guilty of perjury for his testimony as a reluctant government witness in the Harry Bridges deportation hearing.

O'Neil was sentenced by Federal Judge Martin I. Welsh to serve three years in a federal prison and pay a fine of $100. Motions by O'Neil's attorneys for arrest of judgment and for his release on bail were denied.

The trial, which took up most of last week, was given the jury of seven men and five women yesterday.

O'Neil was charged with having testified falsely during the Bridges hearing before Justice Charles Sears of Buffalo, special examiner for the United States bureau of imigration and naturalization, after having ignored one subpena to appear as a government witness [for which he later was adjudged guilty of contempt of court and given 60 days in the county jail]. O'Neil took the stand, a very reluctant and hostile witness. He denied that, at a meeting in FBI headquarters here he had told agents that he knew Bridges to be a communist and had attended communist meetings with him and had once seen Bridges paste stamps in a communist party membership book.

ASSERTS BRIDGES CASE WILL TAKE ROUTINE COURSE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8 (AP).—Attorney General Francis Biddle said today that the justice department would "act as promptly as we can" in disposing of the deportation proceedings pending against Harry Bridges, west coast CIO labor leader.

Biddle told his press conference that "I do not propose to cut any corners, however, and Bridges is not going to be treated any differently from any other case."

He expressed the belief that the case, pending before the immigration board of appeals, would reach him in two months or less. He declared that "the ultimate responsibility is on me and I intend to take it."

FIND EX-CONVICT SHOT SIX TIMES AFTER BATTLE

Gary police last night were investigating the mysterious shooting of Howard Phillips, 38 years old, of Indianapolis, whom they described as an ex-convict known as Philliotto and Anthony Moreno. They said he served a total of 16 years in Illinois and Colorado prisons as a train robber.

Phillips was found shot three times at the rear of Mercy hospital in Gary. He had been thrown from a car. His condition was serious. Phillips told police he was shot by a Negro bandit.

The police doubt his story. Policeman Lee Brezan heard six shots and, investigating, found on a sidewalk a revolver with six unexploded cartridges, two hats, and a pool of blood. All this indicated, police said, that Phillips and another man had stepped out of a car to shoot it out, and the other man was quicker on the trigger.

Riddle: What's Difference Between Nazi and a Red?

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8 (AP).—Rep. Harold Knutson [R., Minn.] offered the house a definition of the difference between a Nazi and a communist during debate today on the lend-lease bill. Said Knutson: "The only difference between a Nazi and a communist is that a Nazi can't get a job in the New Deal."

BROWNE, BIOFF TO TRIAL IN 'PAY OR ELSE' RACKET

Asked 2 Million of Film Firms, U. S. Charges.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

Mathias F. Correa.

New York, Oct. 8.—A shakedown tribute of 2 million dollars was demanded from the movie industry by George E. Browne, president of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employés, and his personal Hollywood representative, William [Willie] Bioff, the government charged today in opening the trial of the two labor bosses.

Browne and Bioff, the latter a former Chicago pander, are charged with extorting $550,000 from four large motion picture producers on threats of calling strikes. They are being tried here under the federal anti-racketeering statute making it a crime to interfere with interstate and foreign commerce.

"Victims" Are Named.

United States Attorney Mathias F. Correa, in his opening statement, accused the two labor leaders of demanding the 2 million dollars from the film company executives in April, 1936, and then finally accepting $200,000 a year, or $50,000 from each concern. The "victims" were: Loew's, Inc.; Paramount Pictures, Inc.; 20th Century-Fox Film corporation, and Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc.

"They said to these film executives: 'You pay us or else we'll wreck your business!'" asserted Correa.

Sitting behind a galaxy of New York and Hollywood lawyers, the two stout, well fed, flashily dressed bosses of the motion picture operators, stage and studio technicians, and other workers listened intently.

It took only three hours for the picking of a jury of business men headed by Paul D. Thorne, cashier for a telegraph company, as foreman. Judge John C. Knox, senior judge for the federal District court here, did most of the questioning of the prospective jurors.

In his outline of the government's case Correa first laid a background of the vast extent of the motion picture industry, how many millions of dollars are invested by a host of American citizens, how hundreds of thousands of persons depend upon the business for a livelihood.

Operate from Chicago.

After acquiring control of the International in 1934, the prosecutor related, Browne and Bioff sought to have their union reinstated in the basic agreement which governs the various unions connected with the making, distribution, and showing of films.

Chicago was the key city in their campaign, according to Correa. They "pulled" operators out of Chicago theaters on strike and the picture houses had to close. This was in the fall of 1935.

"Pulling out the projectionists was immediately effective," said Correa. "They were all technical men and could not be replaced. The industry couldn't stand it because the motion picture business is dependent on the continued flow of box office receipts back into production. Any stoppage means disaster."

Demands Are Made.

It was then agreed that the IATSE could become a party to the basic agreement. At the next meeting between the union leaders and film executives in April, 1936, Browne and Bioff made their demands.

"They asked for this money for themselves—it was not on behalf of the union or for labor," Correa pointed out. "They were lining their own pockets."

Correa said the companies had little choice except to surrender, altho they protested and shaved down the amount of tribute.

Eloquent of the racketeering nature of the arrangement, the prosecutor remarked, was the fact that Browne and Bioff demanded cash, "currency, bills, folding money, whatever you want to call it." They wanted to keep it secret, to have no record such as might have occurred with checks.

Veniremen Stream By.

A steady stream of veniremen passed in and out of the jury box during the day because of admissions of prejudice against certain unions and labor leaders.

Three prospective jurors were sent on their way when they announced that the writings of Westbrook Pegler, newspaper columnist who has crusaded against Bioff and Browne, had left so strong an impression on their minds that they would find it difficult to arrive at a fair verdict.

Charges against Bioff and Browne arose from the investigation into the income tax deficiencies of Joseph M. Schenck, former chairman of the board of 20th Century-Fox Film corporation, whom Prosecutor Correa recently convicted.

At Schenck's trial it was revealed that in 1937 the movie mogul arranged a loan of $100,000 to Bioff, which, it was testified, Bioff repaid.

REPORT BROWNE TO LOSE PLACE ON AFL COUNCIL

Facing Ouster Next Week, Labor Leader Says.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 8.—George E. Browne, head of the racket-ridden stage employés and movie operators' international union, has been asked to resign from the executive council of the American Federation of Labor. He has refused and will be ousted from the council next week.

This was the statement made today by one of the most influential labor leaders attending the AFL convention, who refused to permit use of his name.

Browne went on trial in New York federal court today on charges of conspiracy to extort $550,000 from movie producers on threat of calling a strike in their industry. His co-defendant is Willie Bioff, Hollywood boss of the union, who served six months in jail in Chicago for pandering.

"Can't Afford" to Keep Him.

"Can't afford to have anybody like Browne on the executive council," a labor leader said today. "We are cleaning house and he must go."

Browne holds his post on the executive council, the powerful policy making body of the AFL, by virtue of his being 12th vice president of the federation. His ousting from the vice presidency will be done without fanfare but with finality, the labor leader said.

This source also confirmed the report that the executive council's proposal to reduce the number of vice presidents from 15 to 13 is directed against Browne. The AFL has had 15 vice presidents since 1934 and, in recommending the reduction, the council gives an explanation that it will be easier to get a quorum to transact business with the lesser number. It is recalled, however, that it is no hardship for the vice presidents to get to Miami, Fla., each winter for the council meeting.

There are now only 14 vice presidents, Thomas A. Rickert, second vice president, having died July 28.

Green Backs F. D. R. Program.

William Green, president of the AFL, speaking over a national hookup tonight, replied to President Roosevelt's message which was read to the convention yesterday. Green promised the President full coöperation in the defense program "to crush the evil power of totalitarianism."

Green declared that more than 99 per cent of the AFL membership has refrained from striking for any cause at any time during the defense program. He said he was not denouncing those who had struck. He urged members of the union "not to gamble for pennies at the risk of losing everything we hold dear in America."

A resolution which was made public today requests the convention to take a stand for increase in pay of laborers employed by the city of Chicago. The resolution was presented by Joseph V. Moreschi, head of the International Hod Carriers, Building, and Common Laborers union. It asks that laborers be paid wages prevailing in private industry.

BIG NOSED BABY RHINO BORN AT BROOKFIELD ZOO

Brookfield zoo officials were celebrating the birth of a five toed, hook lipped African rhinoceros yesterday—the first, they said, ever born in an American zoo. But they aren't going to give him a name that will make him feel too important. They'll call him Georgie Joe, after the two rhinoceros keepers.

Georgie Joe's on a milk diet, and his hook lip's a great help in nursing, according to Robert Bean, assistant director. The 20 pound baby already can run faster than a horse, but not faster than his 2,000 pound mother, Mary. Even a mother couldn't say he has a cute nose, but he does have a big one, with places for two horns like those of his father, Pharo. The period of gestation was 19 months and 7 days, which Bean says may upset scientists by showing the rhinoceros is more closely related to the elephant than to the horse.

FEDERAL MILK ORDER BOOSTS FARMERS' PRICE

They'll Get Nearly 1 Cent a Quart Additional.

Farmers will receive almost 1 cent a quart more for their fluid milk delivered to dealers during September than they did for August. The boost is a result of new amendments to the federal marketing order issued early last month. It does not affect the retail price, which recently was increased by more than enough to discount the wholesale rise.

Class prices of milk under the amended order showed increases ranging from 6.8 cents to 45 cents a hundredweight [46.5 quarts]. The class prices, which handlers pay for milk supplies according to utilization, were announced yesterday for the delivery period starting Sept. 6 and ending Sept. 30.

The New Rates.

Class 1 price, representing fluid or doorstep milk, was $2.833 a hundredweight; relief milk, which is class 1 milk sold thru relief depots to relief clients at a reduced price, was $2.200; class 2, comprising cream, ice cream, and flavored drinks, was $2.453; class 3, evaporated and condensed milk, was $2.133, and class 4, butter and cheese, was $1.821.

The largest advances were in classes 1 and 2, the rise amounting to 43.1 cents a hundred, with a 45 cent increase in relief milk. Class 2 rose 17.8 cents over the August price; class 3 rose 6.8 cents, and class 4 rose 7.3 cents.

Prices for deliveries made Sept. 1 to 5, inclusive, were based on the order before amendment and generally were lower than the prices for the remainder of the month.

Object of Amendment.

The amendment to the marketing order was effected Sept. 6 in an effort to bring more money to producers and to stem the flow of milk to the condenseries, which were threatening to cause a shortage of fluid milk. Vast quantities of condensed milk and cheese required for Great Britain under the lend-lease law caused the condenseries to boost their pay prices in an effort to get supplies.

The amendment to the order changed the formula on which the farmer was paid for his milk, basing it on the condensery pay price instead of on the prices paid for milk used in butter and cheese. This enabled the distributors to compete with the condenseries in price for the farmers' milk.

The result of this increase in raw milk costs resulted in a boost in the cost of milk to the consumer of 1½ cents a quart. Dairy officials indicate that housewives have resented this raise and are buying less milk.

JUDY WEEPS AS SHE SEVERS TIES TO EX-SOLDIER

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 8 (AP).—Movie comedienne Judy Canova wept in court today, told a tale of shattered romance after a whirlwind courtship under a Honolulu moon and won annulment of her marriage to James H. Ripley, a former army corporal.

The actress said she did not know Ripley was in the army—on the marriage license application he wrote that he was not in the service—and discovered he was AWOL only when an army officer burst into their bridal suite on June 16 and took him away to Fort Ruger. They became engaged June 10, and married on June 14.

EIGHT DAY STRIKE OF 500 FOUNDRY WORKERS ENDED

Frank D. O'Neill, secretary of the Western Foundry company at 3634 South Kedzie avenue, announced yesterday that the eight day strike there had been settled. He said the 500 workers expect to return to their jobs this morning, but that he was not at liberty to divulge the terms of the settlement.

The strike was called by local 233 of the AFL International Molders and Foundry Workers' union in a dispute over wages. The company has contracts for castings used in the government armament program.

Housewives Fight Milk Boost

WOMEN ORGANIZE TO HEAD OFF RISE IN PRICE OF MILK

Look Upon Problem as Menace to Health.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 8 (AP).—A group of housewives today organized to halt an impending milk price rise which they feared might deprive their children of the product.

The movement was touched off by a mother of four children, Mrs. Carl Nye. She became aroused at a three day old Drivers and Dairy Plant Workers' union [AFL] strike for higher wages which, if successful, the city's largest dairy said, would force higher prices.

Mrs. Nye took over as temporary chairman of "Organized Housewives," started volunteer workers in a block-by-block enrollment campaign, and at the end of the first day's kitchen canvass reported results "very encouraging."

Makes Newspaper Appeal.

The campaign opened with a newspaper advertisment calling housewives' attention to another possible rise in milk prices and asking "What are you going to do about it?"

"Let's organize," Mrs. Nye's notice urged. "Farmers, producers, and drivers are organized. Why not housewives?"

This type of "sales talk," Mrs. Nye said, brought encouraging results in a canvass of 80 city blocks in the city of 205,000 residents. "Organized Housewives," she added, hopes to enlist aid of women's clubs and obtain 10,000 members to protest a milk price increase and possibly boycott dealers.

Welfare at Stake.

"We are not concerned with problems of the drivers, farmers, or producers," observed Mrs. Nye. "We are only concerned with the welfare of the community. If the price of milk goes up, we are forced to use less of it and the health of the community is undermined. This is milk, not fur coats."

Denied home deliveries since Monday because of the drivers' strike, the housewives have been saving 4 cents a quart by making purchases at dairy plants for 10 and 11 cents. Home deliveries are 14 and 15 cents.

STRIKE TO AID BOSS ENDS, BUT WORKERS TO QUIT

Union workers who quit their jobs with Bireley's Beverage company last Friday because a vice president, Alfred J. Meiers, was discharged, announced last night that they intended to go to work this morning and at the same time give the management notice that they would quit permanently in a week.

This course was decided on, according to Sergt. George Barnes of the detective bureau labor detail, because the Beer and Soda Water Drivers union had notified the men, who insist they are quitting rather than striking, that they had violated their contract and would be suspended from the union unless they gave the required notice.

Barnes said the management was unwilling to accept the workers back on these terms, but indicated they would waive the one week clause. The company's distribution system has been shut down for the walkout period. It had been reported that the management fired Meiers because he wouldn't let stockholders enter the plant.

HIGHWAY POLICE LAUNCH WAR ON TOWING RACKET

A garage foreman who towed away an automobile that had been wrecked on Skokie road and sought to collect a $32 fee for his services was arrested yesterday on a formal charge of operating an automobile without the owner's consent. The state highway police, who are conducting a campaign against the towing racket, are assisting the owner.

The car in question was driven by Harry R. McDonald of 927 Dakin street, a soldier in the medical corps at Chanute field. He was dazed when the vehicle skidded and slipped into a ditch near Tower road, west of Winnetka. He was taken to a hospital. Soon afterward the garage foreman, Olaf A. Schmidt, employed by the Johnson Motors Company of Glencoe, arrived and said the owner had authorized him to tow the machine.

The real owner is the Pascal U-Drive concern at 4827 Broadway. Frank Pascal, the company president, got the car back with a writ of replevin, the fee to be settled later. Capt. Wilbur Kennedy of the state police said the rule for his men was that the nearest garage should tow in wrecked cars unless the owner directed otherwise.

MILLION ON WPA ROLLS PROMISED MORE PAY NOV. 1

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8 (AP).—Howard O. Hunter, work projects administrator, after conferring with President Roosevelt today, said that an increase in wages for the 1,030,000 persons now on WPA rolls will be announced in a few days. He said the amount of the increase will be determined shortly and that it probably will take effect on Nov. 1.

The increase will be paid out of existing funds and will go only to certified workers on work projects.

DEATH CLAIMS HELEN MORGAN, TORCH SINGER

Rose to Fame from Store Clerk's Job Here.

Helen Morgan, who left a department store clerkship in Chicago to win international fame as a torch singer, died shortly before last midnight at Henrotin hospital after a valiant fight against a liver ailment that had been a recurring threat since her childhood. She was 37 years old.

Miss Morgan returned to Chicago in mid-September to appear at a loop theater, but became ill and entered the hospital determined to have the condition corrected permanently. She grew steadily worse and several blood transfusions were necessary both before and after an operation that was performed on Sept. 25.

Condition Grows Worse.

For five days she gained strength, then on Sept. 30 suffered a relapse. Despite additional blood transfusions her condition grew steadily more grave. At the bedside when Miss Morgan died were her husband, Lloyd Johnson, Los Angeles automobile dealer, to whom she was married last July; her mother, Mrs. Lulu Morgan of High Falls, N. Y., and an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dillion, 6319 Kenwood avenue, and several friends.

The funeral, which will be held sometime Saturday in the chapel at 110 North La Grange road, in La Grange, Ill., will be open to the public, the family said last night. The suburb was chosen to avoid curious crowds.

Born in Danville, Ill.

Helen Morgan's father, a cattle dealer, died shortly after her birth in Danville, Ill., in 1904, and she was brought to Chicago by her widowed mother. She went to school only long enough to satisfy the law's requirements, then put up her hair, lowered her skirts and worked as a department store clerk and manicure.

She sang evenings in some forgotten cabarets and in 1923 obtained backing to compete in Montreal, Que., in a Canadian national beauty contest. She won it—and $1,500. After her return to Chicago her engagements were more lucrative.

Helen soon was in New York, studying with Eduardo Petri, of the Metropolitan Opera school. Her voice failed to develop volume, but it had a quality at once tearful and sultry that rocketed her to success. She became a hit on Broadway in "Americana," in 1926. Then came her sensational performance in Ziegfeld's "Showboat" as Julie, singing "Can't Help Lovin' That Man of Mine."

Meanwhile, she made the nation conscious of "Bill," and "My Man," and early in her Broadway career began perching atop a piano to sing. This started one night when she was forced to climb aboard the piano in a night club to make herself heard and seen. It was so successful she adopted the pose.

Night club work after hours with the Showboat company made Miss Morgan almost as widely known in New York as Texas Guinan. By 1927 she was operating the Helen Morgan club.

Her luxurious club was invaded by prohibition agents with axes early one morning in 1927 and 350 guests were questioned for hours while the raiders wrecked the place. Later Miss Morgan was acquitted and the ax swingers were ordered to pay for the damage they had done.

Takes Up Movie Career.

In addition to "Americana" and "Showboat," Miss Morgan played in George White's "Scandals" and appeared with Maurice Chevalier at the Ziegfeld roof. She played in the movie version of "Showboat" and a dozen other films.

In May, 1933, she was married to Maurice [Buddy] Maschke, Cleveland attorney and a son of the Ohio Republican leader. She divorced him in 1936. Despite her success as a singer, Miss Morgan always had hoped to be a dramatic actress. On many occasions she tried out in experimental theaters using the name Neleh Nagrom—her own spelled backward.

Spends Night in Marsh

Dennis Ludlow in bed in Iron Mountain, Mich., after he had spent night in a marsh.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Oct. 8 (AP).—Dennis Ludlow, 2½ year old boy missing since late yesterday, was found today, alive and well, in a marsh about a mile from his home.

The child was found asleep on a grassy knoll in the marsh by Alfred Hinckley, one of 1,200 students who had been dismissed from school to aid in the search.

Clad in a snug snow suit, cap and muffler, the child appeared in good health, despite his night in the marsh with the temperature in the thirties. He smiled at Hinckley and was not frightened, the youth said. Hinckley took him to the Ludlow home where the parents, tears streaming down their cheeks, hugged him and put him to bed.

KNOX TALKS UP 'PERILS' TO U. S. FROM ABROAD

Girdler Asserts America Is Invincible.

BY HAL FOUST.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox depicted what he called threats from abroad in a speech last night before the National Safety council convention in the Stevens hotel. Earlier in the day T. M. Girdler, chairman of the Republic Steel corporation, told the convention that America is invincible from foreign attack, but that absolutism of the Nazi brand in Washington, D. C., is a real peril to our form of government.

Knox, an exponent of "shoot on sight," declared that "the actual invasion of the near east and the British Isles is a certainty the moment the Nazi iron octopus can ready itself for the assault, and with the United States the final and most important item on the Nazi agenda of unfinished business."

Urges Accident Prevention.

In deference to convention delegates engaged in preventing accidental deaths and injuries, the cabinet member digressed from his usual theme of prosecuting a war and urged further efforts in accident prevention, to better the efficiency of armament production for use against the "gray-green robot fanatics," "slave philosophy," and "Hitler and his pathetic and bombastic stooge."

Paraphrasing the "war to end war" slogan of 1917 and '18, Knox concluded that this nation's "greatest and freest civilization ever evolved will endure long after the blot of Naziism has been wiped forever from the face of Europe."

"The real question of the future," said Mr. Girdler, "is what is to be the effect of the war upon America. We must arm to defend our country from a foreign aggressor seeking to impose a hateful political order upon the world. But it is just as important that we do not permit emergence here of the very kind of a government we are fighting abroad.

No Nazi Methods Needed.

"No one questions the need for central planning and for the application of many kinds of control during an emergency like the present. But we must make sure that controls so necessary in war time are not carried over as permanent policies in time of peace.

"There are already a number of straws in the wind that bear strong resemblance to ideas and methods common to the dictator countries. For example, recent suggestions have been made that the government place precisely the same kind of fixed profit limitations upon industry as have long been established in Nazi Germany. We need no Nazi brand of controls over American industry."

Col. John Stilwell, vice president of the Consolidated Edison company of New York, last night was reëlected for his third one-year term as president of the Safety council. Leslie Sorenson, city traffic engineer of Chicago, was reëlected as one of the eight vice presidents. W. H. Cameron was reëlected general director, a post he has held since 1913.

GIRD FOR BATTLE ON REVISION OF NEUTRALITY ACT

F. D. R. Writes Message on Arming of Ships.

to send American shipping into the war zone.

Considered Step Toward War.

Sending of American ships into the war zone, where they might be sunk, is expected to encounter considerable congressional opposition because such a step is considered in congress as the next thing to a flat declaration of war.

After the White House conference congressional leaders said that President Roosevelt evidently had decided not to short circuit the neutrality act in order to send American ships into the war zone. Congressional and other interventionists had suggested that Mr. Roosevelt could circumvent restrictions against entry of American vessels into the war zone by proclamation.

They urged the issuance of a proclamation abolishing the war zone established by the President under the neutrality act. It was reported that Attorney General Francis J. Biddle was ready to prepare an opinion holding that the President could issue such a proclamation.

Debate in House Limited.

The house was selected for the initiation of the revision of the neutrality act because the senate is busy with price control legislation and is about to tackle the 5 billion 985 million supplemental lend-lease appropriation. Because debate is limited in the house, leaders predicted that the bill can be passed within a week.

After the White House conference Sen. Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], senate majority leader, was asked if he saw any possibility of a noninterventionist filibuster. He said he hoped this would not occur.

At the White House conference in addition to Republican and Democratic congressional leaders were Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Harry Hopkins, lend-lease supervisor.

RAF BOMBS NAZI SHIPPING AND OIL AT GREEK PORT

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 8 (AP).—A heavy British air raid on shipping and oil storage at the German held Greek port of Piraeus, just outside Athens, was reported today by the RAF middle east command. Chemical plants, warehouses, and piers were reported hit in the attack Monday night.

Two ships were left sinking and a third was seriously damaged in Sunday's naval aircraft attack on a heavily guarded axis convoy, the communique said.

Claim Third of Duce's Freighters.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Oct. 8 (AP).—Britain's steady battering of Italy's seapower has stripped Il Duce of nearly one-third of his merchant fleet, British sources said today. Summaries of the British operations list 851,000 tons of axis shipping—99 per cent of it Italian—as sent to the bottom of the Mediterranean and Red seas since Italy went to war.

Repulse British at Tobruk.

ROME, Oct. 8 (AP).—The Italian high command announced today that Italian infantry had repulsed British attempts to approach their positions on the Tobruk front in north Africa and told of new aerial assaults on the British Mediterranean base of Malta.

Nazis Bomb Boat at Suez.

BERLIN, Oct. 8 (AP).—A large merchant ship was heavily damaged in renewed German air assaults last night in the Suez area, the high command said today.

FINNS STIRRED BY U. S. STAND ON THEIR WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 8.—American Secretary of State Cordell Hull's statement yesterday that the Roosevelt administration supports England's policy toward Finland has aroused disappointment among all classes of Finns. Some Finns friends became alarmed when told that Hull supported the English demand that Finland close a separate peace with Russia.

"Where can we possibly get our fishing tackle?" they asked. This is a serious reaction, for Finland is the largest importer of American fishing tackle in Europe. This summer many Finns paid $50 for a good American fishing rod and some American silk lines brought as much as $35.

American trade with Finland has suffered greatly under the British blockade which lately forced Finland to break off diplomatic relations with England.

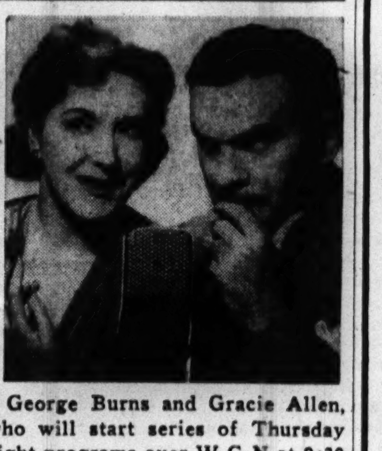
Philippine Constabulary to Be Put Into U. S. Army

MANILA, Philippine Islands, Oct. 8 (AP).—The 1st regiment of the Philippine constabulary, 1,200 officers and men, will be mustered in as infantrymen with the United States forces Oct. 15, the United States army's far eastern command disclosed today. The troops later may be detailed to police duty.

Burns and Allen Will Open New W-G-N Series Tonight

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

On W-G-N Tonight



George Burns and Gracie Allen, who will start series of Thursday night programs over W-G-N at 9:30 tonight.

George Burns and Gracie Allen, the radio comedians, have consumed [or you have] some 40,000 new jokes in their 18 years together. But tonight when they open their new series on W-G-N after a summer of gardening they will fall back on a joke that always makes George laugh tho he will be hearing it for the 3,001th time. That's what Gracie, who has a passion for inaccurate statistics, promised yesterday.

Gracie reported that when George goes on W-G-N at 9:30 p. m. he will start eating his 201st pound of aspirin. And by the end of the broadcast she herself will have eaten her 7,000th gumdrop, taking her bad memory into account.

Paul Whiteman, Too.

George and Gracie will be supported by Paul Whiteman's orchestra; Jimmy Cash, a young tenor whom Gracie pried loose from a cashier's cage in a Burbank, Cal., grocery; Señor Irving Lee, an eccentric guitarist, and a whole stable of Whiteman instrumentalists.

"I've always wanted to work with Paul Whiteman," Gracie confided yesterday, "because I hear he has the cutest slide trombone player, and if they put a sand box under the instrument I can slide, too."

Gracie actually spent a lot of time the last summer at home in Beverly Hills, Cal., in the sand box with Sandra, 6 years old, and Ronnie, 5, their children whom they adopted from the Cradle in Evanston.

Adam's Apple Orchard.

From sand box to gardening was just a step for Gracie.

"I'm raising a nice crop of Adam's apples for cowboy actors," she said, "and soon we hope to have enough corn to open our own radio station. My potatoes were coming along nicely until yesterday, when they fell with a sick, thickening spud.

"I had planned to raise a patch of artichokes but they're very treacherous vegetables. You can eat a bad one and never know it.

"One thing more: I don't understand how people in Chicago can hear me at 9:30 Thursday evenings when it's Tuesday in Beverly Hills."

Gracie apparently is confused because, while her show is aired at 9:30 p. m. Thursday in Chicago over W-G-N, the rest of the country hears her and George either at 7:30 or 9 p. m. Tuesday over NBC. A little involved, but strictly in the Burns and Allen tradition.

EGG IS THROWN AT SEN. WHEELER DURING SPEECH

Tuscon, Ariz., Oct. 8 (AP).—An egg spattered at the feet of Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] as he delivered an address tonight in the Tucson High school auditorium.

Near the end of his speech some booing was heard as he urged opposition to President Roosevelt's foreign policy. The egg, thrown from the balcony, struck a curtain above Wheeler's head and fell beside him.

He spoke of "men who are afraid to stand up themselves but hire some boy to try to break up a meeting" and quickly ended his talk.

The doctrine of freedom of the seas is "a war monger's slogan" and "not a traditional American doctrine," Wheeler asserted.

REDS MAY FALL, BRITISH WARNED FOR FIRST TIME

Press Paints a Gloomy Picture of Nazi Drive.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 9 [Thursday].—For the first time since Germany invaded Russia, London's newspapers are practically unanimous in warning that there is a possibility of Russia falling.

"The knife is getting nearer the artery in Russia," said this morning's Daily Express. "The German onslaught has driven great encircling wedges into the Russian defense. The fury of the German attack has no parallel in previous German offensives. Hitler is leaving no opportunity for the Russians, attacked in one sector, to make an attack in another. Everything Germany can muster is hurled into this fight along the whole front."

The Nazis are trying for a knockout blow, said the Daily Herald, adding:

"We should do well to be prepared for more unwelcome news from the Russian front."

The Russians will hardly have time, even if they have the forces, to stage a counteroffensive, the paper declared.

Demands Action in West.

The Daily Herald also told of a plea made yesterday by the soviets for Britain to strike in the west with her navy, army, and air force, and asserted that "the moment has arrived when Britain should take decisive action in the west to bottle up Germany and close the approaches to the North sea."

The Daily Mail said the British must face the possibilities, however ugly they may be. It asked three questions that it said should be seriously considered, as follows:

"Isn't it true: The farther the Germans go into Russia and the more battles they win the nearer the war comes to us? That Russia is the only European country left for Hitler to conquer? That should he succeed, only the British empire and the United States will stand between him and world domination?"

Weighs Democracies' Rôles.

The Daily Mirror said this:

"As the latest and fiercest of German onslaughts thrust its massacring hordes toward Moscow in one of the most appalling battles known to history, by way of contrast what is happening to the 'two great western democracies' who have pledged themselves to destroy Hitler?

"1. Our house of commons, in the third year of the war, considers the old, old problem of man power. In a phrase used yesterday by a Conservative member of parliament it is 'for passive defense at home.' The man power problem was posed and settled in the last war.

"2. America? Roosevelt continues to repeat that Naziism must be destroyed. The administration squabbles about the neutrality act; that seems to be irreconcilable with the destruction of anything or anybody—as its very name implies.

"3. Lord Halifax, the ideal ambassador for a nation of Rip Van Winkles, dreamily muses over a landing, an invasion, or a positively wide awake coup of consequence to be made in relief of a conceivably defeated or immobilized Russia—when it is too late."

IRAN OR PERSIA? CHURCHILL STIRS UP OLD QUESTION

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Oct. 8.—There is a certain amount of interest in some circles here over the question whether Iran shall be called "Persia" in the future.

The question began with Prime Minister Winston Churchill who stubbornly refuses to call Iran anything but Persia. Following the prime minister's speech the London Times printed letters suggesting that the name "Persia" should be restored since the old shah who was responsible for the change had left. John Bartholomew, map manufacturer, wrote to the Times saying that he had ordered all his maps to be marked Persia in the future.

The Iranian legation, however, is still using the word Iran and so is the foreign office and the Times in general is reserving the right to call the country what it pleases.

They will make brief stops in St. Paul, Minn., tomorrow, and Chicago on Friday, and spend several days in Timonium, Md., a suburb of Baltimore and former home of the duchess, before reaching New York Wednesday or Thursday of next week.

TEHERAN, Iran [Persia], Oct. 8.—Transportation experts from W. Averell Harriman's American mission in Moscow are coming to Teheran to investigate the "noncoöperation bottleneck" which is blocking large scale shipments of supplies to Russia thru Iran, according to reports in diplomatic circles.

The fact that there is no Russian official in the Iranian capital who is willing to assume the necessary responsibility has virtually halted plans for improving transportation facilities in the Red occupied area. The British, who are making progress in the region they occupy, say the Russians refer everything to Moscow, with the result that it has been impossible to get the trans-Iranian transportation improvement program under way.

To date only a token shipment of cotton and jute, sent by truck from India, has passed thru Iran en route to Russia, altho the Reds themselves stripped warehouses of thousands of tons of goods [apparently cotton and jute] in northern Iran.

British Commander Denied Pass.

The reluctance of the Reds to permit British officers and transport experts to enter the territory they occupy also is retarding plans to speed aid to Russia thru Iran. Brig. Gen. J. A. Aizlewood, commander in chief of the British forces here, is one of a number of Britons who have been unable to obtain a military pass into that region.

Neutral diplomats say it may be necessary for the United States government to exert strong pressure on the Reds to make them abandon what appears to be an attitude of distrust toward their British allies. Otherwise, the diplomats assert, it will be extremely unwise for the United States government to send large quantities of war materials to Russia by way of the Persian gulf because it might not get thru the bogged down transportation system in Iran.

Might Fall Into Nazis' Hands.

It is pointed out that if the supplies do not reach the Russian frontier in time to save that country they might eventually fall into the hands of the Germans.

The much criticized draft of the proposed British - Russian - Iranian treaty has been withdrawn from the Iran government by the British for revision, neutral sources said. Iranians generally protested its provisions, particularly the military assistance clause.

[The treaty as originally drawn would have required the Iranian government to provide its British and Russian allies with soldiers and war materials in the event hostilities reached Iranian soil. On Wednesday it was reported that Shah Mohemmed Pahlevi had said he would resign before acceding to this allied demand.]

Report Withdrawal Hesitancy.

It is also reported that the Reds have refused to indorse the clause that provides for the withdrawal of British and Russian troops within a year after the end of the war and the blanket guarantee of Iranian political independence and territorial integrity.

A Russian reconnaissance party, consisting of two automobile loads of officers and men is reported to have penetrated as far south as Zahedan, 40 miles southwest of the tip of Afghanistan and 30 miles from the border of Baluchistan, which is part of British India. This area is not part of the Russian occupied zone, and some uneasiness has been caused by the thought that the Russians might be planning to occupy Iran along the Indian frontier. Neutral observers point out that if the Reds should collapse the way might be open for a German penetration as far as the Indian border.

Rumania to Begin Paying French Debt in Oil Soon

VICHY, France, Oct. 8 (AP).—Foreign ministry officials said today they expected Rumania to begin deliveries of 12,000 tons of oil monthly to France shortly under the terms of a trade treaty announced Oct. 3. The oil is to pay off a Rumanian debt of $22,000,000 for French war materials and army equipment delivered before the outbreak of the war.

GERMANS PIERCE MOSCOW FRONT; TRAP RED ARMIES

Claim Major Victory on Sea of Azov Front.

BERLIN, Oct. 9 [Thursday] (AP).—While Gen. Fedor von Bock's German armies of the center fought a chain of battles to encircle the backbone of the Red army less than 125 miles west of Moscow, German sources reported today that heavily armored reconnaissance forces were thrusting ever eastward much nearer to the Kremlin, the heart of the soviet union.

Gen. Fedor von Bock.

Just how much nearer they did not say, but Von Bock's main striking force was declared to be at Vyazma, on the broad highway leading to Moscow.

In addition to these avowed successes, the Russian admission of withdrawal from Orel, 220 miles south of Moscow, and German announcement that the soviet 9th army was trapped in a catastrophe in the south along the shores of the Sea of Azov, a well placed source here said these did not measure the full extent of German triumphs.

Forecast Other Successes.

Altho German foreign office circles remained tight lipped, Dienst aus Deutschland, a commentary which has high connections there, asserted:

"In other sections . . . great successes of the same type [as at Vyazma] are visible. Shortly, new bulletins announcing great progress are expectable."

Where or what these successes might be it did not disclose.

[The Germans made no mention yesterday of the progress of the northern arm of their pincer drive on Moscow. Previously this drive from the Valdai hills was reported thrusting at Bologoe, chief railway center half way between Moscow and Leningrad and about 200 miles from each.]

Locked, admittedly, in a struggle of tremendous moment with the flower of the soviet union's defensive power on the central front, the Germans were reported to have erected a ring of encirclement and destruction already around several Russian armies in the Vyazma area after tearing a breach in a stalwart Red line of fortifications east of Smolensk.

Cut Off Retreat in South.

Military spokesmen said the outer defenses of the soviet capital were thoroly shaken and that "a solid German front" is moving on Moscow.

Far to the south, the 9th army of Marshall Semeon Budenny was declared to have been cut off from retreat after a crushing defeat on the Melitopol front north of the Sea of Azov, with between six and seven Russian divisions [perhaps 100,000 men] facing destruction in a tight trap and "weak remnants" trying to flee to Rostov-on-Don at the eastern extremity of the sea.

A special communique—the second of the day—said a German tank army, backed by Italian, Hungarian, and Slovak units, smashed southward to the Sea of Azov from Dnepropetrovsk, joining forces at Ossipenko [Berdyansk] with German and Rumanian forces coming along the coast from the west. An élite unit pressed on to take Mariupol.

100 Miles from Rostov.

The grain-iron port of Mariupol is only a little more than 100 miles from Rostov, easternmost point reached by the German imperial armies in the World war. Semiofficial advices indicated one soviet division already was considered destroyed in this seascoast area, and 3,500 prisoners taken.

Of the tremendous struggle before Moscow, the German military spokesman said:

"Timoshenko's defense of Moscow has been penetrated and a great number of his crack troops have been caught in the encirclement west of Vyazma.

"Von Bock is engaged in precisely such a battle of annihilation as took place east of Kiev, where upwards of 650,000 Russian prisoners were taken a few weeks ago."

Fortified for the Winter.

The German war reporter Fritz Meske said in a retarded dispatch from the sector that the initial break in the soviet line was ripped thru positions which the Russians had fortified for the winter east of Smolensk.

The Germans, "with hard weeks of waiting and defensive fighting behind them," began the surprise smash at 6 a. m. last Thursday, Meske wrote.

Pouring behind armored divisions, the reporter said, "Our infantry on the first day of the battle broke into the enemy positions everywhere.

"By the second day strong infantry forces were operating in the open while the armored divisions, moving far forward with flanks unprotected, completed the encirclement of the mighty bolshevistic middle army."

As for the siege of Leningrad in the north, the high command announced that Russian attempts to disembark troops to the west of Russia's second largest city had been blocked.

Thru the night the air force poured thousands of tons of bombs on Leningrad, sowing fires and destruction in vital war facilities, the Germans added.

A million men of Marshal Klementi Voroshilov's northern army now are locked up in Leningrad.

MRS. ROOSEVELT TELLS CAMP FIRE GIRLS TO 'ENLIST'

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, assistant civilian defense director, expressed the hope tonight that an office to coordinate volunteer efforts would be set up in each city as soon as possible.

This volunteer office would function under the local defense council, said Mrs. Roosevelt in a radio broadcast to the National Council of Camp Fire Girls holding their annual meeting in Detroit, Mich.

She urged the Camp Fire Girls to help get such volunteer offices established and issued "a special call" to senior Camp Fire Girls to enlist immediately in the plan.

MIGHTIEST U. S. EFFORT NEEDED, SAYS BRITISH AID

LONDON, Oct. 8—Altho Britain is nearing peak production, Home Secretary Herbert Morrison today warned the people of the United States in a broadcast that only their mightiest effort would save them. He said:

"We know Hitler's course is not yet run and that bitter trial will be our lot until it is. Every month added to the length of the struggle increases the prospect that it will, before its end, engulf every continent in its tide of misery. . . .

"The new front in eastern Europe calls ever more insistently for the fullest support that you and we can give. German resources mount. Our arms production and yours combined is still short of their vast reserves, plus their enormous output. We have much past leeway to make up. Ours can still make some progress, but the peak is not far off. We know you understand that the great increase that is needed must come from the new world."

6TH DISTRICT BAR ELECTS.

Sycamore, Ill., Oct. 8 [Special].—Attorney David R. Joslyn of Woodstock was elected president of the 6th District Federation of Local Bar Associations at its annual meeting here yesterday. More than 200 lawyers attended the sessions in the Fargo hotel. Dixon was chosen as next year's meeting place.

Bolivia Police Seize 2 Members of Secret Group

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Oct. 8 (AP).—Police tonight announced arrest of two members of a secret organization and seizure of documents in their homes indicating they belonged to a totalitarian group. Pictures of Adolf Hitler were among the items seized, police said.

FINLAND CONFERS KNIGHT'S CROSS ON MANNERHEIM

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 8 (AP).—President Risto Ryti conferred Finland's first knight's cross, Mannerheim order first class, upon Field Marshal Mannerheim, Finnish commander in chief, at high command headquarters today.

Marshal Mannerheim.

"Surely," the president said, "never before in history has the same person led his people, as you have, thru three wars of independence." [The reference was to the World war, the 1939-'40 winter war, and the current conflict, all with Russia.] Mannerheim answered that Finland had very nearly reached her war goal.

"Reconquest of Karelian territory seized from us in the winter war as well as in the liberation of a large and important part of the land of our kinspeople from alien tyranny," he said, "give us new strength and faith in the possibility of permanently safeguarding our frontiers."

THREE HIGH RANKING BRITISH OFFICERS DIE IN AIRPLANE CRASH

LONDON, Oct. 8 (AP).—Three high ranking British officers, Maj. Gen. Vyvyan Vavasour Pope, Brig. Gen. H. E. Russell, and Col. E. S. Unwin, were killed in a flying accident in the middle east, an authoritative source disclosed today.

No details of the accident, which occurred last Sunday, were made public immediately.

Gen. Pope lost his right arm in Flanders in the World war and became a member of the British general staff in 1938. He served in the low countries stand last year before being transferred to the middle east.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MOSCOW ARMIES FALL BACK; GIVE UP RAIL CENTER

Arms of Nazi Vise Move Nearer Capital.

MOSCOW, Oct. 8 (AP).—The soviet armies below Moscow withdrew today from the important railway town of Orel after furious fighting, the Red army high command announced tonight in a terse confession of mighty German pressure on two central sectors and another just above the Sea of Azov, on the extreme south.

Marshal Timoshenko.

Orel, on the Moscow-Kharkov-Rostov railway, some 220 miles south of Moscow and 68 miles east of Bryansk, was squarely in the path of the southern arm of a week-long German enveloping movement intended to trap and destroy the Russian armies defending Moscow.

More Menacing Positions.

Orel's fall put the second of two mighty Nazi columns in much more menacing position below the capital, while to the west the other supreme thrust was operating from the vicinity of Vyazma, only 125 miles short of Moscow.

The tone of crisis was strong and clear. The magazine Bolshevik called for British action in the west, now that Hitler was engaged to the death in the east.

"The British empire," it said, "now has the opportunity to take the initiative and deal destructive blows to the common foe of mankind, the Hitler Fascists."

The official organ of the soviet navy estimated that the Germans had now only 25 to 30 weak divisions in France and little artillery and few planes left in all the west, and at the same time said that the British army and air force had greatly grown while the royal navy still held the seas.

"This," it added, "means that since the start of war in the east an entirely new strategic situation has arisen. The significance of this is tremendous. Hitler now more than ever before is exceedingly vulnerable."

Admit Nazis Gain in South.

In the far south, German advances were acknowledged by the soviet command's admission that fighting was raging about Melitopol, on the Sea of Azov along the gateway to Rostov on the River Don and to the Caucasus beyond.

But it was on the Moscow approaches where the hour of greatest crisis was at hand. There, in the greatest mechanized battle ever fought, the central Russian armies beat back desperately at a series of mighty concentric thrusts by which superior German forces were slowly extending their salients. But no major break-thru had been achieved, the Russians declared.

Achieved at Immense Cost.

In a terrible chaos on two ill defined and shifting fronts German advances were acknowledged here and there. But they were achieved, said soviet military dispatches, at immense cost to the invaders—including more than 500 tanks destroyed—and by rushing up great new bodies of armored troops and infantry and fresh squadrons of dive bombers for this supreme test of the war.

Marshal Semeon Timoshenko, the defender of this capital against supreme Nazi thrusts operating from the vicinities of Vyazma and Bryansk, the latter 220 miles southwest of Moscow, appeared to be fighting now to hold if possible, but at all costs to destroy.

A Red infantry division charging with flaming bottles of gasoline was credited with exploding more than 300 German tanks; hundreds more were said to have been smashed by soviet artillery fire and soviet bombers, along with uncounted armored cars, trucks, and troop transports.

Counterattack Ceaselessly.

Russian engineering companies, toiling under unending German fire, broke the bitter terrain with hundreds of miles of trenches and tank traps. Before them division upon division of other Red combat troops counterattacked ceaselessly in efforts to smash back the lengthening projection from the Nazi line.

Moscow generally took the position that it was Hitler's last and greatest lunge before the onset of winter and that the German command was ready to write a frightful casualty roll rather than be balked in the coming snows.

While the situation in this greatest of theaters was acknowledged to be critical, continued and major Russian successes were reported from the Leningrad and Odessa fronts.

Before Leningrad a strategic town was reported recaptured by Red troops which broke three successive strong German lines and threw the invaders far back from the city.

Kill 9,500 German Troops.

A single Russian division commanded by Maj. Gen. A. L. Bondarev, newly elevated from a colonelcy, reported killing 9,500 German troops and the destructon in a single action of seven German artillery batteries and 35 anti-tank guns. Eighteen more small German fortresses of earth and timber were reported destroyed about Leningrad.

Farther to the north more than 4,000 German and Finnish soldiers were declared slain in a river action.

In the far south two Rumanian infantry divisions aiding the siege of Odessa were reported routed by soviet troops aided by marines of the Black sea fleet who fought to a landing at the Rumanian rear.

Somewhere in the southwest heavy German mechanized forces were reported checked in a series of counterattacks which destroyed 63 Nazi tanks.

Army Searchlights

Beams of five searchlights in the sky at Camp Davis, N. C., during army drill.

Camp Davis, N. C., Oct. 8 [Special]. —Members of the 94th coast artillery [anti-aircraft], tested their lights in a night drill, picking out an airplane which acted as a "target." Each of six regiments at the anti-aircraft training center has thirty lights. The plane flew a six mile course at an altitude of 8,000 feet to test the lights and gunnery.

END RUSSIAN WAR TO BEAT BRITAIN, JAPS TELL NAZIS

TOKIO, Oct. 8 (AP).—Domei, in a special article, today urged the axis powers to terminate the war with soviet Russia to conserve German resources in man power and equipment for an all-out assault on Great Britain.

The news agency warned that if the war with Russia is extended over a long period the axis powers may be faced with a dearth of materials because, it said, they are a union of "have-nots."

Britain and America, on the other hand, the agency declared, may become stronger because they represent a union of "haves."

Domei, which has close government connections, expressed a fear which has been voiced by other Japanese organs that Germany will spend her strength in Russia, leaving her ally Japan to face alone the hostility of Britain and perhaps the United States.

THIS TOPCOAT, mister, is for two-fisted go-getters. You can see it in every line. Those brawny shoulders would make Gable flash his broadest grin. R.A.F. fighters know how that military collar gets the feminine eye. And that rakish swing—top to bottom—is the most flattering bit of needle magic to come your way in many a moon. Yes, here's a husky that stands its ground in any company—with a tremendous boost to the appearance of its proud owner. Naturally, such a topcoat would associate only with woolens of the better sort. So let's save the talk about rippling, rich weaves. Just ease your biceps into this thoroughbred—and from there on you'll do all the talking.

QUOTING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

A Time for Calm Thought.

So far as possible, the people everywhere shall have that sense of perfect security which is most favorable to calm thought and reflection. The course here indicated will be followed unless current events and experience shall show a modification or change to be proper, and in every case and exigency my best direction will be exercised according to circumstances actually existing, and with a view and a hope of a peaceful solution of the national troubles and the restoration of fraternal sympathies and affections.

Abraham Lincoln.

Washington, March 4, 1861.

THE SOURCE OF THE HYPOCRISY.

Mr. Roosevelt is conferring with members of congress in an effort to procure the repeal or radical modification of the neutrality act. This is the same statute of which he said less than a year ago—when he was attempting to lull the justified suspicions of the nation that he was bound for war—that it was a measure to keep us at peace. By it we made clear to every one, here and abroad, he said, that we were determined to avoid entanglement in war.

Even Mr. Roosevelt appears to recognize that so long as the neutrality act remains on the books his foreign policy cannot avoid the stigma of hypocrisy. It is Mr. Roosevelt's case that the hypocrisy can be cured by jettisoning the act which points it out. He refuses to cure it by conforming his acts to the intent and the provision of the statute.

The neutrality act forbids the sailing of American ships into the war zones. To evade that ban, American ships' owners were encouraged, if not directed, to place their vessels under the flag of the republic of Panama, which had no restrictions comparable to the act. That was the beginning of the hypocrisy. Then when these ships, which by subterfuge had been placed outside the provisions of the act, were subjected to attack Mr. Roosevelt and the war gang sought to use the incidents to inflame the people for war. That the ships would not have been attacked had the neutrality act been obeyed in spirit was ignored in their hypocritical indignation.

In recent days it has become known that the ships under Panamanian registry had been armed with the design of repelling attacks. The arming of a ship is a governmental and not a private act. In this age ship owners do not own or have access to cannon, which must be provided by a government, and the very placing of guns aboard a ship alters radically its status on the seas.

The ships under Panamanian registry are legally under the control of the government of that republic, but that government did not arm them. In fact, the arming of the ships came to light when Panama registered its objection against the process, and the objection was based on the Panamanian government's interpretation of neutrality as previously set forth by our own. Now, however, Mr. Roosevelt, at his press conference when asked whether he might disarm these vessels flying the flag of Panama, replies that he supposes those vessels are under Panamanian control by virtue of their registry. He put the guns on, but by some strange logic, or lack of it, he appears to think that it is up to Panama to get them off.

The press conference gave intimation of a further development of the hypocrisy, altho Mr. Roosevelt claimed he knows nothing about it. It appears that a movement is under way to find some more pliant government which will not object to the procedure which the Panamanians have found unneutral, and so transfer the American owned ships to the registry of this pliant nation, and to continue the conduct which makes a joke of the statute.

Mr. Roosevelt now says he wants the neutrality act repealed because world conditions, altho not America's relation to them, have changed since the act was passed. The passage of the act now in force occurred after the outbreak of the European war. World conditions have changed, but not in the essentials with which the neutrality act was intended to deal and to which Mr. Roosevelt pledged himself to apply it. The only thing that has changed is Mr. Roosevelt, who now feels he dares affirm what less than a year ago he felt constrained to deny.

The other day Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, piqued at the unconcern with which the citizens of Philadelphia are receiving the alarms of Mayor La Guardia's and her war whoop agency, the Office for Civilian Defense, said that a couple of bombs dropped on the Philadelphia city hall would cure the public apathy. She added the pious hope that that won't happen.

Her husband is seeking the same end in the neutrality act repeal. The country refused to be stirred by the sinking of the Panamanian flag ships. Mr. Roosevelt now wants to send American seamen, under the American flag, into combat zones where they will be attacked and so bring about our full fledged participation in the war.

SOFT FOR THE TAX EATERS IN WASHINGTON.

Representative Raymond S. Springer of Indiana recently objected in the house of representatives to the exemption of the tax eaters of the District of Columbia from the excessive gasoline taxes paid elsewhere in the United States by citizens who are contributing to their own ruin by meeting the exactions of their government in Washington. As Mr. Springer pointed out, the average gasoline tax in the United States is 4.4 cents per gallon. The District of Columbia, which harbors now the greatest horde of federal tax eaters that has ever been known in the history of the nation, pays 2 cents.

The residents of Washington are nearly all people who are there because they earn their living off the donations of taxpayers in other parts of the country. They have become under the Roosevelt administration a swarm of locusts who cannot even find trees enough to light in.

"These people are in Washington," said Mr. Springer, "because the government has provided them with good jobs, and they are making plenty of money. They would not stay here if that were not true, and when they do not like it here they can leave. You citizens of Indiana, Ohio, West Virgina, Texas, and other states do not owe anything to Washington, D. C., that you do not owe to yourselves. You certainly do not owe Washington 6 million dollars a year or more and have congress permit them to enjoy the cheapest gasoline tax rates in the country, as evidenced by this gasoline sales tax."

Mr. Springer admits that 6 million dollars is a small item in the federal budget, but many a nickel makes a mickle, and many a mickle will ruin a people for fifty years.

THE JUDICIAL TICKETS.

The Republican party has nominated a ticket of candidates for the Superior court election in November, thereby putting an end to the practice by which coalition tickets returned sitting judges and left vacancies subject to bipartisan barter without ratification by the voters.

The Republicans did right in assuring a contest. Gov. Green, whose insistence on the step swept weak hearted members of the organization into line, deserves credit for his stand. Just because there has been, until very recently, an overwhelming Democratic machine in Chicago is no reason to abandon a republican form of government.

Coalition judicial tickets are all right for civic emergencies. Such an emergency arose two decades ago when a corrupt city hall machine sought to take over the judiciary of the county. The reputable judges repudiated the scheme, ran on a coalition ticket and an outraged citizenry gave the machine a beating.

But such emergencies are the exception rather than the rule. Repeated coalition elections, robbing voters of any real voice in the choice of candidates, will inevitably lower the quality of the judiciary. They have already put some bad judges on the bench in Chicago, altho certainly no worse than the Municipal court has received as a result of Democratic landslides in contested elections.

There should be an election. As in the past, THE TRIBUNE will support those candidates who it thinks will make the best judges, regardless of the ticket on which they run.

RED FREEDOMS IN PERSIA.

E. R. Noderer, the Tribune correspondent in Iran, observes that the schools in the northern provinces of Persia occupied by the Russian army have been unable to open for the fall season because the comrades have taken all the chairs, tables, and desks, and the Persian government hesitates to replace them because of the fear that the comrades will simply confiscate whatever furniture is replaced.

Mr. Roosevelt is urging Brother Stalin to commit himself to the freedom of religion in order that he may square Red Joe with the four, eight, and ten freedoms. The Red response has been, to say the least, coy. The right to education is presumably another of Mr. Roosevelt's points, for the protection of which he is willing to equip 10 million American troops at the expenditure of 65 billion dollars. The Red sons of freedom seem to have little consideration for any of the freedoms in any country which they occupy. Mr. Roosevelt might also urge Joe to allow the Persian school children to have desks and their school books.

Editorial of the Day

RELIGION IN RUSSIA.

[From an article by Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen in the magazine The Sign.]

As a proof of the "window-dressing" character of the new constitution of Russia, it is well to remember that article 124 makes a distinction between "worship" and "propaganda." It guarantees "freedom of religious worship" and "freedom of anti-religious propaganda." In other words, a citizen has a right to worship God according to his conscience, if he can find a church or if he can find a minister, a priest, or a rabbi. But these are extremely difficult to find. For example, before the revolution there were 70,000 Christian churches and chapels in Russia. The communist party has recently declared that at the end of the second five year plan—namely: 1937, there will not be a single edifice in all Russia consecrated to religion. Furthermore, the atheistic paper of Russia entitled Bezbojnik, of May, 1935, speaking of the churches, states: "We have closed all the opium shops." In 1917 the Catholic church in Russia had 810 priests, and of those 810 there remained only 63 in 1935. In January, 1936, soviet newspapers declared the last Catholic priest in Odessa "was cast into prison."

Even tho one could find churches, priests, ministers, and rabbis, would a citizen under the communistic régime be permitted to establish a religious school? No! Because that is "propaganda." Would citizens be permitted to distribute pamphlets on "religious subjects"? No! That would be "propaganda." Would they be permitted to broadcast "religious talks"? No! That is "propaganda." But would the communists be permitted to do all in their power to attack religion? Yes! For that right is reserved to the communists by article 124. They have the right to propagandize against religion, but a citizen has only the right to worship if he can find a priest or a church.

Active persecution and massacre of the clergy in Russia have ceased. But this is not because communism no longer believes in murdering the clergy; it is because practically all the clergy have been "liquidated," which is the polite word the communists use for "massacred." According to official communist statistics alone, 30 bishops and 1,414 priests were executed in 1918-1919. The archbishop of Perm was buried alive after having his eyes put out and his face slashed. The archbishop of Tobolsk was drowned after enduring two months of penal servitude. The bishop of Belgarod was subjected to horrible mockery and then plunged into quicklime. In July, 1927, 117 Orthodox prelates were thrown into prison, or were taken to concentration camps, or exiled to Siberia. Because soviet Russia is not carrying on massacres on such a large scale today is not because she has become religious, it is because there are so few left to shoot.

FEATHERS FROM A PHOENIX.

The observance of the 70th anniversary of the Chicago fire would not be complete without reference to the total destruction of the Historical Society's collections. The only item found in their ashes was a small bottle containing pieces of pickled tape-worm.

• • •

What downtown buildings survived the fire and the 70 years that have passed? The Lind Block on Market street [now Wacker drive] was unscathed because it was isolated and also because of freakish wind currents. Unless the demolition fever of the last few years has turned it into a parking place, it's still there.

• • •

Then there is a long stone structure east of Michigan avenue at the river—an Illinois Central freight terminal, no doubt. It is seldom mentioned as a fire survivor but its architectural style tells the story. It is definitely of the Civil war period.

• • •

At 558 De Koven street there is a weather-stained and shabby two story house of stone and brick which bears a tablet reading: "The great Chicago fire of 1871 started here and extended to Lincoln Park." Not much is known of its history, and John Drury, an expert on such matters, calls it a "forgotten house." Its builder was apparently Anton Kolar, who bought the lot from the O'Learys in 1879. It is now the property of the city of Chicago, which seems to be a bad landlord in the matter of upkeep. When Mr. Drury wrote "Old Chicago Houses," recently published, the occupants of the premises were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Constantine, with four children, and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Miglore.

A Fire Survivor Tells Her Story.

[First time in print.]

I was a girl of 10 years on Oct. 9, 1871. My family had occupied during the summer a furnished house in Highland Park. Our Chicago home was on Wabash avenue near Van Buren street. That Monday morning father, mother, and I boarded a North Western train for the city. Father, vexed because he could not buy a TRIBUNE, got off at Evanston to seek one. He became absorbed in talk with a man on the platform, and the train pulled away without him. Mother and I came on to the city.

As the train passed thru the poor district of the northwest side, the streets as far as we could see were piled high with furniture. When we reached the Kinzie Street station, we were not allowed to leave the train. The platform was crowded with terrified people, carrying their most cherished belongings. Eventually we were taken back to Highland Park [a free ride].

In the evening father returned, completely exhausted. He had reached Chicago by a later train, and had groped thru the smoke in the downtown streets. He found our home in ashes and everything in which he had a business interest burned.

For many days thereafter refugees were fed in the stations along the North Western. We were on the list for relief, and I remember that we received a box containing six hams and a large package of crackers. M. D. J.

CHICAGO SYMPHONY.

Tall clocks proclaim the hour; stars, towers, and streets,
Winds, clouds and lights, assume their ancient places.
Night lifts her bright baton as day retreats,
And now the strings begin—anon, the basses—
A thousand themes, a thousand dreams, long stored
In the viewless pages of this mighty strain
Of metropolitan symphony outpoured
Where once primeval silence held domain.
Small wonder listening ghosts of the centuries gone
Crowd round—frontiersman, trapper, hunter, guide—
Inaudible applauders strangely drawn
To music wrought of all they lived and died
To consummate thru storm and war and sun—
And, save by these pioneers, now heard by none!

I shall never marry. If I did, in the natural course of events I might some day have grandchildren, and when little Quizzibeth and Cussbert clambered on my knee they might ask me, "Grandpappy, in the frightful forties, when world-wide wars were fashionable, what great part did you play?" and I would needs reply, "Children, I got up every morning and went to work; I went to lunch each noon; and every night I went to bed after walking the dog!" How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

UNDULANT FEVER MAY HANG ON.

It is unfortunate—but true—that undulant fever [brucellosis] is widespread. It persists because some localities have failed to pasteurize milk or to cook thoroly the flesh of diseased animals that may be utilized for food. A vigorous campaign of a few weeks could stamp out the acute form in almost any community.

We must not forget that the ailment may go unrecognized because it resembles so closely typhoid, malaria, tuberculosis, or influenza. In certain cases, symptoms may be mild. On the other hand, a siege may last a long time with severe manifestations such as a high, undulating [up and down] fever, drenching sweats, and chills.

After infection, discomfort may be experienced in from 5 to 30 days. The onset is characterized by sharp chills, the ensuing temperature mounting to 103 degress F. or even higher. Then come great fatigue, loss of appetite, headache and backache. The patient feels hot in the afternoon with occasional chilly sensations. During the night he may perspire and perhaps become so weak that he can scarcely get out of bed. In the morning, however, he may present no signs of fever.

As the illness advances, the thermometer may rise to higher levels on succeeding days until some one recognizes the characteristic stepladder curve. The perspiration often possesses a peculiar fetid, sweetish odor and muscle pains are frequent.

During the first few days the victim may be unusually restless. Sleep is broken and if the mercury reading shoots skyward, delirium may be observed. In other words, involvement of the nervous system is not at all uncommon.

Many cases settle down into a chronic state—persisting for a year or more. All sorts of symptoms then present themselves, imitating a long standing infection. The thing to do, of course, is to spot the difficulty as soon as possible, and blood tests, properly interpreted, will point to the nature of the trouble. Cultures of the circulating fluid are also recommended. If a negative report is received, the checks may be repeated.

Can the disease be prevented? Vaccination has been employed successfully. A thousand million killed organisms may be given at weekly intervals. Apparently the reactions are mild—quite similar to those which follow the injection of dead typhoid germs.

But suppose that the affliction has appeared in full force—what then? Even at such a time, vaccines are beneficial. The victim is first tested for sensitivity by introducing a small amount between the layers of the skin. If there is no local or systemic response, the administration of the preparation may be begun within 48 hours. If the patient reacts to the substance, he may be managed safely with very minute quantities and thus become able to withstand the effects of this useful remedy.

Sulfanilamide and related compounds have been thought to be helpful. Perhaps they are, in some instances. But vaccines are of more value in the acute manifestations. There is no contraindication to the use of these powerful dyes, and enough data is at hand to warrant their continuation as remedial agents.

For long-standing, chronic sufferers, fever treatments have been advocated. Artificial heat therapy seems to destroy a generous number of the invading bacteria. In addition, it places the patient in far better fighting trim.

All of us may be careful about taking unpasteurized milk, cream, or other dairy products. This applies particularly to those who work about farms. We must recall that in any obscure, unexplained temperature, which persists—this disorder must be thought of. A thoro search may identify the culprit—the germ of Malta fever.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

SEE WHAT THE NATION FACES.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 4.—In his Philippic last Tuesday, Navy Secretary Knox let the cat out of the bag as to the real objectives of Roosevelt's foreign and domestic policies. These are to undo the American revolution and tie up the United States to an Anglo-Saxon federation for world domination for a hundred years. The Messianic implication attached to this Rooseveltian obsession is even more menacing to genuine liberty than is Hitler's megalomania of a master race. So the American people face the dismal prospect of sacrificing, suffering, and dying to a degree unprecedented in the annals of mankind in order that a despot [benign or savage] from Washington, the city of London or, more likely, Moscow, may dictate the future course of world events. H. B. W.

A FIGHT THAT GETS RESULTS.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 5.—THE TRIBUNE has always been a booster for faster and better train service. And, thanks to your great newspaper, great progress has been made in passenger transportation on the railroads. A recent example is the new Mercury operated between Chicago and Detroit. I rode on this train a few days ago from Chicago to Detroit and return. It seems to have everything—speed, luxury, and improvements to suit modern conditions. And the traveling public will patronize such a train.

Keep up the work, dear TRIBUNE. You believe, as do I, that construction is better than destruction, under whatever banner. ARTHUR J. RICHARDSON.

SIX BOYS WANT LETTERS.

Scott Field, Ill., Oct. 6.—We, the boys of barracks 829, would like to ask you to print this letter. We want to find some girls to write to us. We promise to answer. The following is a short description and names of the fellows:

Private Robert W. May—Bald, bulgy, and bashful.
Private David Coraz—Small and dark.
Private Jon Roberts—Teeth like pearls and just as scarce.
Private Arnold T. Murphy—Complexion like a peach: yellow and fuzzy.
Private Irvin W. Horton—Polished, polite, and pugnacious.
Private Harvey Pell—Tall, dark, and look for yourself.

This may not sound like we mean it but we do. R. W. MAY.

HE'S ALL OUT FOR WAR NOW.

La Salle, Ill., Oct. 6.—Doubt has again arisen as to whether to deport Holy Harry Bridges. When they finally do get around to shipping him off, why waste him as just a Muscovite returning home? Wouldn't it be better to send him to Uncle Joe as a special envoy, just like our great world saver did with Harry the Hop? In fact, Holy Harry is probably even on better terms with Joe than the Hop. But first we should give Bridges time to quiet some of his bolshevist defense striking friends on the coast. WILLIAM B. HUMMER.

BUT NOT FLEET ENOUGH.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—I'm one of the army of employed living east of Michigan avenue and working west of Michigan. I am writing to ask, "Why can't we be allowed enough time to cross the avenue in the evening without getting our heels clipped?

I stop at the first cross street and wait for the "walk" signal. But when it comes—cars turn from the east and from the west, from the north and from the south, and I am marooned west of Michigan. I am fleet of foot, but not fleet enough.

Not only for the sake of hot meals but for the sake of dignity, may we have enough time to cross the avenue? I am fair, hardly fat, but frankly 40 and it's hardly befitting me to hop like a toad to my home and destination. FLEETFOOT.

WHERE THE WILD CRABS ARE.

Blue Island, Ill., Oct. 5.—Some one wants to know where to get wild crab apples. Go south to Route 30. Go west thru Frankfort to gravel road at schoolhouse. Cross creek under Rock Island railroad to gate. This is between Frankfort and New Lenox, Ill.

Another place: Go to Ottawa, Ill. Take highway to hospital west of Ottawa, toward Utica. Turn north over canal over R. T. tracks and park below hill. Then walk west on tracks and there are plenty at foot of hills. Take gunny sack to carry back to car. WILLIAM SIDENSTICK.

WANTS TO GO IN NOW—

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 6.—True Americans must face the issue. There are no two sides. It is either right or wrong.

Do we want slavery here? It is only five hours away by plane. Hitler, the un-Christian butcher, strikes by night.

Shall we wait for Hitler to strike at us next?

Shall we not help our neighbors who fight for Christianity and against slavery and anti-Christians? G. K.

KEEP UP THE FIGHT!

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Keep up your good work in trying to keep our country out of war!

We, the real true Americans in Chicago, will stand by your newspaper. Why not start an evening paper, too?

We are for Lindbergh first, last, and always.

Stick with the ship until the end, which we pray will be the right end!

COMICS EASY TO FIND.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Many thanks to THE TRIBUNE for listing the comics in the summary column. The change is most helpful in finding my favorite comics at once. A. PARSONS.

WILD YOUTH.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 7.—A friend of mine who employs a number of young people recently complained that young people today were grossly self-indulgent and unsatisfactory as employés. When I suggested he hire middle aged persons for his work he said he didn't want them; that he wanted youth around him and thought his customers did, too, in spite of the almost unbearable annoyance they gave him.

The cult of youth is one of the signs of the degeneration of the times. But it dovetails nicely in with the breathless habits of the nation which have produced a frenzied style of living. Youth, wild and unrestrained as it is today, typifies our trade of vigor for a mess of pottage—the birthright we have traded for booze, cars, etc. PEEDEE.

WILL A HOG EAT TOMATOES?

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Charlie, my wife's cousin, lived with us nine years when he was learning the barber trade. Every night when I'd be doing the dishes he would sit and argue that a hog wouldn't eat tomatoes. I have asked a number of people including those who sit in information booths in loop hotels and none has been able to tell me whether Charlie is right or—wrong. Perhaps some reader of THE TRIBUNE can answer the question "Is it true or false a hog won't eat tomatoes?" THOMAS K. DAVEY.

2. What steps can plaintiff take to make life hard for defendant when defendant has no assets which are attachable?

3. How often can plaintiff make defendant come to court to make a statement on his assets? H. B.

1. Any judgment is entered by a judge. The mere fact that the parties do not contest the matter would not affect the validity of the judgment if that is what you mean to ask.

2. Depends on whether the judgment is based on a "malice count," on the debtor's income and on other facts that are not before us.

3. In general, if the debtor clearly has no assets or income, the creditor would not be so foolish as to waste his time. If this does not cover your facts, please state the facts. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NAZIS BEGIN CIVIL RULE OVER AREAS LOST BY RUSSIA

Commissioners Named for North, South Zones.

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Oct. 8.—While the German armies have started on their new thrust eastward, the Nazi civilian administration is beginning to function in the territories handed over to it by the German high command.

The incorporation of eastern Galicia, which had been occupied by Russia in the German-Red division of Poland in 1939, into the general government of Poland was the first step in this direction.

Reichscommissioners have been appointed for the northern and southern parts of Russia occupied by the German armies. The northern area includes, along with the former soviet White Russia and its capital, Minsk, the three Baltic states of Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia. The reichscommissioner for this territory, with headquarters at Riga, Latvia, is Heinrich Lohse, former gauleiter of the province of Schleswig-Holstein.

Forced Labor for Boys 14.

His assistant, in charge of the former White Russian republic, is William Kube. Kube was an aggressive partisan in early days of the Nazi movement and as a former Nazi governor of the province of Brandenburg.

In a proclamation in the Minsk Gazette, published in White Russian dialect, Kube has decreed labor service for boys from 14 to 20 years and for girls from 17 to 24 years. He also decreed compulsory education for children from 7 to 14 years and ordered the opening of all schools except the Jewish, which must remain closed.

Religious Orders Warned.

Kube admonished religious orders to preserve peace and good relations and occupy themselves exclusively with religious questions. Ministers who interfere with politics will be arrested or expelled from White Russia, his order stated.

Erich Koch, gauleiter and governor of East Prussia, has been appointed reichscommissioner for the Ukraine, altho the territory subject to his jurisdiction has not been defined and civil administration has been introduced in only a small part of the occupied zone.

Koch's headquarters apparently are still in Koenigsberg, his provincial capital. This is indicated by advertisments placed by his office in Berlin newspapers for stenographers willing to work in the Ukraine for the usual salary and a bonus.

BURGLAR GETS ONE BREAK BUT NOT A SECOND

It may have been the liquor or it may have been Albert Murphy's undisciplined temper. Or both. Anyway, when the rear door he was tampering with at 951 Diversey parkway resisted his efforts Mr. Murphy attacked it with blows and angry words. Finally the lock snapped and Mr. Murphy went in. Meanwhile, however, Miss Mathilda McKarrell, who lives there, had fled screaming to the street, where she found Policeman Frank Koeppe.

When the policeman entered the flat he found Mr. Murphy humming a little tune as he rifled the contents of Miss McKarrell's dresser. The prisoner, who is 39 years old and lives at 4929 Kenmore avenue, will be questioned today, when he may feel a little better.

FRANCE LIMITS DRINKING TO 4 HOURS A DAY

VICHY, France, Oct. 8.—France's new prohibition law was published today in the official journal. It reduces to four hours a day the periods during which it is lawful to drink either aperitifs or "digestifs," with Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays remaining as nonliquor days.

"Digestifs" generously come within the category of hard liquor or distilled beverages with a high alcohol content. Aperitifs cannot exceed 18 per cent alcohol. Absinthe and all aniseed essences are banned.

Advertising of alcoholic beverages is prohibited. Hitherto much billboard space has been devoted to aperitifs.

Saloons are limited to one for every 450 inhabitants.

Retreat to Ozarks

Traffic Policeman Howard Pierson, 32 years old, 10037 Perry avenue, found romance thru courtesy. Three months ago, astride his horse at State and Madison streets, the world's busiest corner, he halted traffic for Miss Isabella Edmark, 23, of 5543 Drexel boulevard, who was trapped when the signals changed while she was crossing the street. Yesterday the couple was married by Judge J. M. Braude in Women's court. Both said it was "love at first sight." The couple left for a honeymoon in the Ozarks.

How to Start the New Year in October by Dale Carnegie

This is the first of a new series of articles on successful living, written by Dale Carnegie, and published by the makers of the new Old Gold—the cigarette blend that has added something new—rare, flavorful Latakia tobacco.

October! In no other country does it arrive with the blaze of glory, the crisp, bracing air and sense of expectancy one gets here.

This is the true beginning of the new year. Now is the time for stalwart resolutions . . . a time to eliminate the dead leaves of the past and start afresh.

Those past mistakes, for instance. All of us could recall a dozen sorry failures to brood over. But what for? Do we cancel out those errors or correct them? Just the opposite. They clutter up the present like dead leaves. Let them fall!

And those fears and worries for the future. Think of the fears you harbored in the past. How many came true? None? Quite probably. Most fears live solely in imagination. Dead leaves . . . let them fall.

And finally, those personal grudges that you harbor. Are they doing you any good? Are they any harm to the person you resent? No indeed. They are damaging your own happiness, souring your outlook, raising your blood pressure. Dead leaves . . . let them fall.

Every day is a new beginning! And these October days remind us that we must put aside the past to start afresh. Fears, worries, failures, prejudices—they are the dead leaves we must cast off, if we are to live fully and happily in this new year.

OVER 4,000,000 PEOPLE who enjoy a pleasant smoke will this year change their brand of cigarettes. If you're among them, try a new Old Gold—an entirely different cigarette blend. See if it isn't one of those small discoveries you will appreciate more and more as the days roll by.

You see, to Old Gold's fragrant blend there has been added a bright seasoning touch of Latakia—flavorful tobacco from the Eastern Mediterranean. Latakia adds a fresh new flavor of its own. And ample supplies of Latakia, aging and mellowing in our American warehouses, assure you of this fine, new blend for years to come. Get new Old Golds today—in the same familiar package.

ENGLAND DRILLS BLITZ LESSONS INTO ITS TROOPS

Army Tries to Overcome Leisurely Ways.

BY GUY MURCHIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 8. — The British army's latest invasion defense test, involving several hundred thousand men and covering England's eastern and southern coasts, discloses that the lessons of France, Greece, and Russia at last are being drilled into the British soldier on an impressive scale.

It was the biggest war exercise in British military history and its results are being digested by the high command.

Among the lessons learned was that the greatest revolution which the British land forces have undergone since the arrow was replaced by the bullet cannot be digested overnight. Coördination and communication between faster moving mechanized units under battle conditions are so difficult, yet essential, that the very mobility of the new army may still be more of a liability than an asset to it.

New Tricks Come Slowly.

It is clear that the British army is not finding it easy to forget the leisurely ways of the outmoded static form of warfare or to shake its officers into the high gear and split second tempo of modern mechanized warfare.

On one hand, the exercise revealed numerous exhibitions of speed and efficiency. An infantry brigade infiltrated into an enemy tank "harbor" at night and, using the sticky bomb which adheres to steel, annihilated one-fifth of an armored division's several hundred tanks. Aggressive Canadians in armored cars captured a brigade headquarters that believed they were 100 miles away.

Officers Behave Leisurely.

On the other hand, a considerable percentage of the officers behaved leisurely in battle, as if they were standing off a winter's siege. Many appeared unable to keep track of the position of the units under their command.

In the early stage of the exercise I learned from high British staff officers how they anticipated that the invaders would attempt to solve their gasoline supply problem.

"The Germans would have to bring their fuel in tins, in order to make it readily usable," one officer explained. "Their vehicles would have to be spread out and, therefore, their fuel would have to be spread out. It would be both slow and dangerous for them to try to unload oil tankers on our coast or in our ports."

Two Hedges Are Saved.

I noted during the exercises that halted mechanized units were better camouflaged than formerly. However, the men carelessly lay close to the pavement, not realizing that "enemy" reconnaissance planes could see them.

Once while I was stalled I noticed a long column of tanks retracing its steps along the road it had passed two hours earlier. The colonel in command explained:

"A bridge was declared blown up by an umpire so I had to detour. I might have saved an hour, but two beautiful hedges were in the way. I couldn't trample them."

The first reports to reach the advanced British headquarters as to the close approach of the "enemy" were from planes. The next were from armored cars, but there was no word from fifth columnists who had been equipped with wireless sets.

Four hours after the first contact was made between the opposing land forces I found the captain of a tank unit on the edge of "no man's land" who had not yet heard of the fact.

All this took place within a mile of George Washington's birthplace.

PEACETIME 'ROT' OF LABOR BLAMED IN BRITISH 'MESS'

Bevin Tells How Nazis Capitalized on Skill.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ernest Bevin [top] and Megan Lloyd George.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Labor Minister Ernest Bevin spared no one today as he placed responsibility for Britain's present wartime manpower predicament in a house of commons debate.

"If anybody asked me who was responsible for the mess we are in today," he told the members, "I would say that all of us were—because we refused to face the facts in peacetime."

The present tug-of-war between the army and industry over Britain's available skilled labor, Bevin indicated, is not a problem that harasses Germany.

Didn't Let Labor "Rot."

"During the years of peace," Bevin said, "Germany did not allow its skilled labor to rot. As a result, in the great campaigns in Russia the German army now has thousands of skilled men in every division to do the repairs."

Megan Lloyd George, daughter of Britain's World war premier, David Lloyd George, suggested that there be an "interchange" of skilled men between the army and industry to relieve both "from the boredom and strain of waiting upon events—a strain which must tell on any army, however good it is."

Peacetime Crippling Cited.

Answering her, Bevin said he would like to see the nation trained both for fighting and for production, but that it was impossible for the war office, which had been almost completely scrapped in the years of peace, to improvise such a military machine in 25 months.

In closing he denied the government is failing to make the best use of the men and women it has available.

U. S. COURT WEIGHS SKIDMORE'S APPEAL OF INCOME TAX CASE

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday took under advisement the appeal to set aside the conviction of William R. Skidmore, alleged gambling fixer, who is under sentence of 2½ years for evasion of $353,194 in income taxes. There was no indication as to when an opinion would be given.

Oral arguments were made by William Scott Stewart, lawyer for Skidmore, attacking the conviction, and by J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, defending it.

The pleas were heard by Judge Evan A. Evans, presiding, and Judges Will M. Sparks and J. Earl Major, the same panel which by a 2 to 1 vote—Judge Evans dissenting—on Sept. 15 reversed the conviction of William R. Johnson and five co-defendants on income tax fraud charges.

Stewart attacked the Skidmore conviction on the ground that in testifying against Skidmore, Frank J. Clifford, an internal revenue agent, "acted as judge and jury" and that the government had tried Skidmore "for gambling," a point made in the Johnson appeal. Woll replied that the Skidmore verdict was ample for conviction and was not overbalanced by gambling evidence. Woll filed a formal petition yesterday for rehearing of the Johnson case.

16th Cemetery Lot Fraud Defendant Is Sentenced

John Bronstein, a cemetery lot salesman from New York City, was sentenced to a year and a day in a federal penitentiary yesterday by Judge William H. Holly in the federal District court. Bronstein pleaded guilty to a charge of participating in a scheme using the mails to defraud midwest investors of $300,000 thru the sale of cemetery lots. Fifteen other defendants in the same indictment were sentenced to penitentiary terms by Judge Holly two weeks ago.

There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!

When there's something wrong with you, the best rule is: try to get at the cause. If you are constipated, don't be satisfied to endure it first and "cure" it afterward. Find out what's giving you the trouble.

Chances are it's simple if you eat the super-refined foods most people do. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is your trouble, you should eat a natural "bulk" producing food—such a one as the crunchy, toasted, ready-to-eat cereal, Kellogg's All-Bran. Eat it often, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

Dec. 26th. You were born under the sign of Capricorn; your ruling planet is Saturn. Organization is important to you in all aspects of your life, and you have natural ability in that line. Your mental processes are deliberate but sure, and you are inclined to be conservative. You have persistence and patience, and take all responsibilities seriously. Because you are both ambitious and cautious, you must guard against a tendency to be domineering and headstrong.

Edith M. Truog, Chicago

Oct. 1st. Your sign of the Zodiac is Libra; your ruling planet is Venus. Without peace and harmony you can be exceedingly unhappy, because they are essential to you. You are a gracious and refined person, with a dislike for ugliness or injustice. You enjoy social activities, and are a generous and affable companion. You are quietly ambitious, and no one can impose on you. Guard against being overly particular about small matters.

Arthur J. Bird, Belle Plaine, Ia.

March 12th. Your ruling planet is Neptune; your sign of the Zodiac, Pisces. You are an idealistic and an artistic person, most sympathetic with others, but reserved and sometimes timid. Detail work interests you, and you are well-fitted for it. Never sparing yourself, you enter into things with sincere enthusiasm, but must guard against tendencies to be indecisive and impractical. Friday should be a good day for personal advancement.

Mrs. A. C. Frisbie, Oconto Falls, Wis.

April 22nd. Your sign of the Zodiac is Taurus; your planetary ruler, Venus. Your pleasant personality is one of your outstanding characteristics. Generosity and good humor are innate and you have strength and will power to a great degree. You are a practical person with a constructive point of view in most instances, but must be on guard against an inclination to be possessive. Friday should be a good day for you.

Jack Rubin, Chicago

Mar. 19th. You were born under the ruling star, Neptune; your sign of the Zodiac is Pisces. Do not let indecision make you hesitate, when, after thinking things over, you have planned your course. You may be inclined toward moodiness, though at all times you try to be fair. Sympathy and understanding are two of your finest traits. You have many advantageous changes to look forward to in the coming year.

Kathleen Kossack, McGregor, Ia.

Aug. 23rd. You were born under the sign of Virgo; your ruling planet is Mercury. You are possessed of excellent mental abilities if you use them properly. You are inclined to be contemplative and thoughtful, and are rather reserved by nature. Neatness and order are imperative to you, but you must not permit your own exacting standards to cause you to be overcritical of others, or to waste good time and energy on useless detail.

John Gaige, Chicago

Oct. 24th. You were born under the sign of Scorpio; your birth star is Mars. You are enthusiastic and quick to act, once you have made up your mind. 90 SLAIN AS NAZI FLAME THROWERS BATTLE SERBIANS

Germans Fight Way from Town to Town.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 8 (AP).—At least 90 persons have been killed in new mountain battles between a German army punitive expedition equipped with flame throwers and Serbian insurgent bands, dispatches from Belgrade reported tonight.

[A Berne, Switzerland, dispatch said the Moscow radio reported that serious disorders had broken out in Belgrade in the last 24 hours and that the government of Gen. Milan Neditch had been forced to leave for the north.]

The Germans were said to have met fierce resistance in some areas. Fighting from village to village, they were met at times by bands numbering as many as 500 men, it was stated.

One band was said to have attacked a village near the Morava river in the eastern part of Nazi occupied Serbia, in old Jugo-Slavia. After several hours of fighting, the insurgents were routed. The Belgrade newspaper Novo Vreme said 31 men were killed, 80 wounded, and 17 taken prisoner.

One Hungarian newspaper correspondent stated the Germans executed as many as 60 Serbs at a time.

Rebels Motorized.

Another report described battles at Sikola between communists and insurgents and the Serbian regular army. Twenty-seven communists were killed and four taken prisoner. The insurgents were reported to have had automobiles, trucks, motorcycles, bicycles, a radio station, and even typewriters.

A dispatch said many of the Serbs seized as communists were sons of political leaders.

At Javanika, which the guerillas held several days, the German flame throwers went into action before the town was cleared.

In a battle of several hours near Rovanik 24 rebels were reported killed.

The Germans were reported dropping leaflets and maps to deny rebel propaganda that the Russians had advanced to the Danube and would cross soon into Serbia.

Fourteen Czechs Hanged.

BERLIN, Oct. 8 (AP).—DNB, German official news agency, reported from Prague tonight that 14 Czechs were hanged today on charges of economic sabotage, raising the total of executions in the Bohemia-Moravia protectorate [part of former Czecho-Slovakia] to 25 in three days. The news agency said they had been court martialed at Prague and Brunn [Brno].

On the basis of a previous total of 126 known executions connected with German efforts to suppress rebellious elements in the protectorate, the number executed by hanging or firing squads has reached 140.

DNB reported from Belgrade, former Jugo-Slavia, that 32 persons had been executed "because they belonged to communistic bands." The executions took place at Jagodina and Cuprija, 60 miles south of Belgrade, the agency said.

STOLEN DENTAL CROWNS FOUND ON STREET CAR

Dr. S. A. Tiechner placed 10 gold crowns in a receptacle in his dental office, 3360 Montrose avenue, yesterday and turned his back. Roy Brown, 46 years old, colored, his porter, finished his work and left for the day. Dr. Tiechner looked into the receptacle and telephoned Detectives George Schupolski, Christ Hassis, and Ernest Mikell of the Albany Park police. Two minutes later they were pursuing an east bound street car off which they took Roy and found two of the crowns. The Negro, it seemed, had seen them and had left the other eight on the street car.

There were many cars rumbling past now and the detectives didn't know which one Roy had been on. Then they found a transfer in his pocket, obtained the car's number, and last night located it in the car barns at Elston avenue and Addison street. Their prisoner hunted about, found a small ball of paper, and handed it over. In the paper were the eight crowns.

U. S. FREES VIERECK ON BOND; CALLS HIM MENACE TO NATION

New York, Oct. 8 (AP).—George Sylvester Viereck, 56 year old journalist, described by the government as chief German propagandist in this country, was released in $15,000 bail today on an indictment charging him with failure to set forth material facts in his state department registration as an agent of a foreign government.

He said he would plead in Washington, D. C., Friday, where the five count sealed indictment was opened as soon as Viereck was taken into custody this morning.

"He is one of the most serious menaces in this country," William Power Maloney, special assistant to the attorney general, told United States Commissioner Isaac Platt, before whom Viereck was arraigned.

Viereck is a German born, naturalized American citizen. His activities often have been the center of controversy.

RADIO MYSTERY! CODE MESSAGES FLASHED ON AIR

Hubert Norman Price, night steel worker, was puzzled when a stranger hired him to sit afternoons in a room at 5516 Justine street and repeat into a radio transmitter such telephone messages as this: "Testing. Testing. Testing. Hold on. Five. Five. Five." Puzzled too was Edward C. Janz who lives at that address and from whom the stranger borrowed the room.

Even the federal communications commission agents who arrested Price were puzzled. So was Edwin K. Walker, United States commissioner, who held Price on a charge of operating a radio transmitter without a license yesterday.

One theory was that the messages told the results of horse races, and that the mysterious stranger bet on the winners before the bookies got the news. But that didn't make much sense, because they get the results fast. Price is 25. He lives at 2727 East 75th place.

ILLINOIS PILOT SURVIVES CRASH IN MOUNTAINS

La Veta, Colo., Oct. 8 [Special.]—Lloyd A. Laflin of Lake Forest, Ill., veteran sportsman pilot and a director of the Elgin Watch company, escaped death today when his pontoon equipped airplane crashed near La Veta Pass, 9,000 feet above sea level. The ship was destroyed, wreckage being scattered for 300 yards, but Laflin's only injury was a cut on the face.

Lloyd A. Laflin. [AP Wirephoto.]

The accident occurred 2 miles from the summit of the mountain and 1½ miles from the nearest road. Laflin walked to the road and was taken to Walsenburg, Colo., by a passing motorist. Laflin said he encountered down drafts that swept him perilously close to the canyon floor. He attempted a turn to get away from the pass, but struck the ground.

Laflin was flying from Portland, Me., to San Diego, Cal., to prove that a pontoon equipped plane could make this cross-country trip. The ship was a Fairchild cabin monoplane with a 175 horse power Ranger engine.

EUROPE'S LAUGH: HOW THE BRITISH 'ROLL' UNCLE SAM

Lend-Lease Goods Sale Called "Immoral."

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Oct. 8.—The Roosevelt administration's discomfiture over the discovery that the British were taking advantage of the United States "lend-lease" act to promote British export trade has caused much amused comment in diplomatic circles since the story became generally known in Europe.

Uncle Sam has become the butt of jokes as the gullible victim, easily "rolled" by his British cousin.

Doubt is expressed that belated protests made to the London government will be effective and the belief is stated that the English will continue to carry on a profitable business at American expense.

Vichy Paper Cites Ingratitude.

Under the heading "How England Does Business, Thanks to the Lease and Lend Law," the newspaper Progress de l'Allier, published in Vichy, says today:

"Despite the war and all the misery that it engenders, the merchants of London remain unshakeably attached to the notion of profit. They know neither country nor allies. The gentlemen of London, instead of manifesting some sentiment of gratitude towards the United States, have set out to compete with the United States for overseas markets by actually underselling American exporters with the very merchandise which the Washington government ceded to England at cost.

"American exporters in South America, for instance, have run up against their own goods sold below cost price by the self-styled democratic brothers of the United Kingdom. The reaction was lively.

Call It "Immoral Traffic."

"Business circles in America insisted that Washington should exact from his majesty's government an engagement over the disposition of products leased or loaned. By the terms of this engagement the products sent to England under the lease and lend deal must not enter into competition on the world market with the products which American industry exports to the same market.

"It is difficult to know if the British government has really decided to stop this immoral traffic after having favored it for so long. According to the latest news it does not appear certain. Nothing precise to prevent such a practice has been set up and there is no doubt but that the profitable business will go on.

"The English merchants are putting one over in this way at the same time they subsidize a propaganda service which pictures them as disinterested paladins in a democratic crusade to deliver Europe from barbarism. These broadfaced lies do not receive any more. Europe has no need of the services of this cohort of harmful speculators."

SCAFFOLDING KILLS LABORER.

East Moline, Ill., Oct. 8 [Special].—Frank K. Holke, Rock Island laborer, was killed yesterday when he was struck on the head by scaffolding being used in construction of a new building at the John Deere Harvester works. The structure was torn loose by the wind and fell to the ground.

NAZIS PUBLISH TEXT OF F. D. R. NOTE TO STALIN

It Differs Slightly from White House Version.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—Two texts of the letter President Roosevelt sent Josef Stalin, premier of Russia, introducing W. Averell Harriman, head of the mission to Moscow which is offering American aid to the soviets, were available in the capital tonight.

The first was released thru the German news bureau [DNB] at Berlin, evidently as a Nazi boast that its espionage system extends even into the Kremlin or possibly the White House.

The second version was released by the White House for the purpose of comparison. The White House charged that the German version was issued for propaganda purposes.

Differ in Some Details.

The versions were almost identical except for the salutations and complimentary endings. In the German version Mr. Roosevelt addressed Stalin as "My dear friend Stalin." In the White House version the salutation address was given as "My dear Mr. Stalin."

In the German version the letter ended with "In cordial friendship—Franklin D. Roosevelt." In the White house version the closing phrase was given as "Yours very sincerely—Franklin D. Roosevelt."

There were slight variations in the body of the letter, but these were attributed to translation. It is possible that German agents secured a Russian version of the letter and translated it into German and then into English or that the English version was translated into German and then back into English.

White House Text.

The body of the letter, as released by the White House, follows:

"This note will be presented to you by my friend Averell Harriman, whom I have asked to be head of our delegation to Moscow.

"Mr. Harriman is well aware of the strategic importance of your front and will, I know, do everything that he can to bring the negotiations in Moscow to a successful conclusion.

"Harry Hopkins has told me in great detail of his encouraging and satisfactory visits with you. I can't tell you how thrilled all of us are because of the gallant defense of the soviet armies.

"I am confident that ways will be found to provide the material and supplies necessary to fight Hitler on all fronts, including your own.

"I want particularly to take this occasion to express my great confidence that your armies will ultimately prevail over Hitler and to assure you of our great determination to be of every possible material assistance."

"Lost" Girl Gains Strength

HOUSING OFFICER LAUDS PROGRAM AT SENATE QUIZ

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8 (AP).—Defending the construction of dormitories for migratory workers, Charles F. Palmer, defense housing coördinator, told a senate inquiry committee today that this country had done the "greatest job of public housing ever done in any country" in the last year.

The witness, appearing to answer charges made by John Carmody, Federal Works administrator, that Palmer had insisted on the construction of dormitories which now were only half occupied, laid the blame for this situation at Carmody's door.

Palmer told the committee, headed by Sen. Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.], that the failure of the FWA to equip dormitories constructed for single men had caused a lag in rentals. He testified, however, that an anticipated increase in aircraft factory employment in San Diego, Cal., soon would fill a 750 unit dormitory there which Carmody had said was largely vacant.

Rules Out Kidnaping

Conway, N. H., Oct. 8 (AP).—As Pamela Hollingworth, 5 years old gained strength in a hospital today after her ordeal of being lost in a forest for eight days, County Solicitor Burnham Davis ruled out any possibility that she had been kidnaped.

So incredulous were many persons—including some veteran woodsmen—at the child's stamina that they expressed belief that she had been abducted, held in a cabin or some such place and then released on a mountain trail.

Medical men who examined the girl shortly after she was found by a searching party late Monday, said her condition was consistent with having been outdoors for the entire period. She lost eight pounds from lack of food, and her toes were frostbitten when the temperature dropped to the low 20's.

FOUND DEAD IN ROOM.

Arthur Carter, 42 years old, a railroad worker, was found dead yesterday in his room at 1 West Walton street. Chicago avenue police said Carter apparently had died of an accidental overdose of sleeping powders.

Economical Operation of UNDERFEED STOKERS

with FUEL SATISFACTION

Pocahontas coal combines in balanced proportion all the chemical elements necessary for complete combustion and maximum utilization of high heating units. This chemical composition distinguishes Pocahontas coal from average coal, and establishes it as a most efficient and economical fuel for stokers.

Its long-burning qualities effect an appreciable reduction in stoker running time, and a saving in cost of operation. Its low ash content reduces to a minimum the time and expense incurred in fire cleaning and refuse disposal. Low in sulphur, Pocahontas coal also burns without releasing objectionable gases.

Use genuine Pocahontas dustless coal the year 'round and realize a higher return on your stoker investment. A representative of the railway's Chicago Coal Bureau will be glad to explain its advantages to you, and assist in the solution of any fuel problem. Call or write:

Luxurious textures—the richer the better for the sake of fashion. Clean-as-a-bone designs, the sounder the better—for anything of lasting beauty will be precious, indeed, if sterner rations come. Carson's tweed credo is rich weaves, textures, colors with lasting economy in line. Linton's illusion plaids in smoky colors and John Barr famous knotty weaves mingle admirably with the fine American tweeds we've collected. Wear them through a busy day wherever you are. F. D. R. WAR AIMS ALL OVER WORLD SHOCK CONGRESS

Members Staggered by Scope of Program.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson as increasingly a "danger spot."

7. That about 500 million dollars' worth of weapons will be furnished the Dutch East Indies. The Dutch are able to pay cash.

8. That funds are being furnished to build arsenals in China.

9. That Britain has holdings of 3½ billions in Latin America, 2 billions in Canada, and an undisclosed amount still uncommitted in this country. The administration contends that these amounts should not be used as part payment for aid to Britain.

10. That 15 or 20 per cent of American factory capacity is devoted to war production, and that plans call for this to rise to 50 per cent by 1943.

Nothing Coming Back.

One fact stood out in all the voluminous testimony taken by the subcommittee—that the United States is not likely to get anything in return for the billions of dollars' worth of supplies it ostensibly is lending or leasing to Britain and other anti-axis nations.

The appropriations committee, in submitting its approval of the new bill to the house, insisted that this additional fund is imperatively necessary. Munitions superiority, the committee report said, must be achieved to insure defeat of the axis.

The printed record of testimony before the committee of high ranking army and navy officers was replete with deletions of their evidence whenever they were asked about the quantity of war supplies being produced in this country and sent to Great Britain. The war and navy departments were permitted to censor the transcript before it was given to the public.

Arms Bungling Under Fire.

Thus, whenever a general or admiral was asked about the rate of production of guns or ammunition, the record carried the legend: "Answer off the record."

That these answers showed a disappointingly low record of production thus far is well known in official circles. The censorship, according to reliable report, was intended to conceal slowness of production rather than statistics which could be of use to the "enemy."

Rep. John Taber [R., N. Y.] sharply assailed President Roosevelt in the house debate for failing to speed up production of armaments.

"The President has tolerated strikes against national defense," he declared, "in our shipyards, in our steel plants, and in other plants and mines producing strategic materials, and in our maritime facilities.

"We evidently figure we can win this war simply by appropriations. Of the 7 billions that was appropriated on March 27, less than 4 billion has been allocated and less than one-half billion has been spent. Pray God that before it is too late, the President will come to realize his responsibilities and meet them!"

The disclosures concerning the British sale of food, shipped free to them by the United States, shocked many congressmen. The published hearings revealed this procedure. Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard was before the committee when Rep. George W. Johnson [D., Va.] elicited from him this confession concerning British methods.

Some Goes to Hospitals.

"Generally speaking, in this food situation," remarked Johnson, "they are selling it to civilians and putting the money into their pockets."

A portion of the foodstuffs from America, Wickard replied, was distributed by the British to hospitals and to the poor. He professed assurance that the proceeds of the sales of food would be considered by the British government as an "obligation" to the United States.

Wickard said this country will send 500 million dozen eggs and 5 million pounds of milk to the British in the future, in addition to vast supplies of other food, costing a billion dollars in all.

The new fund was divided into 10 categories, as President Roosevelt recommended on Sept. 18. An appropriation for agricultural and industrial commodities costing 1 billion 875 million dollars was recommended. Guns and munitions costing 1 billion 190 million are to be provided. Aircraft requirements for Britain, Russia, etc., are to cost 685 millions. A fund of 175 million dollars for repairing British ships was included in the bill.

Plea for Aid to Reds.

On the Russian aid question, the report asserted:

"Nothing would be more discouraging to the morale of the Russian government and the Russian people in their heroic and surprising resistance to axis conquest than to hear that the President of the United States was precluded from rendering aid to them, should he find it possible and expedient to do so with these funds."

The administration took note of reports that Great Britain is using lease-lend materials for export. Maj. Gen. James H. Burns, executive officer of the division of defense air reports, assured the committee that such materials would be used only "within the empire and only for needs essential to the war effort."

"We are not satisfied with the relatively small trickle of aid in the form of fighting materials which is flowing to countries at war," added Burns.

Admits Aid Is Slow.

Edward R. Stettinius Jr., newly appointed lease-lend administrator, admitted that aid from the first 7 billion dollar appropriation had been slow in getting started, but insisted that it will grow steadily larger and larger.

"It must be supplemented in some instances," he asserted, "and we must begin to plan for the time when aid under the first appropriation bill will begin to go down hill. This appropriation will permit us to get on with the job of producing tools for victory."

That the administration regards the far eastern situation as dangerous was indicated in the disclosure that a half billion dollars worth of war supplies will be granted the Dutch East Indies [for cash] and that the war department has put the American garrison in the Philippines at the head of its equipment priorities list.

Tells Ship Building Plans.

Chairman Emory S. Land of the maritime commission gave the subcommittee details concerning American plans for building 12 to 14 million tons of shipping in 1942-'43 for lease-lend cargoes.

Adm. Land estimated that 135 vessels will be required for the Red Sea and near east service and 185 ships for the North Atlantic run.

In reference to China, Adm. Land said that about 80 sailings would be required for lease-lend shipments to that republic between now and next May 31, at a cost of about $300,000 each. Those sailings will be from New York to Rangoon, Burma, he said.

About 4 million dollars will be furnished to China for the building of small manufacturing arsenals and maintenance shops, testimony at the hearings disclosed. The arsenals will produce certain munitions and the shops will maintain motorized equipment furnished by the United States.

Repeatedly thruout the hearings appeared criticisms by committee members of strikes against the arms program.

"It is a damned outrage," declared Rep. Joe Starnes [D., Ala.] on one occasion, "that we have not received more benefits from this program."

In addition to the 5 billion 985 million dollars for lease-lend materials, the bill carries $174,416,229 for so-called deficiency items—consisting mainly of $120,996,000 for naval ordnance. The committee turned down an administration request for 40 million dollars for additional TVA power construction.

The house will continue general debate on the bill tomorrow and on Friday will consider amendments, chief of which will be the one forbidding aid to Russia. Passage is scheduled for Friday night.

Odds and Ends of Arms Hearing

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8 [Special].—Introduction of the proposed additional 6 million dollar lease-lend measure in the house today revealed that much of the information obtained in lengthy hearings conducted by a house appropriations subcommittee had little relation to the purpose of the bill. Some of the widely diversified subjects reported on follow:

* *

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard told the subcommittee that the 49 cent per bushel penalty for marketing wheat in excess of quotas probably will be continued thru the next crop year.

◆

The Coast Guard was reported by Rear Adm. R. R. Waesche, commandant, to be intensifying its ice-breaking operations on the Great Lakes to assure a maximum of navigation for the rearmament program. He urged the committee to approve expenditures of $119,270 for rental of ice breaking vessels to keep navigation open this fall and next spring.

◆

Rep. Albert Thomas [D., Tex.], a member of the committee, argued with Secretary Wickard about the percentages of beef and pork to be sent the British under the lease-lend act. Thomas, who comes from the cattle country, complained that cattlemen would share little in the export trade, while hog raisers of the middle west, of which Wickard is a native, would reap most of the profits if the present plan of sending mostly pork to Britain is carried out.

◆

The soy bean is constantly becoming more important, the subcommittee was told by Dr. Henry G. Knight, chief of the bureau of agricultural chemistry and engineering. He said it is equivalent to casein—now needed for Britain's cheese—in production of coatings, plywoods, plastics, and kindred materials.

◆

The bureau of animal industry is planning a drive to halt the spread of swine erysipelas in the corn belt. To fight the disease, which resembles hog cholera, hogs will be vaccinated on a coöperative federal-state basis.

◆

The Commodity Exchange administration proposes to police butter futures contracts to prevent excessive speculation, the exchange's administrator, J. M. Mehl, told the subcommittee, explaining at the same time that a survey had shown that speculation was not the force pushing up futures prices.

◆

Discovery of tungsten in an antimony mine in central Idaho was reported to the subcommittee by Dr. W. C. Mendenhall, director of the geological survey.

◆

C. B. Baldwin, administrator of the Farm Security administration, urged that the subcommittee ask congress to transfer $1,500,000 that had been appropriated to the interior department to the agriculture department for development of 14 irrigation projects in nine western states.

Upon the urgings of Reclamation Commissioner John C. Page during the hearings, the appropriations committee recommended that $7,825,000 be given the reclamation bureau to increase power output at Grand Coulee dam in Washington, Boulder dam, and the Minidoka project in Idaho, but rejected a request for 3 million dollars for construction of power lines for the Central Valley project in California.

BRITAIN TOLD IT WILL GET 25% OF FOOD FROM U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Britain was told today that soon it would obtain one-fourth of its food supplies from the United States. Declaring that only because America "is standing behind us and is going to develop the volume of its aid to us," is it possible "to say encouraging things . . . about the food outlook," Food Minister Lord Woolton told the house of lords that "the [food] program on which we are now working shows we will require 25 per cent of our, total needs from the United States."

Altho he said the position as regards bulky, storable foods is good, he warned that the country's supplies of meat, bacon, milk, cheese, and dried fruits are "at a dangerously low level." He said he had explained to the United States the need for these items in order to balance the British diet, and that these foodstuffs were being supplied by America. He explained the bulky, storable foods were wheat, sugar, and oils, calling these "our lines against starvation."

He promised that in a few weeks the food ministry would widely distribute canned meat, but warned that he finds difficulty in maintaining the meat ration, which is about one pound for each person weekly.

Two Chicago Policemen Dismissed from Force

Policeman William Quigley of the central station was dismissed from the force by the police trial board yesterday for being absent from duty without permission. Policeman Edward Ruddy of the New City station was discharged for being intoxicated while on duty. Sergt. John Lynch and Patrolmen Cornelius Collins and Thomas Carey of the Racine avenue station were reinstated after 30 days' suspension. They had been charged with failure to make a station complaint.

EDUCATORS ASK THAT NYA, CCC BE DISBANDED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8 (AP).—The Educational Policies commission today asked that the National Youth administration and the Civilian Conservation corps be discontinued after they have completed their defense training programs.

The commission, policy-making body of the National Education association and American Association of School Administrators, declared in a statement that the agencies had performed "a notable public service in meeting the urgent demands of an emergency situation," but added:

"It does not follow that because an agency does a good job on a temporary emergency assignment, it should therefore become a permanent part of the governmental structure and of the educational system."

OFFICIAL OF OPM SAYS IT MAY BE A TEN YEAR WAR

Warns Restaurant Men of Sacrifices Ahead.

The National Restaurant association in convention here was brought up to date yesterday on the war. There was nothing said about the possibility of this country getting into it. The speaker took it for granted that the United States is at war and went on from there.

It may be a 10 year war and it is certain that whether it is long or short the American people must make increasing sacrifices, the restaurateurs were told by Robert E. Guthrie, assistant director of purchases of the Office of Production Management. He addressed them at 666 Lake Shore drive.

States Two Alternatives.

"Despite the enormous advantage Hitler has had from the start, there is no question that in the long run the vast resources of the United States and the British empire can defeat him," Guthrie declared. "Our one great problem is to convert our latent advantage into immediate military superiority. We can try to do this in either of two ways.

"We can plan for a long, long war—10 years or more. We shall have to deprive ourselves of various comforts and luxuries and submit to a progressive lowering of our living standard.

"We shall have to reëstablish our entire economy and social system on a military basis, carry a steadily rising debt, and slowly but surely apply the inexorable mathematics of our basic superiority to choke the Nazi system into final collapse."

"We Want a Short War."

Guthrie added that the alternative, a short war of two or three years, would involve a prodigious struggle, a sharp lowering of living standards, and grave sacrifices. We want a short war, he said, and gave his listeners an idea of what the nation may expect in spending:

"Our defense program at this moment involves the spending of around one and a quarter billion dollars a month on our military program. The rate is going up; before long it will be doubled, and I suspect that it will continue to go up after that.

"This then is a struggle for survival. This is a showdown for our democratic free enterprise system. If Hitler wins the struggle, our system is out. But if we win it—if we make good our determination that Nazi force is not going to reshape the world, then we can look forward to a bright future."

The restaurant men's convention opened Monday and will close tomorrow. The 23d annual banquet was held last night at the Palmer House.

JEF DENYN DIES; FAMOUS BELGIAN CARILLON PLAYER

Jef Denyn, internationally known carillon player, died at Malines, Belgium, on Oct. 1, according to word received in Chicago yesterday. He was 79 years old. A delayed dispatch from Malines said he died of injuries suffered in a fall while strolling.

Born at Malines in 1862, he became carilloneur of St. Rambout cathedral, Cardinal Mercier's church, in 1881. He devoted his life to a study of bells, and was responsible for most of the improvements which have contributed to the development of the modern carillon. When Denyn celebrated his 50th anniversary at Malines in 1931, the king and queen of Belgium proclaimed a national holiday, and attended his carillon recital. He was the founder of the carillon school in Malines, the only center of carillon study in the world.

Denyn's last pupil, in 1936, was Frederick Marriott, present carilloneur of Rockefeller Memorial chapel at the University of Chicago.

Marion Kyle, Lafayette Escadrille Flyer, Dies

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 8 [Special].—Marion Kyle, 46 years old, former member of the famous Lafayette Escadrille flying squadron in the World war, died here today of injuries incurred in an automobile accident in San Mateo on Aug. 22. The former flyer was born in Cincinnati, O. In 1913 he joined the ambulance drivers in France, and later transferred to the Lafayette Escadrille. Still later he became a member of the American Expeditionary Force, and returned to complete his education at Stanford university after the armistice.

Father of Rudolf Hess Dies at Bavarian Home

New York, Oct. 8 [Special].—The German radio today broadcast an announcement of the death of Fritz Hess, father of Rudolf Hess, Adolf Hitler's deputy Fuehrer, whose flight to Scotland by plane last May still is unexplained. The broadcast said the Duetsche Allgemeine Zeitung reported that the elder Hess, who was 77 years old, died last Thursday at his home in the Bavarian Alps after a short illness.

WAR ISSUES WILL BE AIRED TODAY BY METHODISTS

Debate on a resolution condemning what is termed President Roosevelt's "step by step" edging of the United States into a shooting war, will begin at 2 p. m. today on the floor of the 102d annual Rock River [northern Illinois] conference which formally opened sessions yesterday in the Wilmette parish Methodist church.

The resolution will be read by the Rev. Dr. Ernest F. Tittle of the First Methodist church, Evanston, chairman of the commission on world peace. It incorporates almost word for word the unanimously adopted resolution condemning the President's circumvention of congress on the war issue by the Upper Iowa conference of the Methodist church, and recalls the President's preëlection promises to try to keep the nation out of war.

"We deplore administrative actions that, step by step, are involving us in a shooting war, tho undeclared, without giving the national congress a chance to exercise its constitutional rights in this matter and without regard for the predominant sentiment of the nation," the resolution states. "We respectfully remind the President of his emphatic and repeated promise not to send our boys overseas."

SYNOPSIS.

Gay Ripley, young American girl sent to Paris by a New York firm to buy antiques, runs into her Cousin Lou, who is Mrs. Hiram Renfrew, a rich widow. Cousin Lou insists Gay stay with her but soon after Gay moves in, Cousin Lou is taken to a hospital, ill, and Gay is left in the apartment with her cousin's brother-in-law, Horace, and the servants, Manx and Hortense. Gay visits the hospital and meets Miles Dorsey, a young lawyer in the firm that looks after her cousin's business, Raoul de Chabenil, whom she afterwards learns is an unscrupulous gigolo, and Estrella, a dressmaker. Her cousin insists Gay take her jewel box, containing a valuable antique necklace, home and put it in the wall safe. Manx is waiting outside the hospital to drive Gay home but Raoul insists on taking her. Gay has dinner that night with Miles Dorsey and Catherine and Geoff Macadam. It is the Macadam firm Miles works for. They see Raoul and Estrella together at a nearby table. When Gay arrives home she learns that her cousin has died and though the doctor says it was of a stroke, Horace demands an inquest. Gay overhears some one in her room after she retires and the next morning the jewel box with the necklace has disappeared. The police are called in, and the next night Gay again hears some one in her room and she is overpowered by ether. When she awakes the jewel box and necklace have been returned. The inquest shows that Gay's cousin died of an overdose of a powerful drug that could have been put in her soup by any one of her visitors at the hospital. By the will of Cousin Lou's dead husband, all his property, upon his wife's death [if she did not remarry], was to go to Horace with small cash sums going to Gay and her family, to Manx and to Hortense. Knowing the police suspect her, Gay decides to do some sleuthing on her own. She visits Estrella, on the pretense of having a gown made, and hiding in a hall closet she learns that Estrella's brother, Doctor Borosh, sells drugs illicitly and that Estrella and Raoul are lovers. She also overhears Alixe, Mrs. Renfrew's discharged maid, sell a letter to Estrella. She confides in Catherine Macadam what she has overheard.

INSTALMENT XXVIII.

A WARNING.

All Catherine did was fling a cushion at my head. I dodged it and said:

"Catherine . . . I suppose Horace's finances are all right? No sudden collapse, or—"

"O, Lord, what next? Geoff knows everything there is to know about Horace's finances. You needn't lose any sleep on them. I suppose you're thinking of the fact that Horace never spends a red cent except on himself, drives a car you and I'd hate to be seen in? Well, that's Horace. Everybody'll tell you he's the meanest man in Paris."

"Thanks. I just thought I'd make sure."

• • • • •

Were the necklace and the murder two entirely unrelated affairs? There must, I felt, be some point of contact, but when I tried to pin it down off it wriggled like a greased eel. All I could say for certain was that the person who attacked me on Wednesday night couldn't have been:

[a] Hortense. [Too fat to squeeze under the bed.]

[b] Manx. [Locked out of the room.]

This left me with a mere quartet of suspects, at least where the necklace was concerned.

"Quite simple, in fact. Just Raoul de Chabenil, Alixe, and the two Hungarians. And may the lot of them go to hell!"

I was worn out with theorizing, but I was less happy about my next meeting with the butler than I'd let Catherine suspect. It seemed funny to be looking to Horace for protection, yet when I stepped into an utterly soundless apartment and didn't see his pearl-gray Trilby on the console where he usually dropped it my heart sank into my boots.

Cousin Lou's writing table had a brand new blotter on it. The sheet marked by the cable I'd scribbled had been torn off and removed. By the police?

Vaguely uneasy, I looked around. Then I noticed the one object of Cousin Lou's I'd neglected to put away—a small silver-gilt box that had pink cleansing tissues in it. As I picked it up it rattled. I opened the box and uncovered what lay at the bottom—a rosary, and an exquisite one, too, carved ivory beads linked with hand-wrought gold.

It was an antique, fit for a museum.

Fingering the delicate old cross at the end I suddenly thought of the English woman outside the Aurore and what she had so cattishly said about finding Marise Renfrew on her knees in the Church of Saint Germain de l'Auxerrois . . . •

Cousin Lou! Born a Methodist—tho long ago, purely for social reasons, I imagined, she'd embraced the Episcopalian form of worship. I'd have said she'd no more real religion in her than you could put on your thumbnail. She wasn't that kind. Of course, Horace might have given her this rosary, simply for its beauty as an objet d'art. And I could quite see Cousin Lou putting up a little show with the thing if the notion took her and she had on the right gown. . . . .

Manx spoke thru the closed door. "Are you there, Miss? Dinner is served."

Lord! And Horace wasn't here!

In the candle lit dining room just the one place was laid. Manx pulled out my chair, saying as he quietly uncovered my mushroom soup:

"I rather fancy, Miss, that Mr. Renfrew is being detained down at the Palace."

"The Palace?"

"The Palace of Justice, Miss. Where they conduct criminal inquiries."

"O, I see!"

It wasn't only that I didn't feel like eating all alone under the eye of a man who in my hearing had knocked down the cook. The dinner itself was abominably spoiled — fish watery, poussin burnt to a crisp. For a dreadful moment I wondered if Manx had cooked it; but then, as the pantry door swung, I heard Hortense snapping a word or two and even got a glimpse of a red face I knew to be hers. No, the woman was by no means incapacitated, merely in a vile temper.

Manx brought the coffee into the study, gave a dry cough, and apologized for the culinary mishap. It seemed that both he and Hortense had been marshaled along down to the Palace of Justice and held there till extremely late.

"All this here questioning, Miss. And more to come, tomorrow morning. It would appear that Hortense is a little upset."

A typical understatement—hinting, I felt, at some drastic situation. Manx also was not himself. He bungled two matches as he lit my cigaret.

"Yes, it's most unpleasant for all of us," I murmured, hoping he would go; but he did nothing of the kind.

First, he deposited the burnt matches in the dead center of a little Battersea enamel dish. Next, he crossed, stiff legged, to the off-pink velour curtains and hitched them together to exclude an inch of night sky. Last, after pushing the hall door open and listening, he closed it, only to plant himself directly between it and my chair.

He'd got me cornered. His burnt cinder eye was holding me to my seat.

"Manx," I mouthed huskily, "is anything wrong?"

Another cough. He made measured reply:

"Not yet, miss. At least, I sincerely trust not; but—well, forewarned is forearmed, as the saying goes. That's why I'm taking the liberty of a private word with you now, miss. Now, while there's time."

With a voice that stuck I asked, "What on earth do you mean?"

Manx sucked in his breath and gazed hard at the book shelves just over my head.

"It's what you may be led into, unthinking like," he replied slowly. "A matter of not knowing the ways of a foreign country, miss—tho you do seem to have picked up the lingo, if I may be so bold. These 'ere Frenchies are cunning. The police, well, they put words into your mouth, things there's no taking back, if you take my meaning. You won't go letting them put words into your mouth, by any chance?"

Some definite menace underlay this question. Manx was watching me now, as on several occasions I'd seen him watching Hortense. As, oddly enough, he'd watched Cousin Lou. . . .

"In my mouth!" I laughed scornfully. "So my turn comes next, does it?"

"Tomorrow morning, miss. Down at that there Island. It's as well to be prepared. Very nasty they was this afternoon at finding you gone out. My idea is you didn't do yourself any good by all this gadding about town—beg pardon, miss!" Manx hastily reverted to the correct speech I'd always found hypocritical. "I should say, you being so active cast some doubt on the bonafideness of that attack."

"O? That won't worry me, Manx. In any case I can only repeat the very little I told them before. Thanks for the warning. Was that all?"

He moved a step closer. "Not quite, miss. And I hope as how you won't misunderstand what I'm going to say now. Many's the time I've done the same for my lady when to my mind she seemed to be heading for trouble. I don't know if you realize how none of us can stick his nose into the street without having a detective trailing behind. I dare say you meant no harm calling on the person in the Roo de Sayvres, but the fact remains she was with my lady at a bad moment as you may say. What if it so happened a wrong reason was put to your seeing her?"

I gasped. Was Manx likely to have learned of my movements from a police inspector? Not much. When I demanded how he knew where I'd been he slurred over his reply, laying heavy stress on the strict watch kept on all outlandish refugees.

"And rightly, I'd say, of this little lot."

The truth darted thru my mind. The watcher I'd dodged in the Bon Marche, who later planted himself outside Estrella's windows, had been Manx himself!

Nearer he edged. There was now a bare 18 inches between him and my chair.

"I expect," he said covertly, "you've heard which of us benefits by a certain event?"

Not any use denying my knowledge. "O, yes! Needless to say it's all news to me."

"Quite so, miss; but proving it was news will be another question. Am I right?"

It was an insolent challenge. The best defense is attack.

NEW DEAL FORMS A SUPER-SUPER CENSOR BUREAU

McLeish Heads Office of 'Facts and Figures.'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—The New Deal has quietly slipped another cog into its powerful propaganda machine, it was learned today. It is a new agency to be known as the Office of Facts and Figures which supposedly will devote its time to studying and correlating material put out by the various press bureaus of government departments.

It will issue no releases of its own. However, under the guise of preventing the different press bureaus from distributing "contradictory information," it will have complete power to kill or revise all news releases.

Thus, in effect, the OFF has been superimposed on all the other New Deal propaganda machinery, which, administration opponents charge, is fast developing itself into a ministry of information in the accepted pattern of European dictatorship nations.

Headed by MacLeish.

The new agency will be administered by Archibald MacLeish, librarian of congress, who will be directly responsible to Fiorello La Guardia, director of the Office of Civilian Defense. As OFF administrator, MacLeish will be chairman of an interdepartmental advisory committee to be composed of representatives of departments of state, war, navy, treasury, justice, and interior, as well as officials of the Office of Emergency Management, the Office of Government Reports, and the Office of Coordinator of Information.

Thru regular meetings of this group, the OFF will have its finger constantly on the administration's pulse. It will know what news can safely be dished out to the American public and what news must be withheld. According to reports, one of MacLeish's chief jobs will be to keep differences of opinion among department heads out of print, thereby preventing the nation from securing any hint of confusion in administration ranks.

Poet and Interventionist.

MacLeish, a New England poet before he became a Roosevelt satellite and won the appointment as librarian of congress, has been accused of advocating the formation of a government propaganda bureau in this country similar to those maintained by the totalitarian governments. He has also written numerous articles urging United States intervention in the European war.

Working with MacLeish in the new agency, it was learned, will be Lowell Mellett, a former editor, who is head of the Office of Government Reports and often mentioned as the logical choice for the job of censor and press czar should the United States be drawn into the war, and Col. William J. Donovan, head of the Office of Coördinator of Information.

A Trio of Bureaus.

These three, with their bureaus, the OFF, the OGR, and the OCI, now form the President's personal propaganda triumvirate.

The Office of Government Reports was set up ostensibly to keep Mr. Roosevelt informed of news developments thruout the country and to act as a clearing house thru which citizens may transmit complaints and receive information concerning their government.

Actually it has the power to suppress or color much government news at the source. How much of this is being done, no one knows outside those in the administration's inner circles.

When Donovan's bureau, the OCI, was formed it was described as a new kind of brain trust which would protect President Roosevelt and his aids from false information reaching this country from foreign sources.

Donovan Also Broadcasts.

It was with considerable surprise, therefore, that the capital learned recently that the Coördinator of Information has embarked on a propaganda campaign of his own directed at European countries. It was learned, the United States is broadcasting "news" to Europe night and day over short wave radio transmitters. Donovan, it was also learned, is planning additional broadcasts from Britain and Iceland.

Even if it is a "through" street—I make sure the road is clear before crossing an intersection. It promotes SAFETY for everyone

Strict adherence to this common-sense viewpoint is demanded of every man who drives a

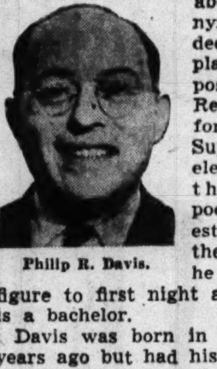
Judicial Candidates

[This is another in a series of sketches of the nominees for the Cook county judicial election of Nov. 4. They are being published in the order in which the candidates' names will appear on the ballot.]

BY PERCY WOOD.

REPUBLICAN.



Philip R. Davis.

Philip R. Davis, an attorney whose verse appears occasionally in newspaper columns above the pseudonym of "Philardee," has been placed in fourth position on the Republican ticket for the Nov. 4 Superior court election. Besides the law and poetry, his interests branch into the theater and he is a familiar figure to first night audiences. He is a bachelor.

Davis was born in Milwaukee 46 years ago but had his junior education here and took a bacelor's degree at the University of Chicago in 1913. Three years later he finished his legal course at Northwestern university, later taking a postgraduate course at John Marshall law school. He entered practice in 1919.

Enlisting as an infantry private in the World war, Davis rose to first lieutenant. From 1920 to 1921 he was attorney for the American Legion, Department of Illinois. In 1923 he ran unsuccessfully for alderman of the 36th ward, his most ambitious political attempt until the present campaign. He has frequently served on committees of the Chicago Bar association, and has represented the association in prosecutions of lawyers for unauthorized practice.

DEMOCRATIC.

Judge Schwaba.

Judge Peter H. Schwaba, Democrat, fourth on the Democratic Superior court slate for the Nov. 4 election, has been a member of that bench since 1929, being elevated after seven years in the Municipal court. He was the youngest city judge when he was elected in 1922, being 35. He now is 54.

Born in Stevens Point, Wis., Judge Schwaba attended grammar school and business college there, then came to Chicago for his law, which he obtained in the law department of Lake Forest university, graduating in 1913.

Prior to his election to the Municipal court in 1922, Judge Schwaba was attorney for the state board of health for two years, followed by one year as counsel for the industrial board. His election to the city bench was to fill a vacancy which expired in 1924. In 1926 he was again elected for a full six year term, serving until his election to the Superior court three years later.

In 1932 Judge Schwaba was talked of for the Democratic nomination for state's attorney, the post which went to the then state senator and present prosecutor, Thomas J. Courtney. The judge remained on the bench and was reëlected in 1935.

CALL COALITION TICKETS AGAINST PUBLIC INTEREST

Coalition judicial tickets take the courts out of the hands of the people, Thomas A. Patrick, secretary of the Cook county division of the Illinois Republican Service Men's league, declared yesterday at the league's meeting in the Hotel Sherman.

"It is our firm belief that it is for the best interest of the people that the Republican party does not condone coalition and will not play partisan politics with the Kelly-Nash machine," said a resolution. "It behooves every American who believes in our constitutional form of government not only to vote but to urge all other citizens to vote for the Republican judges on Nov. 4."

Planning aid for the G. O. P. judicial campaign is a league committee composed of Fred F. Emich, chairman; Edward Chayes, Joseph F. Novotny, Robert C. St. Clair, State Sen. William G. Knox, James P. Ringley, David L. Shillinglaw, William M. Devine, Edward F. McGinnis, George Sugarman, Cornelius C. Cole, W. Glen Suthers, and Ferre C. Watkins.

STRIKERS DENIED STATE PAY OPEN APPEALS TODAY

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 8 [Special].—Appeals from the state labor department's decision that miners leaving their jobs during contract negotiations are not entitled to unemployment compensation will be heard here, beginning tomorrow.

Director of Labor Francis B. Murphy, whose predecessor, Martin P. Durkin, refused compensation to about 20,000 miners affiliated with the Congress of Industrial Organizations, today designated Dr. Elmo P. Hohman of Chicago to hear their appeal. These cases will be considered tomorrow.

On Thursday workers from 11 mines holding contracts with the Progressive Miners of America, an American Federation of Labor organization, will be heard.

It was estimated here tonight that $200,000 to $300,000 in unpaid compensation claims is at stake. Director Murphy is not expected to issue findings in the matter until about ten days after the hearings close.

Former Director Durkin was condemned by CIO officials for refusing to pay the claims, and Ray Edmundson, state CIO head, demanded his removal in a request to Gov. Dwight Green.

There already are 10 girls and five boys at home, ranging from a little over a year to 20 years old. The name problem has popped up again, for the Tennysons already are using Edward, Roger, Maxine, Florence, Dorothy, Louise, Otto, Barbara, Marilyn, Reta, Norma, Wilma, Neal, Joyce, and Duane. To Remarry or Not Is Worry of This Widow

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

She's a widow in her '30s and has a daughter, 16, who scarcely knew her father, who was killed in an accident when the girl was only 7 months old.

"We were so young, my husband and I, so much in love, the shock of his death took me years to overcome. But having a child to support, I had to dig in and go to work. I have worked so hard trying my best to make up to my girl as both father and mother, and she is everything that is fine and dear and good. I gave little thought to remarriage. But now there has come along a man who, I believe, would be a good companion as well as husband. But there's my daughter, 16 and never been kissed, as the saying goes, because she's never had a beau or ever thought about it much. We have been extremely close, going everywhere together, doing everything together and we are told time and again we're more like sisters than mother and daughter.

"I want my girl to have a perfectly normal life, and recently it has been occurring to me that we should not be together so much; that she should have more girl and boy friends. I've seen mothers in similar widowed positions who cling tenaciously to that only child, often succeeding in ruining his or her life unintentionally. I do not want to do that, so that this man on the horizon, while I have no school girl passion for him, seems to be an answer to my problem, in a way. What do you think? Would my remarriage give my girl a better chance?"

Yes, we think the girl then would be forced to seek the company of her own age. However, unless you really are fond of the man it seems to us you could maneuver your girl into her contemporaries' company and interests without marrying just "some one."

DORIS BLAKE'S LETTER BOX

Have you a perplexing problem on which you need friendly counsel? Write to Doris Blake in care of the Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago, Ill. If you wish a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Accept the Date.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been going with a fellow for three years. I think I love him, but I'm not sure. My ex-boy friend asked me for a date and I refused. Now I find myself thinking of him. If I ever should leave my boy friend I'd be heartbroken.—
SPANISH-AMERICAN GIRL."

If you're not engaged, accept your ex-boy friend's invitation. Unless you're sure of your love never marry a man. Your feelings are still too uncertain.

Don't Turn Him Out.

"Dear Miss Blake: If a fellow is in love with one and she's not in love with him, do you think it is fair to let him continue to take her out, or is it just making him waste his time? He'll probably be disappointed and heartbroken in the end, and I wouldn't like to hurt him. S. T."

As long as you don't let him think you care for him, you do no wrong, and he will have to take a chance on winning you away from other suitors.

Cuff Notes.

Readers of The Long Winter Ends might like to know that the author, Newton George Thomas, Chicago dentist, is under no strain in sustaining the Cornish dialect thruout the book. He speaks it with ease and has had many poems in the Cornish dialect published. . . . Sartorial picture of the week: Fortuno Gallo, opera impresario, in a black broadcloth suit bound with black braid. . . . When Mrs. Jacob Baur entertained at dinner in honor of the recently married Mr. and Mrs. Merrill C. Meigs she had what she called honeymoon salad. It was lettuce alone. Ha! . . . Carl Sandburg, who was in town yesterday hobnobbing with his old friend Oliver Barrett, is at work on four books. Recently the Lincoln biographer received a photograph of William Knudsen inscribed "To a great author from a poor xylophone player" . . . Gracie Hartman's profundity: "All a divorce lawyer wants is three square meals a day—and one triangle a week!" . . . Lillian T. Mowrer's new book Arrest and Exile is the story of Olga Kochanska, daughter of a Chicago physician, who was arrested in Poland in 1940 and transported to a Siberian work camp where she spent six months.

"THE LONG WINTER ENDS."
Us feel a bit wornish,
The book be too Cornish.

Requirements for Kingship.

A knife thrower in vaudeville a quarter of a century ago writes to the American Guild of Variety Artists, which is voting for a king and queen at the first annual charity ball and show at the Sherman next Monday night:

"Show biz being what it is, Joe and myself are now running a rooming house—but we still feel we are vaudevillians and I want to put a vote in for my husband as King. For 25 years we were Joe and Etta Riley and I was the top knife thrower in the business. Joe was the target.

"For 25 years we were always on the move and never played any stand more than three days. I feel Joe should be king because he fits in more than anything with what kings is nowadays. He was always ducking a lethal weapon—was constantly on the move and if that don't fit in with what most kings are doing—you can add that we have a son, who, thru a slight mishap, is in the hoosegow. Maybe if it was a concentration camp it would be better, but thank the Lord this is a democracy."

Title.

The senior English class taught by Miss Katherine Bogardus has been getting acquainted with plays that may come to Chicago this winter. In a list of plays Miss Bogardus was dictating was The Corn Is Green, and one of the students dutifully wrote on his paper "The Coroner's Dream."

Stumped.

The story of the lad about to be released from the insane asylum who dropped his shaving mirror and thought he had lost his head reminded C. George Dimas of an incident. A group of munitions workers were sitting about after a meal in Dimas' restaurant, which has been on the main street of Joliet since 1909, and one of them told a tall tale.

"You're crazy!" said one of the local lads. The munitions worker became indignant. Pulling some papers out of his pocket and exhibiting them, he said "I'm crazy? Well I've got papers here to prove I'm sane. Have you?" He had been in an asylum and upon his dismissal had been given papers in proof of his sanity.

Fur Accessory Turns a Dress Into Costume

BY REA SEEGER.

A routine that never varies. With a simple background dress everything can be managed from a costume to start the day to a late dinner dress at seven when your escort does not dress. The trick is turned with fur accessories . . . hat, belt, gloves, bag, and even footgear trimmed with small smart bits of fur. For instance, your pet brown dress for daytime wear . . . try the dashing new gloves, bag, and skull cap made of shiny brown and white pony skin. The same contrast is yours with a dull black dress and the exciting accessories of zebra in huge flat handbag, in slip-on gloves with zebra cuffs in wide belt.

More dress parade finds include hat, bags, gloves, and bows for your pumps of inky black Persian lamb. All you need with such swanky accessories is a simple black coat or one of the suavely cut one-piece dresses of black. A third eye interest can be added with glittering gold or silver costume jewelry pieces such as clips, pins, spray pins, and huge earrings. The flat fur, like steel gray Persian lamb, is used for cavalier cuffed gloves, for small hats or brimmed hats, carefully appliqued on bags and for bows on pumps. This lovely gray fur accents black, brown, navy, dubonnet, green as well as all shades of gray.

Moleskin and silvery beaver are two other high fashion fur contrasts in muff bags that are half felt and half fur, half-and-half gloves. Small hats and the fur trimmed brim models feature these exceptionally soft and flattering skins.

The most beautiful evening gloves imaginable can be made in snowy white caracul, and they can be worn with sophisticated all-black daytime outfits, too. New bows that make the insteps of the smartest and newest pumps use every kind of fur—civet cat, mink paws, silver fox, beaver, mink tails, pompons of Persian lamb, leopard, sealskin, zebra, or pony skin . . . pick your fur and pay your money. All of the bows are detachable so the same slim pump changes with every costume.

Young Mr. Coleman, a graduate of the Middlesex school, is assistant superintendent of a well known art school in Boston and is making quite a name in the world of art. His maternal grandmother is Mrs. Russel G. Fessenden of Concord and his paternal grandmother is Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman of Chicago.

The wedding is planned for Dec. 6 in the Church of the Advent in Boston.

Bachelors and Benedicts' Ball Is Set for Nov. 19.

Details of the plans for the 1941 Bachelors and Benedicts' ball are still indefinite, but the party will be held on its usual date, Thanksgiving eve—this year, Nov. 19. Wyndham Hasler succeeds George A. Poole Jr. as chairman of the ball, and he and his committee are planning a less elaborate party than usual.

Last year 450 guests attended. This year's invitation list will be cut considerably. True to tradition, a group of second year girls will be among those receiving the much coveted invitations. Debutantes of the season are never invited to the ball.

Replacing Mr. Poole Jr. and Potter Palmer III., retiring members of the ball committee, will be Ensign John Shedd Reed, who is stationed at Norfolk, Va., and Laurence A. Carton of Lake Forest. Whether Ensign Reed will be able to take his place in the receiving line depends on the navy's policy toward granting Thanksgiving leaves.

The committee has not yet decided where the 1941 ball will be held. Last year the party was in the Grand ballroom of the Palmer House.

Institute to Link Music and Art in Special Exhibits

Exhibits in the Art institute and works being played by the Chicago Symphony orchestra will be linked together for the first time this year, starting next Monday. Each week the Art institute will feature a special exhibit, "The Symphony and Art," conveying the spirit of the period in which a composer wrote a work being played by the orchestra. The first concert will be played on the evening of Thursday, Oct. 16.

An original print or drawing will be the center of each exhibit and will be displayed in galery 14 of the print department on the first floor. Other paintings thruout the galleries bearing on the symphony subject of the week will be specially labeled. Carl O. Schniewind, curator of prints and drawings, is in charge of the exhibit series. Discussion of the pictures and their parallels in the music to be played will be included in the symphony's program books each week.

The visual arts and music course at the institute on Tuesday evenings at 6:30 o'clock and Friday mornings at 11 o'clock will present a further study of the relationship.

'Our Wife' Silly as to Story but Acting's Swell

"OUR WIFE."
Produced by Columbia.
Directed by John M. Stahl.
Adapted from play by Lillian Day and Lyon Mearson.
Presented at the Roosevelt theater.

THE CAST.

Jerry Marvin	Melvyn Douglas
Susan Drake	Ruth Hussey
Babe Marvin	Ellen Drew
Prof. Drake	Charles Coburn
Tom Drake	John Hubbard
Dr. Cassell	Harvey Stephens
Hattie	Theresa Harris

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

This, my gentle readers, is much on the order of "When Ladies Meet," only these girls aren't ladies. That is—not much.

They are the beautiful encumbrances of Jerry Marvin, a band leader, who is married to one [Ellen Drew] and wishes to be the spouse of the other [Ruth Hussey]. . . . Funny angle—it's the wife who tries to break up the home, AFTER discovering that, due to her unknown rival's influence, Jerry has proved that he can compose as well as wave a baton, has given up drinking, and is well on the way to becoming a erson of consequence. . . .

With due respect to clever performances by Miss Hussey and Mr. Douglas, and a very deep kowtow to Mr. Coburn whom I love, I must report that it's Ellen Drew's classy delineation of the wife that makes this clock tick. . . . There she is, a little fox, completely cornered, but entirely undismayed, bamboozling everybody and getting away with murder in the SWEETEST way! Pretty as they make 'em, too. . . . I want them to try Miss Drew in a really big rôle sometime.

Not till the very end does Babe Marvin get her just desert. In the meantime does she have a time for herself!

The story is pretty silly stuff, but the players have so much snap and the yarn is so handsomely packaged that you're bound to like it.

See you soon.

Universal day—Don't get discouraged or allow depressing thoughts to get you down.

Looking back—Those in a six-year this year were advised to give their thoughts over to matters pertaining to the home and family. It was suggested that a six-year was an excellent time to establish a home. Well, Bette Davis, one of Hollywood's leading actresses, who was born on April 5, did just that. She bought herself a house in New England and has been making improvements this year, and in the middle of September, the peak of the six, circumstances caused her to go to that home for a couple of weeks. Naturally, not every one in a six-year has the same circumstances, but the trend of events should tie in with the keywords that I have given you for the different years. Tomorrow I'll give an instance of an entirely different type of six-year experience.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

Placing the lead desirably is one of declarer's most important functions. In countless hands the only point of play may be to keep one defender off the lead. There are many methods by which this can be done. Today's hand illustrates one that is not as thoroly appreciated as it should be.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	1 heart	Double	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	4 diamonds	Pass
5 diamonds	Pass	Pass	Pass

After considerable thought, West selected the ace of clubs as the opening lead, and followed up with the jack. Declarer was quite sure that West was now out of clubs, since it was unthinkable that he should have opened from the A-J unless they were blank. This created a serious difficulty. East must be kept off the lead until trumps were exhausted, otherwise he would return a club and West would ruff away one of declarer's club tricks. But, by the same token, the adverse trumps could not be drawn because declarer had grave need of dummy's trumps for the ruffing of spades.

The orthodox method of leading spades was, of course, to lead from dummy toward the king, but the only quick entry to dummy was the diamond queen. If declarer used that card and then led a spade, the enemy, upon winning with the spade ace, could return another trump and thereby fatally reduce dummy's ruffing power. Hence it was obvious that dummy's trumps must be preserved at all costs. Yet the spade suit must be ruffed out. On the bidding it was highly probable that West held the spade ace. Therefore, why go to the trouble to enter dummy for a spade lead toward the king? There was a much simpler play available.

Declarer laid down the spade king from his own hand, thus insuring, as far as he could, that West, and not East, would be on lead. As per justified expectation, West won with the ace and returned a trump. Declarer won in his own hand and ruffed a spade, then cashed the heart ace, discarding another spade. He reëntered his hand by ruffing a heart, and ruffed his last spade. He ruffed another heart, drew trumps, and spread the hand.

Obviously, any other method of play would have been unsuccessful.

Not Too Social Session Opens Bridge Tourney

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

One hundred thirty-two bridge experts frowned, grimaced and argued thru the opening match in the annual All American Contract Bridge tournament last evening in the Morrison hotel. They were physicians, teachers, mechanics, engineers, housewives, mailmen, metallurgists, and clerks, dressed in everything from expensive formal clothes to sport outfits. But they had one thing in common, serious bridge.

It was the "social ice breaker" of the tournament, the mixed pair match, but the sociability extended mostly to nods and conversation was limited to bidding.

Many husbands and wives played together, altho, according to Dr. B. P. Davidson, 3324 Diversey boulevard, a member of the tournament committee, a married couple has never won the match. "Take for example the couple over there," he said, pointing to a distinguished appearing gentleman and his pretty wife. "Both of them are excellent bridge players individually, but they just miss every time when they play together. Look at her hands shake. She's afraid she'll make a mistake and he will call her on it."

As Dr. Davidson approached their table the distinguished looking gentleman lifted his head and declared in an icy tone, "Two down, dear."

"I know, maybe I shouldn't have opened my mouth," she responded tartly.

"That's right, you shouldn't have," he answered.

Last year's male champion, George A. Neeves, 1220 North State street, started playing bridge in 1912 and has been playing it almost constantly since. His partner of last year, Mrs. Florence Meyer of Madison, Wis., was absent but sent her mother-in-law, Mrs. Cecile Meyer, 1760 Juneway terrace, to take her place. "I can't lose as long as I'm playing with a Meyer," Neeves declared.

The players, all members of the All American Contract Bridge league, started playing at 8:15 p. m. They were still at it at 1 a. m. When they left the tournament some time later many of them had tired, white faces, others looked as if they had just taken a shower.

"This was a nice evening," a chubby woman in a silver fox jacket remarked to her neighbor. "Of course the serious playing will start tomorrow evening with the women's pair event and last thru Sunday. I'll be here almost every morning. Will you? Well, if I don't see you again you must come over some night and we'll have a game of bridge."

A torte is a cake and meringue dessert usually containing nuts or strawberries or whipped cream. It's rich food beloved of dessert-bridge fans and women who gather for evening parties. Many men also are fond of tortes.

I don't know of a "yummier" dessert of this kind than strawberry blitz torte.

STRAWBERRY BLITZ TORTE.

[Serves eight.]

½ cup butter
½ cup sugar
4 eggs, whites and yolks separated
1½ cups sifted cake flour
1⅛ teaspoons baking powder
5 tablespoons milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sugar for meringue
⅛ teaspoon cream of tartar
1 quart sweetened strawberries

Cream sugar and shortening together until very light. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating thoroly after each. Sift flour with baking powder three times, and add to creamed mixture alternately with milk, beating batter well after each addition. Add vanilla. Spread batter in two greased and wax paper-lined pans. Beat egg whites until stiff and add cream of tartar. Beat in sugar, gradually. Beat until meringue will stand in peaks and until all sugar is dissolved. Spread meringue on two cakes and bake at 300 degrees for 25 minutes. Then increase heat to moderate, 350 degrees, and bake 20 minutes longer. Cool. Put together with strawberries and top with more berries and whipped cream. Cut in pie shaped pieces.

MERINGUE TORTE.

Use the recipe just given, but omit berries. Put together and top with whipped cream, and sprinkle with chopped nuts.

BLITZ KUCHEN.

Make the meringue-covered cake layers as described, sprinkling them before baking with shaved blanched almonds. Put the cooled layers together with a custard filling, just before serving.

CUSTARD FILLING: Blend ¼ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 slightly beaten egg and 1 cup cream. Cook and stir in the top of a double boiler until thickened. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla, cool, and use as a filling.

Young Women Are Wizards in Hair Care

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

There's one point about the younger generation that can't be criticized by the "cluck-cluckers" among us. They can teach us hearts, spades, and the whole deck on hair care and beauty, the majority of them, that is. They know to a last lustrous strand the value of hair as an asset. Nor is it with magic formulas out of bottles they succeed in presenting those remarkably lovely heads of hair you see everywhere on young heads. Their formula is the good old homely hairbrush, only we should not call today's hairbrush homely, since it is anything but.

We use homely to apply to its action, than which nothing better has been invented to convert dull, lustreless locks into shining and romantic armor. Yes, romantic, for boys are perhaps more conscious of this feminine asset than of any other single beauty item. And they talk about it, which may be one of the big influences in this deb-age hair-care activity.

Girls know what's meant by live, vital, glossy hair, and they work to achieve it. Mothers tell me often of the constant brushings going on behind boudoir doors, and of requests for better and better hairbrushes. The young ones have become skilled in hair-arranging, too. It's practice, of course, and the desire to have something chic and becoming. They're becoming critics of the first order in hair-and-facial coöperation. They know it isn't good for their particular style to adopt such-and-such a style. They evolve a better one for themselves. Their hair may be uniformly long, but it is arranged around the face and atop the brow in lines that are distinctive and lovely.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

There's a new face powder out that will make an immediate hit, we think, with the woman who likes a powder extremely fine in texture. It's the kind of powder that glorifies a fine skin without being at all obvious on the face.

It is distinctly not the fashion nowadays to look made up. Never before has makeup been so generally used, but the effect women strive for—and achieve—is one of subtly enhanced naturalness. It is not chic to look either pale and wan or artificially dark and sultry. Makeup is employed to give a look of vitality and radiance, but the onlooker must be conscious only of the effect, not of the cosmetics employed.

The new powder, light as mist, is exactly the kind of a powder that fits in this modern picture. It veils the skin flatteringly, lightly, revealing rather than masking the good skin texture and tone. It is sufficiently adherent to defeat shininess, yet it does not give a coated look.

Partly this is due to its gossamer texture, but some credit must go to the shades—five deftly blended ones ranging from a most delicate blush-pink tint to a radiant bronze.

The powder is delicately scented in a famous perfume; as a matter of fact, the success of the spicy perfume in bath accessories inspired the creation of it. It's skillfully packaged and reasonable in price.

If you've a delicate skin with subtle coloring you've found difficult to match in a powder, this newcomer is something to look up.

The wedding took place in Elkton, Md., the Rev. R. G. Sturgill officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Thenebe are residing at 4 Walbridge road, West Hartford, altho at present Mrs. Thenebe is in Minocqua, Wis., visiting her mother. Mrs. Peil is recovering from the effects of a recent automobile accident in Lake Forest.

Herbert E. Bradleys to Return to South Side Home Soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Bradley will return to their south side home in about two weeks after having spent the summer and early fall at their Wisconsin place, Lost Lodge, near Florence. Their daughter, Mrs. Bradley Davey, will arrive a bit later in the season for a visit with her parents. She now is in Mexico. She and William Davey were divorced in Santa Fe, N. M., on Sept. 12.

Instead of moving to New York to join her husband, Mrs. Sidney Strotz has decided to remain in Lake Forest until spring so the Strotzes' debutante daughter, Miss Shirley, may join in the whirl of Christmas parties here. Miss Shirley is studying at the Finch school and her younger sister and brother also are at school in the east. Mrs. Strotz will join them for Thanksgiving. Mr. Strotz's business took him east earlier this fall.

Mrs. Hayden B. Harris is leaving today for her home in Leesburg, Va., after a stay of three weeks at the Racquet club.

Mrs. Briggs Gettys who, with her children, is visiting her parents, the Charles G. Littles, in Evanston, plans to remain here until after Christmas. Mr. Gettys will come from the Gettys' home in Lenox, Mass., to join his family for the holidays. Miss Olivia, the Littles' post-debutante daughter, is studying at the National College of Education.

Mrs. Lawrence W. Scudder Departs for New Home.

Mrs. Lawrence W. Scudder departed yesterday for her new home in New York. Her address henceforth will be 14 Sutton place south. Mrs. Scudder and her three children will spend the Christmas holidays at their place in Chocorua, N. H. Mrs. Scudder's Lake Forest house at 920 Hawthorne lane has been sold to the Seymour Wheelers.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler expect to occupy the house about the first of November. Since Mrs. Gilbert E. Porter's house, in which the Wheelers spent the summer, burned a week or two ago, Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler have been in Mrs. Julian Soames' house at 1300 Waukegan road. Mrs. Soames has come into town for the winter and is at the Whitehall.

Mrs. Porter does not plan to move back into her house in Lake road until almost Christmas, for it will take that long to repair the serious damages effected by the fire. She hopes to be settled by the time her daughters return for the holiday season, Miss Edith from Smith, and Mary and Anne from Chatham hall. In the meantime Mrs. Porter is staying with various friends and relatives in Lake Forest. The Richard H. Mabbatts are her host at present.

Don't Expect Too Much of a Tall Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We have all seen 12 year olds, and boys and girls in their early teens, who were as tall as grown men and women. In spite of ourselves, our expectations of them shoot upward as fast as they do. Nonsense and a perfectly normal childish kind of silliness, and some breaches of etiquet that we would overlook in a 12 year old of average size, we frown upon in this child of ours whose head looms up on a level with ours, or higher. "Act your age" a father may snap at a big awkward lad because he feels almost ashamed of what seems to him such an incongruity between looks and actions.

In this way many of us are in the wrong. We should, in fact, be more lenient with what we call the overgrown child than with the one of average size. He needs great understanding and patience at home, this largely because at school, and socially, much is expected of him to which he cannot live up.

Rapid growth during the preadolescent years and the early teens is something the whole effect of which we do not, scientifically, know a great deal. But some concrete knowledge of physically uneven development and our common sense tell us that we must not expect adult poise, seriousness and responsibility from the child whose body has outgrown him. That doesn't mean that we must not expect anything at all of him in the way of courtesies, responsibility, and so on, but that we must not either speak or feel the attitude expressed by the remark so often made: "Aren't you ashamed! You're nearly a man now!"

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

This winter I plan to bring you week after week in this column the recipes, menus, and food suggestions which will enable you to give your family nutritious and appetizing meals for less money. And since meat is the backbone of the meal, I can help you most by telling you how to advantageously buy, cook, and serve meat.

George Rector
Food Consultant Wilson & Co.

THE ROAD TO THRIFT

Everybody, your family among them, enjoys meat for its flavor. Buy meat of rich flavor so that when you combine it with potatoes, rice, macaroni, or vegetables, it retains its fine meat flavor and imparts it generously. Also buy a large enough piece of meat to last for several meals; it costs less per pound and shrinks less.

WILSON'S TENDER Certified SMOKED HAM
Cook Before Eating
MADE BY WILSON'S SECRET PROCESS

FROM ONE MEAT MANY MEALS

An ideal thrift purchase is a whole Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham, the original Tender, Extra-Mild ham in the bright orange wrapper.

Its flavor is so rich that it goes further. It bakes more quickly than the old style ham, so it shrinks less. For variety, use the center slices for broiling or pan frying, the butt-end for baking, the shank-end for cooking with vegetables.

Left-over dishes folks go for

Just so much "velvet" for your meat budget are these delicious "left-overs." Each takes just 1½ cups of cooked ham.

- Ham and macaroni
- Ham and vegetable salad
- Ham omelet
- Creamed ham on toast
- Ham-potato scallop

TRACE ALUMINUM FIASCO TO 'HELP' BY LA GUARDIA

Meddling Halts Moving of Vast Metal Piles.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—The insistence of Fiorello La Guardia, director of the Office of Civilian Defense, that he handle all phases of the aluminum collection campaign two months ago is the reason being given in official circles for the government's failure to take advantage of the aluminum contributions of the American public, it was learned today.

The original plan, records show, was for the OCD to handle the collection of the metal from housewives thruout the nation and for the Office of Production Management to supervise its disposal. At the last moment, however. "The Little Flower," La Guardia, with the backing of President Roosevelt, announced he would handle all phases of the campaign.

Junk Scheme Scrapped.

It had been planned by the OPM that the nation's 32,000 junk dealers would aid in preparing the metal for the smelters. La Guardia, for reasons never announced, ruled that the junk dealers were out. The scrap would be sent direct from local concentration points to melting places, he declared.

According to the OPM this is why the bulk of the 12 million pounds of scrap collected by volunteers last July has never been disposed of.

Some has reached the smelters but the rest remains right where it was dumped by the collectors. Spokesmen for the OPM insist that this would not have happened if the junk dealers, who offered their service without profit, had been allowed to take part in the campaign.

Smelters Lack Facilities.

The smelters had no facilities for handling large amount of scrap, these sources explained, while the junk dealers have adequate yard space and workers skilled in sorting and cleaning the metal preparatory to placing it in the furnaces.

Meanwhile the piles of scrap still dotting the American landscape are proving a continual source of embarrassment to the administration.

And the OPM has plans for similar drives to collect waste paper and scrap iron, but fears there will be little public response as long as piles of pots and pans continue to go uncollected.

Had La Guardia kept his fingers out of the aluminum drive, officials insist, these piles would long since have disappeared and Americans would have no reason to suspect that the shortage of certain materials is not as urgent as the administration would have them believe.

Granted Divorce

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Ruth Jones Jarratt in court of Judge Desort yesterday when she was granted divorce from Walter J. Jarratt on grounds of desertion.

Mrs. Ruth Jones Jarratt, daughter of the late George Herbert Jones, Chicago multi-millionaire, obtained a divorce from Walter Jefferson Jarratt, president of the Safety Vulcanizer company, before Judge Rudolph Desort in Superior court yesterday.

Mrs. Jarratt dropped a charge of misconduct and was awarded the divorce on grounds of desertion. She waived alimony and any future inheritance from her husband's estate, and in return Jarratt waived all dower rights to her property.

Excitement was added to the proceedings when Jarratt, leaving the judge's chambers, struck an afternoon newspaper's photographer, William Vandetta. Vandetta obtained from Judge Oscar S. Caplan in South State street court a warrant charging Jarratt with assault and battery.

WRITER OF NOTES TO F. D. R. FIGHTS INSANITY ACTION

Validity of an insanity petition against Miss Caroline Burke, 42 years old, a former teacher, was challenged by her attorney, Joseph T. Harrington, yesterday in a hearing before acting County Judge Harrington Wood.

The petition was filed by J. J. McLaughlin, United States secret service agent, because of letters Miss Burke wrote to President Roosevelt, asserting she hoped he "would get his" before he died. She was adjudged insane last July 25 and was paroled to a friend, but the court later reversed its finding and ordered a retrial before a jury.

Attorney Harrington argued yesterday that the new petition is invalid because it fails to list more than one witness. The case will be resumed at 2 p. m. today. Miss Burke said she did not intend her letter to be interpreted as a threat of physical harm to the President.

Mickey Rooney, the film star, will head the list of celebrities appearing Friday night, Oct. 17, in the Chicago Stadium at the "Victory Round-up" for the British War relief, Mrs. Howard Linn, chairman of the event, announced yesterday.

The Andrews sisters and the Quiz Kids will also appear at the benefit, which will be featured by a world championship rodeo in which $18,000 in prize money will be awarded. The event is expected to raise $30,000 to $50,000 for British war relief. Mayor Kelly is honorary chairman.

Tickets may be purchased at the Cunard White Star line office, 32 North Michigan avenue; A. G. Becker & Co., 100 South La Salle street; Marshall Field and Co.; the Bond Clothing store at 65 West Madison street; the British War Relief shop, 615 North Michigan avenue; the Stadium grill, 1800 West Madison street, and in Evanston at 604 Davis street.

GOV. GREEN CITES PERIL IN TREND TO CENTRALIZATION

Gov. Dwight Green yesterday cautioned the people to keep government close to them and warned state and local governments to fight continuing trends toward centralization by mending their own ways. He addressed 300 members of the South Shore League of Women Voters in the Hotel Windermere West.

"It is imperative that state and local administrations be placed and kept upon the highest plane of efficiency, economy, and honesty, lest their rights and authority be absorbed by the power of individualized government," Green said.

"Citizenship must demand such high standards of state and local government that the citizens themselves will be warranted in battling any encroachments by a central seat of power. Our form of government, safeguarded by the Constitution, belongs to the people. But it is only when the people have faith in government—created by exercise of their inherent right to share in government—that free government can be made to work."

DEFENSE CLOSES CASE IN $800,000 PEANUT HEARING

The defense rested yesterday in the bench trial of 22 men before Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe on charges of using the mails to defraud in an alleged $800,000 peanut vending machine swindle. Closing arguments will start tomorrow after rebuttal witnesses are heard. The final defense witness was Bert David, a defendant who worked as a salesmen in the promotion of the vending machines.

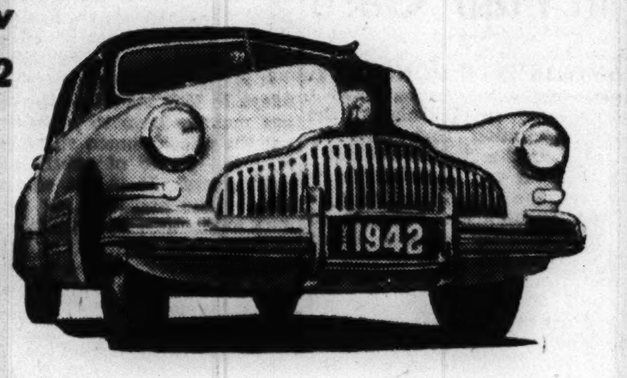
BUICK BUILDS FOR DEFENSE
Our assignment: Building Pratt & Whitney valve-in-head aircraft engines for defense use.

EXEMPLAR OF GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

A word about the calibre of the distinguished new automobiles that Buick now brings to market for 1942



TWO thoughts stood solemn sentinel throughout all the planning of our 1942 cars.

The first was:—in their materials these cars must not trespass on the current needs of national defense.

The second was:—in their quality and performance they must not be an "ersatz" product.

If you think this leaves only a cramped and stifling byway for engineering to advance in, remember that difficulties are sometimes the spur that real ability needs.

Our new cars, it seems to us, superbly prove this. But we neither expect nor ask you to take our word for it.

Indeed, we hope instead that you're skeptical—that you will require these sleek and powerful Buicks to demonstrate their merit under your own hands.

The real way to know what they are, and how marvelously they perform, is to breeze them down a country road or tool them through clotted traffic.

The sure way to gauge their mettle and their inmost goodness is to plump them squarely into the stiffest task your imagination can supply.

There are great gifts undefeatedly at work in the industry of this nation and not the least of them is good old-fashioned American ingenuity.

We have of course no corner on that here at Buick. But the first mile you drive one of these magnificent automobiles will make you say that we certainly have our share.

So come try the gorgeous new cars that we not only say pace the pack for 1942 but are bold enough to believe set an all-time high in all-round automotive excellence.

They will make you glad—nay, proud —all over again that you're living in America—and now!

BROOKS RIDES 3 WINNERS; RUNS HIS TOTAL TO 53

Hawthorne Record Up with Best.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Steve Brooks, who is establishing a record which ranks with some of the best riding performances on the American turf, brought in three more winners yesterday at Hawthorne, following up his four successful efforts on Tuesday. With three more days to go in the 30 day meeting, he already has run his total to 53 first places.

Johnny Longden gave Chicago area fans quite a few thrills during the Arlington Park meeting of 1939. On Friday, July 14, to Thursday, July 20, he brought in 22 winners, his daily quotas being 4-3-5-4-2-4. Brooks, however, has been doing this sort of thing right thru the meeting.

May Reach 60.

Longden's total for the 30 day meeting at Arlington in 1939 was 49 winners, tho he was handicapped by being on the ground for several days. Brooks passed the 49 mark on Tuesday, and if he keeps up his present average he should have 59 or 60 by the time the last race is run on Saturday.

Brooks' performance also compares well with that delivered by Don Meade when he was making his famous comeback at Hialeah in the winter of 1939. Meade brought in 91 winners in the 46 day meeting.

Brooks depends largely on a good judgment of early pace followed by strong arm tactics in the stretch. He ranks with some of the best whip riders ever to perform on Chicago tracks. A number of good hand riders are incapable of going to the bat without throwing the horse off stride or letting him go to pieces in some other way.

Wins in Stretch.

Brooks, however, can use the stick all the way thru the stretch with one hand while he holds his mount to a well disciplined stride with the other hand. In many a tight finish during the meeting, the outcome has been determined solely because Brooks outrode his rival in the last furlong.

Most of Brooks' winners are pretty nearly tuckered out at the finish because conservation of energy is not one of his strong points. Whereas many riders look for openings and keep their horses close to the rail to save ground, Brooks asks for nothing but gangway. Inasmuch as he can seldom be sure of this near the rail, he nearly always takes his horse to the outside for the drive and depends on his vigorous tactics to get him home in front.

Gives Odds Beating.

Brooks has been knocking the odds haywire during the Hawthorne meeting. Horses which figure to be four to one shots are bet down to even money favorites because he's aboard. This doesn't always work out. He frequently loses on short priced mounts and comes back to win with a five to one shot.

STEVE BROOKS.

His three winners yesterday were Miss Balko in the first, Myrica in the third, and Pompe Bonne in the fifth. The win prices on these were $4.60, $8, and $5.60.

Of course, a jockey who is going as well as Brooks can almost have his pick of mounts and this would account for a portion of his success. Nevertheless he usually gets the best out of a horse whether he's a 10 to 1 shot or an odds-on favorite.

Fails on 3-5 Shot.

A conspicuous exception to this occurred in yesterday's feature event in which he failed with the 3 to 5 shot, Goshen, while Mint Sand was getting in to beat him by three-quarters of a length.

Brooks, who is 20 years old, has been riding for several years. He has a perfect physique for a jockey, being able to make 102 pounds without weakening himself with a reducing régime.

He is married to a girl from Dallas, Tex. They travel from track to track, wherever Steve may be working, in a trailer outfit.

Following the Hawthorne meeting, Brooks, together with most of his rivals, will move across the railroad track to neighboring Sportsman's Park where a three week meeting will begin on Monday.

WALDORF FEARS N. U. ISN'T READY FOR WISCONSIN

Says Situation Is Ideal for an Upset.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Northwestern will face a desperate football team when Wisconsin comes to Dyche stadium Saturday to open the Western conference season. This is the opinion of the Wildcat coaches and if it is also the opinion of the players, then Northwestern will have a fair chance to whip the Badgers.

According to Coach Lynn Waldorf, head coach of the Wildcats, Northwestern cannot be as good as last week's 51 to 3 victory over Kansas State would seem to indicate, nor can Wisconsin be as indifferent as the 28 to 7 victory Marquette registered over the Badgers apparently indicates.

Upset in Making?

"The situation is dangerous for our hopes of success," Waldorf said candidly yesterday. "I realize that I will be accused of crying wolf, but a game that can be won by seven touchdowns is of no value in preparing a team for later opponents. This kind of a victory is particularly dangerous, since it generally leads to overconfidence. Match this attitude against the determination with which the Badgers will enter Saturday's game and you have the components for what the public will call an upset."

Only an unusual approach to estimating abilities of various elevens would produce an opinion that Northwestern, because it won from Kansas State, should be rated over Minnesota, which defeated the University of Washington. It also is unusual that Notre Dame, victor over Indiana, must still await a further test, in the opinion of some critics, while Northwestern now has proved its merit satisfactorily.

New Men Are Untested.

The Wildcats started the season intent on replacing the 1940 starting ends, the right tackle, and center. The scrimmage against the freshmen and the game with Kansas State were won so handily that it still is impossible to estimate the value of the replacements at these positions. Wisconsin, Michigan, or Ohio State—Northwestern's immediate opponents—only will furnish an answer.

The impotence of Kansas State, perennially a second division team in the Big Six, was almost unbelievable. Kansas State made only one first down, gained approximately thirty yards from rushing, and did not complete a pass.

"Our third team saw more service than the first or second," Waldorf said of the game. "Northwestern also was not given a satisfactory workout on defense, for Kansas State's attack consisted principally of smashing straight at Alf Bauman. That's one line position which should be strong."

Dominate One Period.

Northwestern's scouts reported that Wisconsin had difficulty in the first half of the Marquette game attacking against Marquette's five man line. When that was ironed out between the halves, Wisconsin drove to the tying touchdown and dominated the third period to the extent of having four times the number of plays from scrimmage.

A punt return and two successful passes, the last from Jim Richardson to Johnny Goodyear, scored for Marquette. With this lever, Marquette went on to victory.

Last night the Wildcats continued working against the Badgers' plays. Not the least of Northwestern's minor problems is practice time for Leon Cook, currently rated the number 1 right tackle. Cook as a chemistry major cannot drill on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons because of lab work. Supporting him in this position are Tony Samarzia and Ray Vincent. They are sophomores.

Len Seelinger's return to action at Wisconsin should improve the Badgers' passing. Don Clawson, who shares the Wildcat full back job with George Benson, is expected to be ready to play this week.

"The game's a headache," Waldorf concluded. Then he grinned and said, "Each Saturday is a headache in the fall."

DAY AGREES TO GO THRU WITH BOUT TOMORROW

Despite Personal Woes He'll Oppose Montgomery

BY FRANK MASTRO.

"The fight is on!"

That was the statement issued by Chicago Stadium officials late yesterday after Davey Day previously had said he would not go thru with a 10 round bout against Bob Montgomery, lightweight and welterweight contender, in the west side arena tomorrow.

Day was compelled to change his mind after being closeted several hours with Promoter William R. Rand. Davey was reminded he would be suspended for life in Illinois and all states affiliated with the National Boxing association if he repudiated his contract, but said he didn't care; that he had to get away from his wife, that he would join the army.

The rangy Chicagoan, who has a knack of getting in and out of trouble without much difficulty, didn't want to fight because he feared his wife would prevent him from gaining possession of his purse.

Wife Obtains Injunction.

His wife, Mrs. Sylvia Daitch, obtained an injunction in the Superior court of Judge Rudolph Desort on Tuesday restraining Day from disposing of any money in banks or other assets. She also filed a bill for separate maintenance, hearing on which was set yesterday morning by Judge Desort for next Tuesday.

Day is signed for 25 per cent of the gate receipts, but at his request the promoter agreed to deposit $2,500 of the anticipated prize with Chairman Sheldon Clark of the state athletic commission. After yesterday's court session Davey decided he would rather have the cash in hand. It is believed Rand acceded to his demands.

Ticket Sale Is Heavy.

Stadium box office men were happy yesterday for the first time since the Montgomery-Day match was closed 10 days ago. They reported a heavy ticket sale despite the fact the contest will be broadcast over a national radio hookup.

The rival fighters each did light loosening up exercises in Trafton's gymnasium yesterday afternoon. Day will end training by following the same program today, but because he was down to 138 pounds after taking a shower yesterday Montgomery will be given a rest this afternoon.

Bob Smith, Pittsburgh heavyweight, has been imported to fill Lem Franklin's shortage of sparring partners for a 10 round bout in Cleveland Oct. 20 against Abe Simon. Milt Aron, west side middleweight, yesterday was found to be in Michael Reese hospital receiving treatment for pneumonia. Bill Davis, Minersville, Pa., lightweight, will meet the winner of an eight round event between Eddie Lander and Billy Séward in Marigold Gardens Monday, Promoter Irving Schoenwald said last night.

ARMY LIFE STOPS AT CAMP GRANT AS LOUIS BOXES

Camp Grant, Ill., Oct. 8 (AP).—Joe Louis, who expects to become a soldier soon, visited the army's largest recruit reception center today but he couldn't step out of his rôle of world heavyweight champion.

Louis, who said he was ready to enter the service but didn't know when he would be called, didn't get much of an idea of what military life is like. Nearly all activity at Camp Grant's reception center and medical training post was suspended to permit the soldiers to watch the champion perform.

Battalions of men crowded into Bell bowl, a natural amphitheater, to watch Louis box several rounds with sparring partners in his entourage.

It was the start of a barnstorming tour for Louis in the interest of army morale. Tomorrow he is scheduled to appear at the Savanna ordnance depot, where Negro troops are being trained. On Monday he is to be at Fort Sheridan.

He's a Proud Pere Gallarneau

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Hugh Gallarneau Sr. (left) was quite a football and baseball player in his day, but admits he was not such an all around athlete as his son, Hugh Jr. (right) of Stanford's Rose bowl champions and now a freshman half back with the pro champion Chicago Bears. The Gallarneaus, an old French family, live on Chicago's south side.

Gallarneau Sr. Tells About Gallarneau Jr. (of the Bears)

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Hugh Gallarneau Jr. was busy, as were all the other Bears yesterday morning in Wrigley field, getting ready for the champions' 1941 National Football league home debut Sunday against the Cardinals.

Hugh Gallarneau Sr. was busy, too. From a box seat along the third base line he watched closely as his son, a Bear rookie, and others galloped up and down the field.

Gallarneau Sr., tho, was not too busy to talk about his boy, a tall, slender athlete of the race horse type. On Sunday Hugh Jr. distinguished himself. He made two touchdowns in Cleveland. It is not unusual for a Bear to make a touchdown, but the boys have a habit of splitting up the scoring. This custom is so pronounced that the Bears, tho they have rolled up 73 points in two league games, have no outstanding point maker.

They're a Bit Alike.

Gallarneau Sr., a pleasant faced, stubby fellow, has an athletic background, too. Both he and his son were left handed pitchers in baseball, played right half in college, and served under famous athletic leaders named Shaughnessy. The elder Gallarneau pitched for Fort Wayne, Ind., in the old Central league when it was managed by Frank J. [Shag] Shaughnessy, now president of the International league. Young Gallarneau played football last year under Clark Shaughnessy at Stanford.

There are many amazing men on this football squad George Halas and the graduates of old Halas U. have rounded up, but perhaps none can match the all-around athletic record of Gallarneau Jr.

He did about everything in athletics—except play football—at Morgan Park High school. He was diver and speed swimmer, a tumbler, a basketball player, a wrestler, and a boxer. He went to Stanford on a scholarship, a football one at that, tho he had never played the game. Some one must have known something.

'Pretty Good' at Boxing.

"I guess Hugh was pretty good at boxing out on the coast," said Gallarneau Sr. "After he'd had a coupe of years of it, I suggested it might be wise to stop. He was preparing himself for a business career and I reminded him that a cauliflower ear or a bashed nose might look out of place in a bank. But it seems like California had a good heavyweight and the boy wanted to have one more fight and meet him. So he did."

The result was a victory for Hugh and some of the sports writers on the coast were so impressed they suggested that here was the fellow who might one day beat Joe Louis. At Stanford Hugh won the Gene Tunney medal, which isn't tossed around promiscuously. Hugh never has been beaten in the ring.

He took up football because his pals at Stanford were going out for the sport. Because of his speed, he was an ideal player for Shaughnessy's T formation man in motion offense. Hugh had no national reputation as a football player until Stanford started its story book journey to the Rose bowl last fall. Shaughnessy credited his training in boxing as aiding him as a broken field runner.

Wrigley Field Is Altered.

"I guess Hugh has given up baseball," said Gallarneau Sr. a bit sadly. "Donie Bush wanted to take him over a few years ago when he was at Indianapolis. This football's in his blood now and I guess it's all right, especially if you're with the Bears."

All this time the ground crew was transforming the baseball field into a gridiron. The white goal posts were up, workers drove spikes in the soggy turf where the yard line markers will be placed. A few Cubs straggled in to take a last look at the place and perhaps wish they had possessed part of the Bears' punch during the past season.

Passing claimed most of the attention during the practice. Sid Luckman and Young Bussey were doing the pitching. Bob Snyder's right shoulder, injured blocking Clarke Hinkle in the Green Bay game, still is sore. Hampton Pool, end, ran for the first time since he was injured in the exhibition game with the Giants. Only Joe Stydahar, who suffered a leg bruise in the Cleveland game, was out of uniform.

JENKINS TO GET NEW TEST TODAY FOR ANGOTT BOUT

New York, Oct. 8 (AP).—After having been told by his own physician that he is in no condition to fight, Lew Jenkins, lightweight champion [New York variety], will appear before the New York state athletic commission tomorrow for another going over. Purpose of the examination will be to discover whether the Sweetwater, Tex., fighter is in condition to go thru with his 15 round title fight with Sammy Angott, lightweight champion [NBA], booked for Madison Square Garden Oct. 31.

Dr. Norman E. Titus, Jenkins' physician, reported tonight the Texan had a fractured left rib, dislocated neck vertebra, and bursitis of the right shoulder—the first a result of his losing bout with Welterweight Champion Red Cochrane in Madison Square Garden Monday night, the other two the outcome of a motorcycle accident several weeks ago.

Should Jenkins be excused from the October date he and his manager would have to put up a $1,500 forfeit binding them to a December match with Angott. After posting that bond Jenkins' $7,200 purse from the Cochrane bout would be released by the commission.

'NO PLAYER WE CAN'T SPARE,' SAYS MANAGER

Youth Keynote of 1942 Program.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

General Manager James T. Gallagher and Manager Jim Wilson of the Cubs today will start a series of conferences, or huddles, at which weighty matters having to do with a bright 1942 will be plotted. The two Jims will part at the end of the week, when Wilson goes to his Philadelphia home for treatments of aspirin and other headache cures, so the next few days are to see Cub headquarters in the Wrigley building a veritable beehive.

Without putting too much stress on the Cubs' sixth place finish in the National league and their loss of four straight to the White Sox in the city series, Wilson last night told something of his plans for 1942.

Youth Is the Keynote.

Said the Skipper: "We are going to take all the youngsters we have purchased to Catalina Island in February, and youth will continue to form the keynote of our rebuilding program as regards the youngsters who, we believe, showed great improvement in the year's experience we had with the Cubs.

"This does not mean that we have closed the doors on experienced major league players, as some apparently believe. We must have some hitting, above everything else, and you can't count on even highly touted minor leaguers to produce that.

"There is no abundance of hitters available, but I have heard of three or four hitters who may be on the market because of various sets of circumstances. We will be prepared to bid for these players in cash and we have some trading potentialities. [Jim didn't mention Bill Lee and Hank Leiber, but he might have had them in mind, among several others.]

No One in the Doghouse.

"None of the players who finished the season with the Cubs is in the doghouse or certain to be absent when the season starts next April. On the other hand, there is no one we can't spare, as we may prove when we get to the minor league meetings in Jacksonville, Fla., on Dec. 3 [Wilson didn't mention Stan Hack or Claude Passeau, but the Cubs could really get on the trading floor of the fleshmarts if they could bring themselves to part with either or both of these stellar athletes.]

"All managers will be out for more pitching, as usual, and I will be too, but I have higher hopes of developing young fellows such as John Schmitz, Wimpy Quinn, Russ Meers, and Emil Kush than I have in getting ready-made sluggers from the minors. [In Terry Moore, Don Padgett, Enos Slaughter, Stan Musial, Irv Dusak, Coaker Triplett, Estel Crabtree, and Walter Sessi the Cardinals appear to have more hitting strength in their outfield than they can handle and Branch Rickey has been tossing on his pillow ever since he had to kick back a $10,000 Cub check several weeks ago.]

JIMMY WILSON.

Won't be Thrown Off Balance.

"I am not going to be thrown off balance by hopes before I see them materialize as I may have been last spring. [He probably was thinking about 'em, but Jim didn't mention how he went for those Los Angeles gurgles about the devastating power of Lou Novikoff's bat and the miracle talents of Lou Stringer, last spring before he'd ever laid eyes on either of those over-publicized Los Angelenos, or his rapture over the potentialities of Bill Myers as a Cub and the skill of Eddie Waitkus, lightweight first baseman from Tulsa who actually started the season as a regular.]

"I believe we are on good trading terms with the other teams of the league. The second division teams should be able to get together on swapping some of those fellows who need a change of scenery. There will be the usual reluctance about helping the teams that already are strong, so the second division fellows, especially those that have ambitions

HAWKS HOLD 1ST PRACTICE; WATCH BORDER PROBLEM

Hockey Assumes Broader International Aspects.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Manager Paul Thompson of the Blackhawks yesterday was able to assemble a quorum for the first Hawk drill of the season in the fall training rink at Hibbing, Minn., but while he watched a group of the boys with one eye he had the other on the United States-Canadian border. It appears that hockey this season is to be more of an international enterprise than ever before.

The players who worked out yesterday were Bill Thoms, Fido Purpur, Bill Carse, Sammy LoPresti, Phil Hergesheimer, Joe Cooper, Mush March, Joe Papike, Bill Mosienko, Cy Lamarche, and Johnny Mariucci. Mariucci motored in from Connecticut, where he has been coaching the University of Connecticut football team, and Cully Dahlstrom, en route from the Pacific coast, was expected momentarily.

Five Held at Border.

Held at the Canadian border were Art Wiebe, Max and Doug Bentley, and Bob Carse; also a rookie left winger, Alex Kaleta. Wartime service boards of the nine Canadian provincial districts take precedence over passports issued by the immigration boards; hence the holding up of players subject to military service.

The Blackhawks, the Boston Bruins, and the Detroit Red Wings are having their troubles now. These three teams have training camps in the United States. The other teams will train in Canada and may have their immigration troubles just before the opening of the season early next month.

The Canadian wartime regulations affect every player in the National Hockey league and those who are on the negotiation lists of the several teams, with the exception of nine players. Five of the nine natives of the United States now on National league lists are on the Hawk roster.

The five Hawks who don't have to worry about Canadian affairs tho they have the United States selective service to affect them, are Mariucci, LoPresti, and Papike of Eveleth, Minn.; Dahlstrom of Enumclaw, Wash., and Purpur of Grand Forks, N. D. Mush March has his first papers, and Earl Seibert, who has been a resident of Springfield, Mass., for six years, is scheduled to appear for his United States citizenship papers next week.

Murray Patrick in Army.

The only other United States citizens among National league regulars are Art Coulter of Miami, Fla., and Lynn Patrick of New York City. Murray Patrick has been called for service with the United States army. The other United States native is Frank Brimsek, like Mariucci, LoPresti, and Papike, a native of Eveleth, Minn.

Greatest concern of Manager Thompson over the status of Canadian players is over Dave MacKay and Johnny Chad, regulars last year. Three of the most promising rookies also seem likely to be called into Canadian service before they'll ever have a chance to don Hawk padding.

THREE VETERANS MISSING.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Oct. 8 (AP).—Three veterans of the New York Americans, Charlie Conacher, Hooley Smith and Johnny Sorrell, were not among the 14 players reporting for the opening of practice today and Manager Red Dutton said he was trying to arrange a deal for the trio.

Dutton refused further comment on the status of the three, all of whom transferred to the Americans in recent years after passing their peak with other league clubs. The only other member of last year's team missing was Squee Allen.

Release Ends Root's 16 Year Career as Cub

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Charles Root, the last survivor of the Joe McCarthy régime, officially closed his Cub career yesterday. Announcement of the veteran's passing from the major leagues was made by James Gallagher, general manager. It followed by only a few days the unconditional release by the Giants of Charles Leo [Gabby] Hartnett. As Cubs they climbed to fame together. Root was a Cub fixture for 16 seasons.

Root was informed more than a week ago that his number was up and at the same time was told he could shop around for a job. He preferred to remain in a Cub uniform to the finish, probably because of an offer of a coaching job with Los Angeles, a Cub affiliate, and the team from which he went to the Cubs.

Off for California.

Root, accompanied by Mrs. Root, left yesterday for his ranch at Hollister, Cal., stating he will confer soon with Dave Fleming, Los Angeles club president. He indicated he would accept the post.

The 42 year old pitcher started his big league career with the Browns, who released him to Los Angeles where he spent 1924 and '25. He trained with the Cubs at Catalina in the spring of '25 but was turned back, being recalled that same fall. In his first year with the Cubs, 1926, he won 18 games while losing 17. In 1927 he participated in 48 games, winning 26 and losing 15. In 1929, the season in which the Cubs captured their first pennant since 1918, he won 19 while losing only six. He figured in six world series games, losing three but winning none.

Three Cubs Lose Tonsils.

Three Cubs—Jake Mooty, Phil Cavarretta, and Clyde McCullough—retired to Illinois Masonic hospital for removal of their tonsils. They are under the care of Dr. John F. Davis, team physician.

James Dykes, the Sox boss, started for California yesterday, still more interested in a vacation than his gall bladder problem. He will return in late November for the winter baseball meetings, taking another jump to California for the Rose Bowl game and then, if he doesn't feel well, will submit to an operation.

Dr. Ad Schacht, the Sox trainer, also the victim of a gall bladder disturbance, will undergo examination today.

Adios, Charley!

Cubs' 2 Jims Have One Idea: A Brighter '42

to become contenders again, should be able to barter." [Two of the National league second division teams, the Cubs and the Giants, both pennant winners within the last four years, are holding cash and have been shown by Larry MacPhail what money can do.]

Lull May Not Be Pronounced.

Wilson said he didn't expect to do any dealing before the December meetings, minor and major. But there are indications the lull during the football season may not be so pronounced as in some previous years. Frankie Frisch of the Pirates is said to be breaking out in a rash to trade for some pitchers, even Philly pitchers, and is quoted as saying he'll give Arky Vaughan for a good pitcher. Bill Terry has to take off his high fedora and dicker with the boys this year or the Polo Grounds may be turned into pasture.

Larry MacPhail is fidgety and in the Billy Herman deal got chummy with the Cubs. [As well he might!] The Phillies might quit listening to MacPhail and Frisch long enough to hear a bid on Danny Litwhiler and maybe the Braves have some one of value they don't want to sell to the Pirates. In this connection, it should be remembered that one of the few bright spots in the Cub year was the purchase of Babe Dahlgren from the Braves.

General Manager Gallagher, who in a few weeks will enter his second year as the Cub front office boss, now seems thoroly acclimated and ready to carry on. There have been times when Mr. G. was sad and his famous glamorous smile seemed gone forever. But he has rallied after each adversity. For instance, he'll probably be all healed from the city series before another month passes. It has been openly forecast that the halls of the Wrigley building again will reëcho his joyous laughter well before Thanksgiving—the resilience of his recuperative powers being that outstanding.

Rids Team of Malcontents.

Gallagher has been courageous in ridding the team of malcontents. At the same time he has done quite a bit of personal scouting. The bruises he received this year as he watched the fading of Novikoff, Lee, Larry French, Augie Galan, Myers, Leiber and several others have taken much of the Pollyanna out of Mr. G.'s naturally ebullient disposition and he is looking to 1942 with a cold, fishy eye, tho by no means an optic without the sparkle of hopefulness.

Accurate Toe Still Is Lacking at Michigan

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 8 [Special].—The Michigan coaching staff today extended its search for a player who can be depended upon to kick the extra points following Wolverine touchdowns, a department in which the team has been notably lacking in its first two games.

In two games Michigan has scored four touchdowns, but on only one occasion did it capitalize on the opportunity to make an extra point. That was in the Michigan State game when Bob Ingalls connected on one of three attempts.

Earlier this week Coach Fritz Crisler ordered a place kicking drill, and Al Wistert, Ingalls, Tom Kuzma, and Harlin Fraumann did most of the booting, but lacked the necessary consistency.

Not entirely satisfied with the condition of the players for the game with Pittsburgh Saturday, Crisler plans to hold a strenuous drill tomorrow instead of tapering off. Blocking and tackling work and running are planned, but no scrimmage will be called.

Pitt Holds Last Hard Drill.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 9 (AP).—Putting in their final strenuous practice before leaving tomorrow night for Ann Arbor, Mich., the University of Pittsburgh Panthers concentrated on running plays and a defense against Michigan's southpaw half back, Paul White.

Coach Charlie Bowser spent a good bit of time drilling his backs, also against fumbling, the cause of several incidents in last week's defeat by Purdue.

1,500 VOLUNTEER GAME WARDENS TO ENFORCE LAW

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 8 (AP).—State Conservation Director Livingston E. Osborne announced today that 1,500 volunteer game wardens would be selected this fall from local sportsmen's clubs. The volunteer wardens will supplement the work of official state game wardens in enforcing the hunting and fishing laws.

"If the right men are appointed violations of the Illinois game and fish code will virtually cease," the conservation director predicted.

THREE INDIANA RESERVES GO UP TO FIRST STRING

Smith, Tavener, Steele Open Against T. C. U.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 8 [Special].—Three new faces are due to appear in Indiana's starting lineup Saturday when the Hoosiers observe homecoming against Texas Christian in Memorial stadium.

This was indicated today as Coach Bo McMillin promoted three reserves to the first string. They are Kenny Smith, senior right end; John Tavener, sophomore center, and Charley Steele, senior right guard. The Hoosiers drilled on covering punts and kickoffs and were given three new forward pass plays.

Coach Dutch Meyer's Horned Frogs are scheduled to arrive in Terre Haute Friday and spend the night there after a final drill at Rose Poly college. They will come to Bloomington by bus Saturday morning. The Indiana squad will spend Friday night at McCormick's Creek State park 16 miles from the din of homecoming eve festivities.

INJURIES WORRY PURDUE.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 8 [Special].—Purdue's growing injury list provided added worries for Coach Mal Elward today as the Boilermakers devoted the main share of their attention to developing a defense against Ohio State's aerial attack.

Coming on the heels of the loss of John Petty, full back, and Marion Carter, right half back, who are out of action for an indefinite period, Barry French, sophomore, and Bruce Warren, veteran tackle, who turned in an outstanding performance against Pittsburgh, both joined the sideline group today with leg injuries.

A pair of Chicago sophomores, John Andretich, full back, and Francis Meakim, right half back, continued to show the form that caught coaches' attention in the Pittsburgh game. Andretich, who is being groomed with Vincent Snyder to fill Petty's shoes at full back, looked formidable in line smashes, while Meakim showed possibilities as a passer.

SPARTANS LOSE 2 STARS FOR GAME WITH MARQUETTE

Injuries Still Bother Davis and Karas.

East Lansing, Mich., Oct. 8 [Special].—Prospects of a victory over the Marquette eleven Saturday received a setback today when it was announced that Michigan State would be without the services of at least two veterans.

The Spartans' offensive power dropped when Wyman Davis, spearhead of their attack, failed to respond to treatment for leg injuries. Davis' place will be taken by Dick Keippe. Frank Karas, veteran tackle, also will be missing Saturday. Karas was injured prior to the Michigan game and earlier this week it appeared he would be ready for service against Marquette, but the husky right tackle still is troubled by the injured ankle. His place will be filled by Dick Mangrum.

In two other changes Mike Miketinac was moved up to the varsity ranks from the reserves, and Glen Delbert was returned to end.

3 SOPHOMORES TO START.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 8 [Special].—Coach Tom Stidham of Marquette was so impressed by the work of a trio of sophomores in last Saturday's victory over Wisconsin that he will start all three in the Michigan State game at East Lansing Saturday. They are Ray Kuffel, left end; Ray Carlson, right end, and Mel Maceau, center. All are Milwaukeans.

That the Marquette coaches are worried about Michigan State's attack was evident today from the time devoted in practice to the defense for Saturday's game.

The Hilltoppers will leave tomorrow night for East Lansing. A special train will carry followers of the team to the game on Saturday.

The Milwaukee city council has designated Oct. 18 as Tom Stidham day in honor of the new Marquette coach. Special ceremonies are planned for the Marquette - Kansas university football game that night in the Hilltop stadium.

THOMPSON BACK AT IOWA.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 8 [Special].—Jim Thompson, 205 pound sophomore end from Des Moines, Ia., went thru his first full workout of the season on the Iowa practice field today as the tempo of drills was stepped up. Thompson suffered a cut on his foot two weeks before the season opened and has been out of action since that time. He probably will be ready to play against Purdue Oct. 25.

Coach Eddie Anderson gave the reserves another scrimmage against the freshmen and worked the varsity on a batch of new signals, which included a number of pass plays. He said the squad had a lot of work to do before the Wisconsin game a week from Saturday. John Staak, reserve tackle, saw some action on the varsity again today. Ben Trickey, sophomore quarter back, continued to work in Al Coupee's post with the latter on a reserve outfit.

INJURED BADGER RETURNS.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 8 [Special].—Len [Bud] Seelinger, Great Falls, Mont., sophomore, was running at left half back on the first team today as Wisconsin's football squad continued preparations for its first conference test against Northwestern in Evanston Saturday.

Seelinger was injured before the first game last year and dropped out of school. He again was laid low early this season and thus never has been tested in Big 9 competition.

With the squad showing definite signs of snapping out of the doldrums as a result of the Marquette defeat, Coach Harry Stuhldreher continued shifting players at the tackle and half back positions. Dick Loepfe, a sophomore, was tried out at right tackle, and Pat Harder, another sophomore, was given the call at full back over Bob Ray for most of the drill. Mark Hoskins was shifted to right half, where he alternated with Ted Damos while Seelinger was in the lineup.

The varsity showed vast improvement offensively, but the tackling still was mediocre against the freshmen, who used Northwestern running and pass plays.

Chicago Prep Stars Again to Receive Kizer Memorial Award

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

The Purdue club of Chicago again will present the Noble E. Kizer Memorial awards to the most valuable football players in the Chicago Catholic and Public School leagues. The announcement was made yesterday by Robert H. Watson, Charles W. Morey, and Lloyd Farquahar, members of the Purdue club committee. Coaches in the two leagues, officials, President William Woerner of the Purdue club, and sports writers will participate in the balloting to determine the winners at the conclusion of the season.

Ray Florek, full back on Fenger's 1940 city championship squad, and William Freewalt, star half back on the De Paul academy eleven which won the Catholic league north section title, were the winners of the first annual awards. Florek now is a member of the University of Illinois freshman squad. Freewalt enrolled at Marquette university with one of his teammates, Tackle Bob Korda.

Meyer Morton, veteran Western conference official, has been appointed as commissioner of the Midwest Prep conference. . . . Lloyd Bergen of Lake Forest academy is president. . . . Coach Mike Farroh of Elgin is beginning to wonder about the T formation. . . . Farroh adopted the system this season, but his squad has failed to score in two Big Eight conference games. . . . Chicago Latin and Harvard will meet in a Private School league game on Latin's field Saturday afternoon. . . . Harvard is Chicago's oldest boys' private school.

First Winners

Ray Florek. William Freewalt.

Leyden High's Eagles made an auspicious start in the Northeast conference, triumphing over Woodstock, 26 to 0. . . . Leyden is coached by Sam England. . . . Proviso's band, which performs with a bevy of drum majorettes and illuminated instruments, claims to be one of the best outfits in the suburbs. . . . Linell Bock, Oak Park full back, who kicked the field goal enabling Oak Park to defeat Proviso, 10 to 7, last fall, is understudy to Florek on the Illini freshman eleven. . . . Full Back Bob Jakubowski and Tackle Frank Pircher of the 1940 De Paul squad have matriculated at the University of Iowa. . . .

Bill McAllister of Joliet is rated by coaches as one of the leading quarter backs in the Big Eight conference. . . . Mercer Barnes, West Aurora half back, suffered an ankle injury last Saturday and will be unable to play for three weeks. . . . He will be replaced by Mike Healy or Bob Buttrey. . . . The biggest prep crowd of the season is expected to see the Leo-Mount Carmel game in Shewbridge field Sunday afternoon. . . . The Fathers' clubs of the two schools will hold meetings tonight, the Mount Carmel group at 6416 South Dante avenue and Leo at 79th and Peoria streets.

Kelly and Crane Tech yesterday won their third straight soccer games in the Public School league. Kelly defeated Manley, 2 to 0, in Douglas park while Crane Tech triumphed over Amundsen, 3 to 2, in Altgeld park. Capt. Joe Morgenstern scored Crane's winning goal on a penalty shot in the second half.

Doc Romnes Will Coach Hockey at Michigan Tech

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 8 (AP).—Elwin [Doc] Romnes, who played center for the Chicago Blackhawks on two Stanley cup championship teams, will coach the Michigan Tech hockey team next winter. The 32 year old Romnes ended his playing career with the New York Americans last season.

Illinois Squad Leaves Tonight for Minnesota

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 8 [Special].—Coach Bob Zuppke today named the Illinois squad of 35 men who will leave at 6 o'clock tomorrow evening for Minneapolis, where they meet Minnesota Saturday.

The team will hold a light drill before leaving for Chicago, where it will spend the night. Students plan a pep rally at the station.

Today Zuppke ran the teams thru a long signal drill that was concluded under lights, stressing pass defense against Minnesota plays used by the freshmen. Don Griffin sophomore half back, has been rested all week, but Zuppke plans to start him.

The traveling squad is made up of the following:

ENDS—Paul Milosevich, Jim McCarthy, Ray Grierson, Isaiah Owens, Bob Gibbs, Gordon McKenzie.

TACKLES—Elmer Engel, Alex Agase, Bob Wallin, Marvin Gordon, John Genis, Dominic Mattiazza.

GUARDS—Bob Wilson, Joe Pawlowski, Nate Johnson, Andy Bacevich, Tom McCullough, Cliff Niedzelski, Bob McMaster.

CENTERS—John MacArthur, Ken Cheeley, Bob Cherry.

QUARTER BACKS—Liz Astroth, Dick Good, Johnny Worban.

HALF BACKS—Don Griffin, Jimmy Smith, Maurie Gould, Tony Butkovich, Bob Falkenstein, Dick Tumilty, Daryl Robb.

FULL BACKS—Myron Pfeifer, Walter Correll, Steve Sucic.

GOPHERS LOCK GATES.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 8 [Special].—Bernie Bierman, Minnesota football coach, really is concerned about the Illinois game here on Saturday. Today he ordered gates to the field closed, with every one barred for the remainder of the week except newspaper men.

If the Illini win over Minnesota Saturday it undoubtedly will be thru the air. Bierman indicated he is satisfied with his ground defense, but again the Gophers looked bad in their forward pass defense, and Bierman was very much exercised about it. Indications are that a crowd of 45,000 will see Saturday's game.

WINS MIDGET TITLE.

Tony Bettenhausen has been declared the season champion in midget auto racing at Raceway park, 129th street and Ashland avenue, which has closed for the season. Bettenhausen amassed 957 points in taking the title.

LIONS TO HONOR TRINER FOR HIS WORK IN BOXING

The Central Lions club will honor a fellow member today with the presentation to Joseph Triner of the chapter's award for his contributions to boxing. The presentation will be made at the regular meeting of the Central Lions club at 12:15 p. m. in the Sherman hotel.

Triner, former president of the National Boxing association and former chairman of the Illinois State Athletic commission, is the fourth recipient of the Lions' award and the first member of the Central Lions club to be so honored. Previous awards have been made to Dennis King for his contribution to the stage, Jimmy Dykes for baseball and Tommy Armour for golf.

Many prominent Chicagoans have been invited to attend the meeting, according to William G. Bock, club president. Among these invited are Mayor Edward J. Kelly; Bishop Bernard Sheil; Barney Ross, former world's lightweight and welterweight champion; Battling Nelson, former world's lightweight champion, and Johnny Coulonk, former world's bantamweight champion.

NOTRE DAME IS TOLD OF TECH'S TWO STAR BACKS

Squad to Leave Today for Atlanta Battle.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 8 [Special].—The double threat of Johnny Bosch and Dave Eldredge was impressed upon the Notre Dame varsity in a defense scrimmage today. Bosch is a 145 pound senior left half back who made his Georgia Tech debut by passing for 145 yards and running for thirty-six more in nine attempts in Notre Dame's 17 to 14 victory of 1939. Eldredge, right half back, is one of the most promising sophomore backs in the south. He's a sprinter with many of Bosch's characteristics in other departments.

The Irish will leave tomorrow noon for their engagement in Atlanta.

Bob Hargrave, alternate first team quarter back, was the only regular held out of the scrimmage today. He suffered a recurrence of a leg injury in Saturday's 19 to 6 victory over Indiana. Matt Bolger, soph left end with the shock troops, was also kept out of contact work because of a hip injury. Both should be able to play Saturday.

GEESE FLOCKING TO MANY HUNTING SPOTS IN ILLINOIS

Big Season Anticipated; Opens Oct. 16.

BY BOB BECKER.

Flocks of wild geese are filtering down from the north. Many species of wild ducks have arrived in the upper Illinois and farther south around Duck Island, Chautauqua refuge, and Clear lake. Along the Sangamon there is a good concentration of birds. And the level of the Illinois has come up four feet recently to give the ducks thousands of additional acres of ideal feeding areas.

These are the latest and most encouraging reports from the hunting country which are being relayed to waterfowlers. With the season due to open Thursday, Oct. 16, conditions are pointing up to an excellent opening day shoot for all the hunters able to rent duck blinds.

John W. Martin, United States game agent of the fish and wild life service, figures there are around 75,000 ducks near Duck Island, Chautauqua refuge, and Clear lake. From Peoria northward are many more concentrations of birds. These early birds include pintails, some mallards, widgeon, gadwall, teal, and other species.

Don't Forget Duck Stamp.

Martin adds that every waterfowl shooter should not forget to buy his duck stamp. The shooter must have this stamp when he's hunting ducks, geese, or brant. Persons under 16 years of age are permitted to hunt without such a stamp, which costs $1.

It looks very much as if the Illinois were going to do right by the hunters this year because there is plenty of water in the big river and it's reaching way back into the marshes and sloughs, thus making many tons of aquatic plant life available to the foraging waterfowl. This is just what the puddler ducks want—the mallards, teal, pintails, and other species which tip up to reach their food in shallow water. There is an excellent crop of plant foods ready for the ducks this season—another factor which should contribute to good hunting.

Remind of Banded Ducks.

Hunters are urged by Dr. T. H. Frison, chief Illinois natural history survey, to be more than ever alert this year for banded ducks in their bags.

Approximately 10,000 ducks, mostly mallards, have been banded in the last two years by the natural history survey in coöperation with the United States fish and wild life service. Most of the bands bear the imprint of the United States biological survey, one of the predecessors of the fish and wild life service.

One of the mallards banded by natural history survey game technicians at Lake Chautauqua national wild life refuge near Havana, Ill., in November, 1939, was recovered by James Brodie at Fort Smith on the Mackenzie river in Canada during the 1940 hunting season.

ENGLAND'S TOYS TO COMPETE IN HOLIDAY TRADE

Made of Materials Scarce in U. S.

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

British made toy soldiers, dolls, bicycles and stuffed animals will compete with domestic toys for a place in Christmas stockings, a survey of Chicago stores and of manufacturers' representatives in the Merchandise Mart indicated yesterday.

The toy soldiers imported from England have enjoyed steady popularity in several of the department stores, it was reported, but sales of other British toys represent a small fraction of the total sales.

Some of the toy manufacturers noted that British manufactured items, such as velocipedes and toy musical instruments, are made from materials which American makers can obtain only with difficulty. Steel, lead, zinc, tin, aluminum, and rubber are under priority control in this country.

Domestic Trade At Peak.

Domestic toy makers asserted that their output this year probably will reach an all-time peak because they are replacing German and Japanese sources which previously supplied a substantial portion of this country's Christmas requirements.

"Sales by the toy industry this year are about double those of last year," a Merchandise Mart factory representative said. "We have had so much business that we have not noticed any British competition, which is relatively minor."

Toy makers said, however, that if they experience continued difficulty in obtaining materials, especially metals, plastics, paperboard and boxboard, their 1942 output would be seriously curtailed. British imports, if continued, would take a larger share of the domestic market, they said.

Stores Well Supplied.

Department store toy sections are well stocked for the Christmas season and already have experienced early buying, apparently stimulated by improved consumer purchasing power and apprehension that selection of toys will be limited later in the year, store representatives said.

Manufacturers asserted that anticipatory buying has moved their production peak three months ahead. The period of capacity operations this year was reached in June, July and August, whereas normally this occurs in September, October and November.

Altho scarcity of metals has impeded the production of many toy makers, output has continued well ahead of 1940, it was indicated. However, makers of rubber toys had to cut their production schedules as much as 50 per cent and some were unable to accept any new orders after Sept. 1.

Report Labor Shortage.

Even manufacturers of wooden toys reported difficulties. Wire, nails, glue, packaging materials, and other items are scarce and rising prices have cut severely into profit margins, it was said. Labor supplies have also diminished and one rubber toy maker was confronted with a serious labor shortage because an armament project in his town absorbed a large part of his usual rush season personnel.

Toys next year will not look much different than those which will be found under Christmas trees this year, Thomas Smith, president of the United States Toy Manufacturers' association, predicted at Akron, O.

"Until 1916, most toys used by American children were imported from Europe and elsewhere," Smith said. "The World war halted most of these imports and domestic manufacturers got together with educators, merchandisers, and artists to design creative toys."

Chemical sets, mechanical design assemblies, finely clothed dolls, and other creative toys were among American developments mentioned by Smith.

ERIE ROAD WILL ASK AUTHORITY TO PAY OUT CASH

New York, Oct. 8 (AP).—Reorganization managers of the Erie railroad decided today to petition the federal court in Cleveland for authority to make a payment of $5 for each $100 par value of preferred stock to be issued in exchange for old Erie bonds.

In addition they plan to petition for authority to pay $45 in respect to each $1,000 general mortgage income bond to be issued in the reorganization, payment to be made by means of a special coupon. The payments, it was indicated, would be made from 1940 earnings.

Regarding the railroad's former subsidiaries the managers said they hoped to bring them into a single system.

COURT RULES OUT 'CONSPIRACY' IN ALCOA DECISION

New York, Oct. 8 (AP).—The government lost the second round in its three-point anti-trust battle with the Aluminum Company of America today when federal Judge Francis G. Caffey rejected evidence of conspiracy between Alcoa and Aluminum, Ltd., or any of 48 co-defendants. He had previously ruled against 12 monopoly charges.

Thus only one issue—that of alleged misconduct by the defendants—remained to be passed on before a final ruling is made on the government's demand for injunctions, dissolution of the alleged trust and appointment of receivers and trustees.

The misconduct charge will be taken up by Judge Caffey tomorrow, nine days after he started reading his opinion following the longest trial in history—more than two years.

JOSLYN'S STOCK DELISTING PLEA REFUSED BY SEC

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission today denied an application of Joslyn Manufacturing and Supply company, Chicago, for permission to withdraw its $5 par value common stock from listing on the Chicago Stock exchange.

The action was taken without prejudice to the right of the company to file a new application and to submit to stockholders a corrected notice of its intentions.

The commission said that it felt that the notice to stockholders was "misleading in the reference, without explanation, to the economies which might be effected by reason of withdrawal," and that in addition "it appears that one of the important reasons for the proposed delisting is to facilitate trading by the applicant's officers and large stockholders by removing from such trading the restriction of section 16 of the securities exchange act."

Securities Offerings

Stockholders of Victor Chemical works yesterday amended the company's articles of incorporation to permit public sale of 54,000 shares of authorized but unissued capital stock without prior offering to shareholders. Also approved was a proposal to increase the number of authorized shares from 750,000 to 850,000. Part of the proceeds will be used to retire serial bank loans totaling $750,000.

Central Illinois Public Service company filed with the Securities and Exchange commission a registration statement covering 38 million dollars of 3¾ per cent first mortgage bonds, series A, due Oct. 1, 1971, which are to be sold at competitive bidding. The proceeds will be applied toward the redemption at 105¾ of 38 million dollars of 3¾ first mortgage bonds, series A, due Dec. 1, 1968.

An issue of $13,250,000 in Union Pacific railroad one-to-ten year 1½ per cent equipment trust certificates was awarded a banking group headed by the First Boston corporation, on a bid of 99.94 per cent. The certificates were reoffered at prices yielding .25 to 1.85 per cent.

Output of electric power in the United States reached a new peak of 3,289,692,000 kilowatt hours last week, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday. This was 1.7 per cent larger than production in the preceding week and 17.8 per cent above the corresponding 1940 week.

Output of the Commonwealth Edison group of companies in the Chicago area totaled 153,989,000 kilowatt hours, 12.4 per cent above the parallel week a year ago.

Treasury Sets Long Maturity on New Bonds

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8 [Special].—The treasury tonight announced that the 1 billion 300 million dollars of bonds to be sold tomorrow will bear 2½ per cent interest and mature in 26 to 31 years. Bonds maturing in 31 years will have the second longest maturity of any ever issued by the treasury. The only longer term bonds were 50 million dollars of Panama Canal 3s issued in 1911 to mature in 50 years.

Details of the financing were released following announcement yesterday that 1 billion 200 millions of the new bonds would be sold to the public and 100 millions to government investment accounts.

In addition, new bonds will be offered to holders in exchange for $204,425,400 of series C 1¼ per cent notes which mature Dec. 15. Those not electing to exchange their holdings will be paid in cash.

Treasury officials said the interest rate was low considering the fact the last two issues also bore 2½ per cent interest but matured in 11 to 17 years. Longer term bonds usually carry more interest.

Financing during the World war was done mainly on 20 year bonds, treasury officials said. In recent years maturity dates have been less than 20 years.

The bonds will be dated Oct. 20 and at that time will boost the federal debt to approximately 52 billion 700 million dollars.

At the option of the government the bonds may be redeemed on and after Sept. 15, 1967.

CALL 30 FEDERAL WITNESSES FOR DRUG LAW TEST

Madison, Wis., Oct. 8 [Special].—More than 30 government witnesses have been subpenaed to testify in federal court here beginning Monday in the first test of the pure food and drug act of 1938. The act's constitutionality was challenged by Raladam company of Detroit, holder of the patent rights on Marmola, several packages of which were seized by food and drug department agents in 1939.

The government charges the packages were mislabeled and that claims that Marmola is a "safe and appropriate remedy for obesity are false and misleading." The department also charged the product may cause injurious effects if taken as prescribed.

The Raladam company denied all allegations and charged the act constitutes an unlawful delegation of legislative powers and violates the unlawful search and seizure clause in the constitution.

BRITISH, DUTCH AND U. S. BAN OIL EXPORTS TO JAPS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8 (AP).—The United States, Great Britain, and the refugee government of the Netherlands, it was learned authoritatively today, have agreed to stop all oil shipments to Japan.

Whatever oil Japan may be getting, responsible officials said, is coming from places other than the territories controled by the three governments.

The agreement was made shortly after the three governments on July 26 froze all Japanese assets in their territories.

Before that, the United States, the Dutch East Indies, and various British possessions were the principal sources for oil for Japan.

September Mileage Flown by Air Lines Gains 30 Pct.

Revenue passenger miles flown by domestic air lines during the first eight months of 1941 totaled 869,518,236, an increase of 30.46 per cent over the corresponding period last year, the Air Transport association reported yesterday. August was the peak month in travel.

Strike Closes Parts of Vast Southern Plant

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

A strike of AFL electricians and machinists closed manufacturing units of the vast Fairfield steel mills of the Tennessee Coal, Iron, and Railroad company at Birmingham, Ala., last night, and threatened a complete halt in steel making operations.

L. E. Brown, executive committeeman for the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers [AFL], said the electricians and machinists struck because the Steel Workers' Organizing committee [CIO] established a card inspection line outside the plant and refused to allow any but CIO members to enter.

Brown said the AFL unions had petitioned the National Labor Relations board for an election in the plant, and had agreed to remain at work if no additional CIO card inspections were allowed.

Several Units Are Closed.

Operations had been at capacity for more than a year with current backlogs at record levels. Units shut down included the plate and structural mills which supply most of the steel for shipbuilding in gulf coast yards. The nine open hearth furnaces and the blast furnaces still were in operation at midnight.

An authoritative source said it was unlikely that any unit of the plant, largest in the south, would be able to continue operations more than a few hours. About 11,000 are employed in three shifts. The plant was closed Sept. 28 by an SWOC strike, but work was resumed in 24 hours.

Call Ordnance Strike.

A general strike was called at the government's 8 million dollar San Jacinto, Tex., ordnance depot yesterday by the Teamsters union [AFL], which claimed 1,500 workmen walked off the job. Work was stopped.

The strike was called, the union said, because contractors refused to recognize the local as bargaining agent for truck drivers employed at the depot.

The union also threatened a strike of AFL truck drivers and construction workers in Detroit if a contract for a million dollar housing project there is awarded the Currier Lumber company, maker of pre-fabricated housing, which employs CIO labor. The company was low bidder by $400,000, but officials have held up the contract as a result of the labor situation.

Vote Buffalo Strike.

The CIO Steel Workers' Organizing committee voted to strike against the Buffalo [N. Y.] Forge company, which is building ventilating equipment for warships. The strike date will be set by the union's executive committee. Demands include wage increase of 10 cents an hour and reinstatement of three men who the SWOC says were fired unjustly.

A formula for settlement of the three day strike of AFL building trades union workers on the 11 million dollar Red river ordnance depot, near Texarkana, Tex., was accepted by labor representatives. Bryce P. Holcombe, United States labor counciliator, proposed that the Oct. 1 pay roll of the contractors be used to determine whether a majority of the company's 3,000 workmen were union members.

S. E. McCullough, project manager for the contractors, asked additional time to study the proposal. He said he had been asked by the union to provide a full-shop arrangement under which nonunion workmen would have to pay a certain sum for a job.

INSURANCE HEAD HITS CONTINUED SPENDING SPREE

Says Budget Could Be Cut 2 Billion.

A. J. McAndless, new Life convention head.

More than 2 billion dollars in nonmilitary appropriations could have been cut from the last federal budget, Edward B. Raub, Indianapolis, Ind., president of the Indianapolis Life Insurance company, charged here yesterday in an attack on continued federal "pork barrel" spending. He spoke during the third day of the American Life convention in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

"Now that we have an incipient war boom, with rising prices and reduced unemployment, it is illogical and wasteful to continue unnecessary spending," Raub asserted. "A careful, impartial study by competent authorities shows that at least 2 billion dollars in nondefense appropriations could have been cut from the recent budget without impairing efficiency of federal operations."

Nonarms Spending Raised.

He said the actual appropriations for nonarmament purposes by congress for the present fiscal year exceed last year's figure by 100 million dollars.

Raub said Americans "are willing to pay higher taxes, but feel that their government is not coöperating."

"Many pet projects," he continued, "promoted by various government bureaus and boards, are difficult to curb, even tho the purpose of the original project—to furnish employment and encourage spending—may now have lost its original meaning and purpose.

Elect Hoosier President.

"Every WPA worker capable of being trained for defense activities should be removed from the relief rôles and put to useful work. Every public works project should be discontinued or deferred."

A. J. McAndless, president of Lincoln National Life Insurance company, Fort Wayne, Ind., was elected president of the American Life convention. He succeeds Julian Price of Greensboro, N. C., who was named to the executive committee for a two year term. Laurence F. Lee, president of Occidental Life Insurance company of Raleigh, N. C., and of Peninsular Life Insurance company, Jacksonville, Fla., was elected a new member of the executive committee. McAndless has been a member of the committee and, as president, will preside over its meetings.

Arms Officials Promise More Aid to Illinois Little Business

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—Promises of more consideration for Illinois in the awarding of rearmament contracts in the future have been made by arms officials here, a delegation from the Illinois Manufacturers' association and the Illinois State Council of Defense said today.

Representatives of these organizations came here to confer with government officials and the Illinois delegation in congress on the matter of getting a more equitable share of rearmament business. They told arms officials that many Illinois plants were threatened with shutdowns because of priorities on materials and their failure to be given arms contracts.

Ranks 13th in Contracts.

A recent Office of Production Management survey showed that Illinois, with the second largest industrial district in the nation, ranked only 13th among the states in arms contracts and allocations of federal funds in the rearmament program. Officials admitted that Illinois had not received a proportionate share of the arms contracts.

While here the business men conferred with Edwin L. Weisel and H. D. Bennett of the OPM's division of contract distribution, and were informed that arrangements were being made for clinics to be held thruout the state for guidance from government officials on the handling of rearmament contracts, and a shopping schedule of army and navy needs for three or four months in advance will be provided contractors. Some of these are expected to go out within the next 10 days and afford industries a better opportunity to determine the part of the armament orders they can handle.

Branch offices of the division of contract distribution, headed by Floyd B. Odlum, are also expected to be established at Springfield and Peoria in addition to the one in Chicago.

The OPM and war and navy departments plan to send technical experts to these offices to furnish advice on switching from civilian to armament production. The offices will also act as a clearing house for information on plant facilities now unused for armament purposes.

The business men were informed that the navy department is seeking legislation to enable it to eliminate competitive bidding for navy contracts and that this might result in larger orders for Illinois companies to furnish naval supplies.

Halleck Reports Findings.

Tonight, Rep. Charles A. Halleck [R., Ind.], chairman of the Republican small business defense committee, reported that material before his committee indicates that thousands of business enterprises are being shut down by government priorities. He said that three or four additional state-wide conferences are planned for October.

"It appears that in many cases the administration of priority orders has been unnecessarily drastic," he said. "Little has been done as yet to ease the plight of the small business men."

The delegation from the Illinois Manufacturers' association included Robert W. Gaylord, president; W. Homer Hartz, chairman of the board, and James L. Donnelly, executive vice president. Edward L. Gorey represented the Illinois state council of defense. They left for Chicago tonight.

The Small Business Man's department and other news of little business will be found on page 30.

EARLY MEMO TO YULE BUYERS: FANCY BOXES MAY COST YOU EXTRA

New York, Oct. 8 [Special].—Those fancy boxes so often given free to customers for Christmas gift wrapping may cost extra this year. The National Retail Dry Goods association, citing a prediction that "defense" shipments would take so much paper and so many cardboard boxes that ordinary users would get only half their normal supply, urged that elaborate free gift wrapping be minimized.

MANUFACTURER CALLED IN FIRST PRIORITY CHARGE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8 [Special].

A manufacturer whom officials refused to identify is scheduled to appear before the Office of Production Management tomorrow to answer charges that he obtained "a considerable quantity" of aluminum thru preference ratings for arms program use, and then used it to fill "nondefense" orders, it was disclosed today.

If the manufacturer is unable to show convincingly that violations were not wilful, formal charges are expected to be filed to set the stage for the first test case since priorities were imposed in February.

Altho criminal penalties including fines and imprisonment are provided for priorities violations, it was believed likely the first case will be dealt with by shutting off all supplies of materials to the manufacturer.

'SAVE OUR LIVES' PLEA MADE BY 15 EXCHANGES

Chicago Board Fears Its Extinction.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Kenneth L. Smith.

The Chicago Stock Exchange and 14 other regional securities markets yesterday appealed directly to congress to preserve them from extinction.

Describing themselves "the small business of the securities industry," the exchanges in a letter to the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce asked relief from restrictions imposed by the securities act of 1934.

In the absence of material changes in the act, they said, the regional markets, primarily concerned with local companies issuing securities, and investors, brokers and dealers, will face a process of "disintegration leading to ultimate extinction."

Protest Agreements.

The exchanges' position is that they did not receive satisfactory consideration in the proposed amendments to the securities laws that were agreed upon in conference between the Securities and Exchange commission and representatives of the New York Stock Exchange, the New York Curb, the Investment Bankers Association of America, and the National Association of Security Dealers.

The regional exchanges charge that the four organizations, which they call the Big Four, were dominated by New York financial interests who paid scant attention to the requirements of the smaller exchanges.

Smith Outlines Position.

Kenneth L. Smith, president of the Chicago Stock Exchange, said his organization does not believe the proposed amendments go to the root of the difficulties which have been acting as a brake on stock market activities in the cities outside New York.

"Our letter to congress points out that the small business man of the securities trade and the vast portion of the public he serves have not had adequate consideration in the proposed changes in the laws regulating stock exchanges," he said. "It repre-

STOCKS REGAIN BALANCE AFTER TUESDAY'S DROP

Volume Falls; Index of Prices Unchanged.

New York, Oct. 8 (AP).—The stock market followed a narrow course today, appearing to have recovered from the attack of nerves it had Tuesday, when news of increasing German pressure against Russia made itself felt.

Closing quotations showed declines a little more numerous than advances, but those unchanged about balanced either ups or downs.

Turnover was slow and traders moved warily. Volume was 444,140 shares, compared with 602,120 shares Tuesday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 42.4.

Aircrafts Fairly Strong.

Some preference was shown for stocks of air lines and aircraft manufacturers, altho even here the direction was not conclusive. Air transports were aided by a record August total of passenger revenue miles flown.

Up in the group by fractions to more than a point were American Air Lines, Pan-American Airways, United Air Lines, and Douglas.

Eastman, United States Gypsum, and Johns Manville gave ground rather easily. Dow Chemical advanced more than 2 points on relatively light demand.

CHICAGO TREND LOWER.

Prices continued to decline on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. In transactions totaling 16,000 shares—94 issues were traded, of which 20 advanced, 49 declined and 25 closed unchanged. New 1941 highs were set by Northwest Airlines at 12¾ and by Miller & Hart prior preferred at 7¼.

Volume leaders were Chicago corporation, 1,200 shares, up ⅛ to ¾; Armour & Company, 1,050 shares, unchanged at 4⅛, and Commonwealth Edison, 1,000 shares, unchanged at 26.

WALGREEN SETS A SALES RECORD FOR SEPTEMBER

September sales of the Walgreen company, large drug store chain with headquarters in Chicago, established a new company record for the month, officials reported yesterday. They attributed the increase in large part to the rush to buy merchandise before new federal taxes went into effect Oct. 1.

The month's sales totaled $7,320,134, up 19.4 per cent from $6,128,909 in the same month a year ago. Sales for the nine months ended Sept. 30, also set a new record at $61,570,474, up 12.6 per cent from the $54,659,048 in the corresponding 1940 period.

Chain store sales reported yesterday included the following:

Commodities

Cotton futures prices tumbled $1.45 to $1.75 a bale yesterday under heavy selling that followed the government's crop estimate showing an increase of 351,000 bales during September. Early in the week some traders had predicted a 300,00 bale reduction in the crop forecast because of insect and storm damage.

Cottonseed oil declined 0.10 to 0.13 cent a pound in sympathy with cotton, and scattered liquidation pushed coffee futures down 0.09 to 0.12 cent a pound. World sugar lost 0.01½ to 0.04½ cent a pound in a light trade, and cocoa was down 0.06 cent a pound. Wool futures ended 0.2 to 0.7 cent a pound higher, support coming from an active Boston market.

PRIORITY RATING IS PROMISED U. S. HOUSING BIDDERS

Federal Agency Attempts to Break Deadlock.

BY AL CHASE.

In an effort to obtain bidding on federal housing projects which contractors have turned down unless assured of priorities on materials, the United States Housing authority yesterday notified local housing authorities thruout the country of a plan which the agency wants submitted to recalcitrant builders.

The USHA suggested that all bidders submit bids on the basis that a priority preference rating—which may be extended to all subcontractors and material suppliers—will be furnished to the successful bidder.

The Chicago Housing authority at once sent out notices to all prospective bidders on the $3,736,000 Frances Cabrini Homes, to be built on the north side, urging that they send in bids by Oct. 15 based on the USHA suggestion.

CHA advertised for bids on Aug. 1. Lack of response by contractors caused the opening date to be extended a month and again on Sept. 4 bids were asked. Later several big contractors advised CHA that until the project receives a priority rating they wouldn't submit bids.

To meet this situation the opening of bids was again postponed, this time until Oct. 15, and Miss Elizabeth Wood, executive secretary, hurried to Washington and tried to find out if the big CHA project would get a priority rating as "defense housing."

NATION'S COTTON CROP ESTIMATE RAISED BY ABOUT 351,000 BALES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8 (AP).—Improved weather conditions during September brought about an increase of 351,000 bales in the 1941 prospective cotton crop, the department of agriculture reported today.

On the basis of conditions prevailing Oct. 1, the department estimated the crop at 11,061,000 bales, compared with 10,710,000 bales estimated a month ago. Production was 12,566,000 bales last year.

The condition of the crop was 64 per cent of a normal, compared with 65 per cent a month ago.

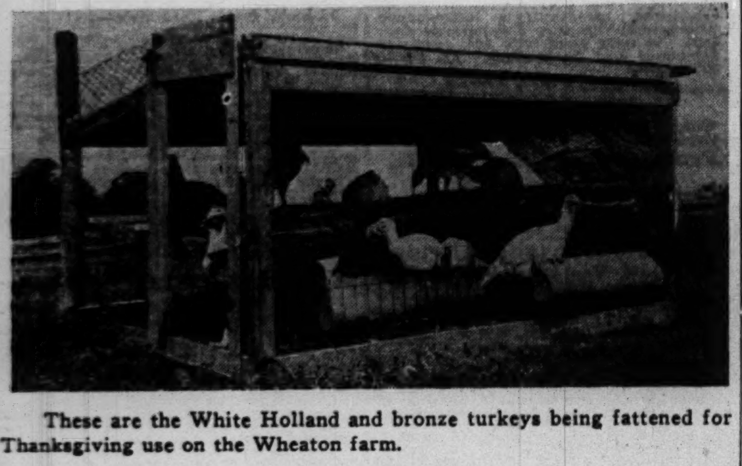
Day by Day on the Farm by BOB BECKER

Holiday Turkeys.

Oct. 8, 1941.

THE autumn season is only a few weeks old, but already there are signs of Thanksgiving and Christmas on the Wheaton farm—inclosed in raised wire pens in an alfalfa field near the barnyard. They are White Holland and bronze turkeys which will decorate the farm tables on the big holidays.

The Christmas turkeys are in one pen and the birds which have been reserved for Thanksgiving use are in another coop about 75 yards from their yuletide brethren.



These are the White Holland and bronze turkeys being fattened for Thanksgiving use on the Wheaton farm.

Contrasts in Sizes.

The Thanksgiving turkeys average about 10 pounds each, but two of the kingpin gobblers weigh close to 20 pounds. By the time the farm families start making plans for their Thanksgiving dinner the big birds will average around 16 to 20 pounds. The birds reserved for Christmas, being from a later hatch, are much smaller, averaging about four pounds.

All of the turkeys which have been set aside for holiday use were bought from hatcheries this spring. Some of the poults which are hatched on the farm have led a more interesting life. When they were only a few weeks old their hens led them thru the barnyard, across an open field, and into the woods. Since then they have rarely been seen except by an occasional hiker.

Trips to Barnyard.

The flockmaster was saying the other day that some of these self-sufficient turkeys, now full grown, have come into the barnyard several evenings in the last two weeks. While in the woodlots they fed mainly on grasshoppers and other insects, and now that the cool weather has decreased the insect supplies the turkeys have had to return to the barnyard to get a square meal once in a while.

Evidently the turkeys are not driven home by the cool weather except for the indirect reason that the coolness eliminates their main article of diet. They have been coming into the yard about two nights a week for the last three weeks, but some of the nights when they came in the weather was comparatively mild. So there's pretty good evidence that these independent turkeys come home for food, not to escape the elements.

FOREIGN TRADE COUNCIL WOULD END NEUTRALITY

Group Favors Continuing Reciprocal Pacts.

New York, Oct. 8 (AP).—A declaration favoring repeal of the neutrality act was adopted today by the National Foreign Trade Council at the conclusion of its three day convention. Delegates representing financial instutions, manufacturers and exporters voted full indorsement of the government's policy of naval, military and economic defense in collaboration with the British commonwealth of nations.

"The defeat of the axis ambition for world domination is essential to the peace and prosperity of all nations," the declaration said.

Support Trade Pacts.

Continuation of negotiations for reciprocal trade agreements, along lines set by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, was urged because "the principles underlying the program offer the real alternative to policies of economic nationalism, which in the past proved destructive to foreign trade and resulted in lower standards of living."

Stabilization pacts to encourage the widest possible use of dollar exchange were advocated, the convention suggesting that the United States be willing to entertain "important gold lending operations" to assist other countries to regain the gold standard.

The government was asked to "obtain definite commitments for the progressive removal of trade discriminations against the United States thruout the British commonwealth and elsewhere."

Ask Speedy End of Curbs.

Recognizing that restrictions on foreign trade were necessary at present, the convention asserted that at the end of the emergency "all government wartime restrictions should be speedily removed."

Reëxamination of trade relations with Latin America was suggested on the ground that "development of normal trade has been retarded by the fears of some domestic producers that greater imports would be ruinous to their welfare."

A plea for coöperation in working out postwar trade questions was made by Eugene P. Thomas, president of the council, who said "we may gain the mastery over the axis and lose the fruits of victory thru our inability to work together in harmony in the rebuilding of the new economic world."

New York, Oct. 8 (AP). — General Motors corporation reported today total Sepember sales of 89,300 automobiles and trucks to dealers in the United States and Canada, plus exports. These sales for the first nine months of 1941 totaled 1,785,113 units, a record compared with 1,358,157 in the 1940 periods.

September sales to consumers in the United States totaled 52,829 units, compared with 84,969 in August and 97,527 in September, 1940.

Investors' Guide

Thursday, Oct. 9, 1941.

SPECIAL TAX SCHEDULE.

In order to provide a simplified method of computing taxes on small and medium incomes, the government provides a special rate schedule. Its use is optional. The special schedule applies only to gross incomes of $3,000 or less and only if income is entirely from salaries, wages, other forms of compensation for personal services, dividends, interest, rents, annuities or royalties. It would not apply to business income, gains from property transactions or income from partnerships or trusts. Nonresident aliens, estates, or trusts cannot use this method.

The rates are set forth in a table. The taxpayer finds the amount in the table corresponding to his gross income and opposite that figure is the amount of his tax. If there are dependents for whom credit is allowable, the gross income is reduced by $400 for each dependent.

[The Investors' Guide will furnish copies of this table on request. It will enable the taxpayer to determine his income tax by this method in advance of the government's distribution of tax return forms.]

Taxpayers should compute their liabilities under both the special and usual methods since the results are not always the same. Whichever results in the lower tax, of course, is the method to use in filing returns.

The option as to method is exercised by filing a return and is irrevocable for the year in which it is exercised. Thus, when the taxpayer has made his choice of table or usual computation and filed the return, he cannot switch methods in the same taxable year.

The optional method can be used one year and the regular the next, or in the opposite order. The law is not clear as to whether a taxpayer could file a return under one method and before the legal deadline for that year file another on the other basis.

The table shows tax rates for both single persons and heads of families or married persons. The taxpayer's status in these groups is determined by his status on the last day of his taxable year. The credit for dependents is similarly determined as of the same date. Accordingly, there is no proration of exemptions in cases where the status changes during the taxable year as there is under the regular method. Taxpayers filing under the special method do not receive credit for taxes paid at the source of income or taxes paid to a foreign government or United States possession.

TELLS HOW FAST TRAINS BOOST HOURLY WAGES

Monroe Puts Annual Pay at $1,844.

Railroad representatives yesterday dug into the subject of wages paid their workers in testimony before the President's fact finding commission in Kimball hall. H. A. Enochs, chief of personnel for the Pennsylvania railroad, gave the commission instances of where trainmen received high wages for short periods of time as a result of high speeds made by the new trains. J. Elmer Monroe, assistant director of the bureau of railway economics, told the commission that average wages are higher than the unions say they are.

Enochs, describing the dual basis of pay, cited the experience of five train crews employed by the Burlington on the Denver Zephyr between Chicago and Denver. He said runs range from 96 to 290 miles, with running time ranging from 1 hour 25 minutes to 4 hours 49 minutes.

He said that the conductor on one run which is made in 4 hours 46 minutes is paid $14.65 and brakemen get $10.53. He added that an engineer is paid $19.58 for a run taking 3 hours and 50 minutes, or at the rate of $4.55 an hour, and the firemen get $15.35, or at the rate of $3.54 an hour.

Monroe said that on a basis of 862,153 employés who looked to the railroads alone for their wages in 1939 the average paid was $1,844. He explained that the 862,153 were workers who worked in each of the 12 months of the year. The unions have asserted that the average annual wage is about $1,380.

TAXES CUT NET PROFIT OF BIG RAYON PRODUCER

Industrial Rayon corporation, large viscose rayon producer, yesterday reported smaller net income for the nine months ended Sept. 30 compared with a year ago and disclosed that federal taxes had increased to more than five times the 1940 amount. Net income was $1,706,250, equal to $2.25 a capital share, compared with $1,720,230, or $2.27, in the corresponding 1940 period.

The company provided $2,626,800 for federal taxes in the 1941 period, against $477,000 a year ago. Third quarter profit was $611,198, after providing $968,600 for federal taxes. Profit in the same quarter last year was $671,873.

HEARING OPENED IN STRIKE AT 3 PACKING PLANTS

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP).—The National Defense Mediation board opened hearings today in an effort to settle a strike against three Chicago meat packing concerns involving 1,500 CIO members.

Walter T. Fisher, Chicago attorney, was designated chairman of the board panel handling the dispute caused by the discharge of 17 leaders of the Packing House Workers' Organizing committee who participated in a short-lived unauthorized walkout on Aug. 28. When employés were instructed by the international union to return to work, the 17 leaders were discharged on the ground they had participated in an illegal strike. On learning of their dismissal, a strike of the three plants was called.

The firms, all holding army contracts, are the Illinois Meat Packing company, the Agar Packing and Provisions company, and the P. Brennan company.

STEEL OUTPUT NEARS RECORD WEEKLY LEVEL

Achieved Despite Severe Obstacles to Trade.

Steel production averaged 1,593,389 tons a week during September, the second highest on record, the American Iron and Steel Institute estimated yesterday. The August average was 1,580,351 tons, while the record, posted last March, was 1,609,851 tons a week. In September, 1940, the average was 1,415,011 tons.

Total steel production last month was slightly under the August level, the institute said, as a result of the shorter month and the Labor day shutdown. September production of steel ingots and castings was 6,819,706 tons, compared with 7,000,957 tons in August and 6,056,246 tons a year ago.

Iron Age, surveying the industry, said that obstacles barring the full utilization of many steel and metal working plants this week outstripped the "substantial" efforts made to expand industrial capacity for rearmament.

Strikes Are One Obstacle.

Obstacles cited by the magazine were strikes and slowdowns, shortages of raw materials, and curtailment resulting from priorities. Iron Age said these obstacles were receiving "relatively less attention from Washington than the subject of industrial expansion."

The publication reported the national steel production rate had dropped a half point to 98 per cent of theoretical capacity because several steel plants were forced to cut operations due to lack of scrap and because of the Gary strike.

"Under the Supply Priorities and Allocations board's plan for new steel plant capacity, a tremendous strain will be thrown on suppliers of steel plant equipment," Iron Age said, "and will not completely fill defense and civilian needs for steel.

Further Layoffs Feared.

"Of more immediate significance are the priority shutdowns which have begun to bite into the country's industrial and economic structure. The Ford layoff is only one. Operation of the priorities system is expected to result in temporary widespread unemployment."

The publication said that a nonintegrated sheet mill in the middle west has suspended production because of lack of steel bars and officers are considering liquidation. It was estimated that steel lost in the Gary strike at Carnegie-Illinois plants was the equivalent of that needed in building 41 submarines.

GRAINS WIPE OUT EARLY WEAKNESS TO CLOSE HIGHER

After an early decline had carried prices of grains and soy beans to the lowest levels for the last several weeks on the Chicago Board of Trade the market reversed its trend yesterday and all commodities rallied. Grains erased losses and substituted fractional net gains.

Traders attributed the recovery partly to buying inspired by implications of further governmental purchases of agricultural produce in connection with the lend-lease program. Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard's outline of huge amounts of probable lend-lease purchases of live stock products and some other commodities, including soy bean products, attracted attention.

Early selling was attributed partly to war news and the impending corn and soy bean harvest. Soy bean prices dropped more than 3 cents before rallying, which disturbed grain markets.

Closing trades were near the day's highs, with wheat and corn ½ to ⅝ cent higher and soy beans ½ cent lower to ¼ cent higher. December wheat closed at $1.20⅞ and December beans at $1.68⅞. Oats gained ⅜ to ⅝ cent and rye was ¼ to ½ cent higher.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8 (AP).—Price Administrator Leon Henderson said today that the Office of Price Administration was considering imposing a price ceiling schedule on new machine tools. Representatives of the industry have been called to Washington Oct. 22, Henderson said. A ceiling has been in effect for some time on used machine tools.

SCARCITY TALK ASSAILED AS 90 PER CENT MYTH

Little Business Is Warned of Threat to Its Life.

The "real threat" to little business lies in faulty government planning of the armament program, not in a scarcity of raw materials, Frederick A. Virkus, president of the Illinois division of the Small Business Men's association, asserted last night. He addressed an audience of 300 at a meeting of the Chicago Association of Credit Men in the La Salle hotel.

Virkus has directed the campaign of small business groups in this area for a congressional inquiry into the actual status of this country's supplies of essential materials and the portions required for armaments. He voiced disbelief that the needs of rearmament make it imperative to "black out" small concerns.

Scarcity Talk "Propaganda."

"We small business men maintain," he asserted, "that when the facts are known it will be found that the shortage of materials is 90 per cent propaganda. We believe this myth will be exploded just as the Ickes [oil Coordinator and Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes] gas shortage has been blasted. We intend to get the facts.

"We maintain it is absolutely unnecessary to strangle business to provide for the impregnable defense of America."

Virkus denounced the Office of Production Management for lack of foresight in not developing increased supplies of raw materials before expanding the output of finished armament goods.

Shortages "Artificial."

"Instead of providing raw materials first, the OPM concentrated on getting factories into production first, and, of course, it did not take long to use up the stocks on hand," he said.

"And there is your shortage, an artificial shortage created by lack of foresight. After 15 months of muddling this first law of production is not as yet operating.

"Until it is found that the mines and mills cannot fill requirements when they are going full blast, we shall take this talk about the shortage of materials as a smoke screen to cover up inefficiency in planning or worse."

INDICTED TOOL MAKER TO BACK U. S. TRUST CASE

Samuel J. Kornhauser, secretary and counsel of the National Tool company, said yesterday his company will be on the side of the government in an antitrust action filed Tuesday in federal court in Chicago.

The civil action asks that seven tool makers be restrained from suppressing competition and fixing the prices on ground hobs, a steel tool used to cut gear teeth. National Tool is one of seven defendants.

Kornhauser said his company will admit allegations in the indictment. He said National Tool withdrew two years ago from a licensing agreement covering use of the hob-grinding machines, on which patents are held by another defendant, the Barber-Coleman company of Rockford, Ill., because it believed the agreement violated antitrust laws.

ELECTRIC BOND SHOWS EXTENT OF STOCK BUYING

New York, Oct. 8 (AP).—Electric Bond and Share company announced to its annual stockholders meeting today it had bought in the open market 7,300 shares of its preferred stock under terms of a Securities and Exchange commission order.

Purchases totaled $472,361, and were made up of 5,400 shares of $6 preferred at an average of $66.12 a share and 1,900 shares of $5 preferred at an average of $60.70.

S. W. Murphy, president, said earnings for the 12 months ended Sept. 30 equaled 46 cents a share on common stock, compared with 16 cents in the preceding 12 months. Sales of electricity were 14 per cent higher and gas sales were up 9 per cent, but because of higher operating expenses and taxes, net operating revenues were 4 per cent under those of a year earlier, he said.

People and Events

Fulton Oursler, author and editor of Liberty magazine, will address a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Federated Advertising club in the Hotel Sherman today on "Things We Can Believe In."

'SAVE OUR LIVES,' LITTLE MARKETS ASK OF CONGRESS

Chicago Board Fears Its Extinction.

sents the conviction of the 15 stock exchanges from Boston to the Pacific coast and from Detroit to New Orleans."

Smith said the exchange group believes that three amendments are essential to the restoration of normal functioning of the markets.

First, he said, section 9 of the 1934 securities act should be changed to allow a resumption of a necessary and normal amount of merchandising activity—designed to stabilize markets—which "is indispensable to the maintenance of useful public markets in small issues."

Pendulum "Too Far."

Smith asserted that while this section "rightfully aims to prevent manipulation, the pendulum has swung so far that many normal, economically necessary transactions are made impossible."

Second, the group wants revision of section 14, covering proxies, which provides "too many restrictions on small business."

Third, the group seeks revision of section 16, which "penalizes" officers, directors, and principal stockholders who buy or sell securities of their companies. Smith said this provision makes it difficult to establish markets in times of limited activity.

The 1934 act is especially burdensome on the many small businesses which have securities outstanding with the public, Smith said.

Broaden Memberships.

Meanwhile, the Chicago exchange moved to bolster its business when the governors approved a proposal to broaden the membership by making corporations eligible. Membership hitherto has been restricted to partnerships or individuals.

Arthur M. Betts, chairman of the board of governors, explained that security dealers who conduct primarily an investment business, as distinguished from brokers, might prove helpful in increasing the exchange's business. Most investment dealers who are not members of stock exchanges operate under the corporate form.

The board's action would make eligible to exchange membership such investment firms as Halsey, Stuart & Co., one of the largest in the country.

Zinc Smelter Production Sets New Daily Record

New York, Oct. 8 (AP).—American Zinc Institute, Inc., reported today that September slab zinc smelter output ran at the record daily average of 2,441 tons, compared with the previous record of 2,436 tons set in August.

★SMALL BUSINESS★ MAN'S DEPARTMENT

This department is prepared to help the small business man who is seeking information on priorities, substitute materials, and related subjects. Inquiries should be directed to the Small Business Man's department, Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill. All inquiries will be given careful attention. Letters on subjects of broad interest will be published with comment.

LEAD ORDER.

Where can I obtain a clarification of the priorities order allocating lead supplies?

Answer: Interpretations of general preference order M-38 placing lead under allocation control will be furnished by Erwin Vogelsang, chief of the lead branch, priorities division of the Office of Production Management, Washington, D. C.

TRAINING ARMS WORKERS.

I am planning to turn my plant over to the manufacture of ordnance items. Altho I have most of the necessary machinery, many of the workmen in my factory require special training to adjust themselves to the new work. Does the government furnish instruction in armament-making techniques?

Answer: The Training-Within-Industry branch of the OPM's labor division may be able to furnish special guidance and coaching to your staff. The Chicago district office of the branch is in room 1441, 20 North Wacker drive building, and is managed by Paul A. Mertz.

FORM PD-1.

We have encountered repeated difficulty in obtaining a supply of PD-1 forms on which to make application for priority ratings. May the form be reproduced?

Answer: Form PD-1, the standard for priority rating applications, may be reproduced providing its exact wording, size, format and color is followed, according to recent permission granted by Priorities Director Donald M. Nelson.

Scarcity of the form has delayed priority rating applications of numerous companies. Because of the heavy load placed on the government printing office as a result of the armament program, adequate supplies of the forms could not be printed and distributed. The form consists of 10 separate sheets in five colors.
